Red Charges Against U. S. Rejected

"Aggressor" Resolution Is Defeated, 48-5

U. S. Escapes Slap For China Bombings

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 13 (AP) — The United Nations Assembly gave the United States two big votes of confidence today. It rejected, 48 to 5, Soviet demands for condemnation of the U. S. as an aggressor against Formosa. It refused, 51 to 5, to slap the U. S. for American bombings of Chinese territory along the North Korean border.

No one supported the Soviet bloc in either vote. Burma, Indonesia and Yugoslavia abstained on the aggressor decision and Yugoslavia and Afghanistan abstained on the second vote.

India, which fought hard against an Assembly verdict calling Red China an aggressor in Korea, voted also against both Russian resolutions.

U. S. Denounces Charges

Rajeshwar Dayal, Indian deputy delegate, said India still believed negotiations would be the best method to achieve peaceful settlement. He said "mutual recriminations" would not serve this purpose.

Ernest A. Gross, U. S. delegate, denounced the two Soviet charges as "a complete tissue of lies and distortions."

"The United States has no aggressive designs, military, political or economic, on Formosa," Gross said.

Gross made clear that the U. S. government stands opposed to admission of Red China to the U. N. He said Peiping's demands for a seat in the U. N. are not valid as long as Peiping continues its aggression in Korea.

Only 17 of the 60 U. N. members recognize Red China and Peiping's chances of admission appear more remote than ever.

Soviet "Grab" Charged

He told the Assembly the Soviet Union has constantly attacked in the debate here the idea of American friendship for the Chinese people. He said the only country which controls thousands of square miles which were once Chinese is not the United States.

This was an obvious reference to the Soviet Union, which the Americans assert has taken over huge blocs of territory once belonging to China.

Semyon K. Tsarapkin, Soviet delegate, argued that the United States decision to send the Seventh U. S. Fleet to neutralize Formosa last summer was in fact an aggression against Formosa. He also contended there are American forces on Formosa.

Gross replied that the Seventh Fleet was ordered to Formosan waters after the Security Council called for U. N. action against the Communist North Korean invasion of South Korea.

It's Victory For Striking Fairchild Workers

Striking workers shouted "victory" and voted yesterday to end their five-week walkout at the Fairchild aviation division, Hagerstown. Shown at the microphone in the State Armory is E. T. Michael, president of Local 842, CIO-United Auto Workers. The strike, which started Janunary 8, had held up production of Fairchild C-119 Packets.

Wage Control Formula Due Later In Week

Cotton Compromise Order Is Expected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board hopes to come up with a formula this week to unfreeze pay.

Those two subjects, both major trouble makers, held center stage today in work of the agencies assigned to keep the economy on an even keel in the period of mobilization.

The hopes of the wage board were reported by Peter Seitz, special assistant to WSB Chairman Cyrus S. Ching, in testimony to the Senate-House "watchdog" committee which keeps tab on operation of the Defense Production Act.

The hearing also produced a report, quickly denied by Ching, that he was stepping out of the WSB post.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said he understood such a move by Ching was coming. Shortly afterward, however, Ching authorized Seitz to say there was "apparently some misunderstanding."

Seitz, for Ching, added that the chairman expects to stay until a general pay formula is issued and the board is expanded as planned.

The assistant in that statement said again that the board hopes to fix such a formula this week.

Seitz' reference to expansion of the board was in connection with a plan to raise its membership from nine—three from labor, three from management and three including Ching for the public—to 18. President Truman is understood to be planning such a step in the next few days.

The wage problem is one of the thorniest in the field of stabilization. The three groups of WSB members were reported holding out stiffly in as many positions—labor for a formula that would permit a major pay rise to compensate for living costs, management for tight curbs to hold down business costs, and the public members somewhere in the middle.

In labor union circles it was reported late today that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson has advised the WSB to come up with a formula that would permit about an eight per cent rise above pre-Korea pay plus cost of living advances for the period since the freeze order.

On the price front, OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle was understood to have ordered a fast decision on a raw cotton price aimed both to appease southern senators who have demanded full decontrol, and to head off a sharp rise in clothing costs.

Martin Backs Hoover's Idea

[By The Associated Press]

The debate over foreign policy ranged cross country again last night with Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) coming out flatly against sending any American troops to help form European or Asiatic defense forces.

Martin, in an address prepared for the Traffic Club of New England at Boston, lined up with former President Hoover's idea for a strong Navy and Air Force.

He also let fly at the proposal of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey that America organize a 100-division army, saying it would "spell out national bankruptcy in the boldest letters" and rob the country of manpower needed for defense production.

RFC Investigation Will Be Reopened

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee said today an investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, now under hot fire in Congress, will be reopened next week.

The announcement came just 24 hours after President Truman renominated five RFC directors whom the Senate had already twice refused to confirm.

Maybank said a subcommittee headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) will conduct hearings centering on charges that three of the five directors yielded to outside influence in granting federal loans.

Fulbright's subcommittee, with the backing of the full committee, issued a report two weeks ago accusing the RFC of falling under the domination of Donald Dawson, a White House aide, and others.

Mr. Truman denounced the report as asinine.

20-Mile Front Ablaze; Allied Units Trapped

Chipyong, Key U. N. Bastion, Encircled

Front line dispatches said Wonju, key to all roads south, was hit hard shortly after 3 a. m. Allied units were in heavy action north and west of the town, reported AP Correspondent John Randolph.

An even heavier Red assault struck and surrounded Chipyong, western bastion of the central front, last night. The Allied force in the town still was under intense enemy attack at 9 a. m.

Second Phase Of Red Push

Strong Chinese forces punched southward toward the main Wonju-Youju road in an effort to crack the U. N. line across Korea and cut communications lines. Yoju is 18 miles west of Wonju and 12 south of Chipyong.

This was the second phase of the big Communist push to divide the U. S. Eighth Army and cut off the 100,000-man Allied force in the west.

These forces in the west carried the U. N. limited offensive to the Han River across from Seoul. They also recaptured Seoul's port of Inchon on the Yellow Sea and Kimpo airfield, Korea's biggest, northwest of Seoul.

AP War Correspondent Stan Swinton, on the western front, reported that the Communists early today sent 400 to 800 infiltrators south of the Han River within rifle shot of a divisional command post.

Allied forces launched a concentrated attack today against enemy-held ridges below the Han and to the east of Kumyangjang, more than 25 miles southeast of Seoul. AP correspondent Tom Bradshaw said the Allied troops advanced against heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire.

Two Regiments Hit Wonju

The Reds hit Wonju from the north and northwest. In the first reported contact, an estimated two Chinese regiments slammed into an Allied battalion.

Mortar shells poured into Chipyong on the western end of the 20-mile attack sector. Small arms and automatic weapons fire hit the town from the southeast and northeast.

Gen. MacArthur returned to his headquarters in Tokyo Tuesday after his tenth inspection of the Korean battlefront and dismissed

Bad Colds, 'Flu Harassing Many Parts Of Nation

Schools Are Closed, Army Post Hard Hit

[By The Associated Press]

Bad colds and isolated waves of influenza are harassing scattered parts of the nation but health authorities do not consider the outbreaks alarming.

Many communities reported an upsurge of grippe, sore throats, pneumonia and other respiratory disease, but in most cases, officials said the increase was seasonally normal.

Some areas, however, were hit unusually hard by the mid-winter ailments, forcing schools to close, keeping workers away from their jobs, and packing the hospital on at least one Army post.

Schools Close In Florida

In Tallahassee, Fla., an epidemic of flu and colds cut school attendance in Leon County by 25 per cent causing an indefinite shutdown of all white schools. Many teachers also were sick.

Northern New York and Maine also were plagued by such diseases.

Two infants died of influenza last week in Burnam, Me., near Waterville. Intestinal virus cases were described as numerous throughout Maine.

Niagara County, N. Y., schools, which closed last week after 2,796 of 14,263 pupils were kept home by illness, reopened yesterday.

Some schools in some nearby counties remained closed, and in Buffalo, an "abnormally high absenteeism" rate was reported in schools and industries. Serum tests were being made to determine if the disease was influenza or merely severe colds.

Incoming Passengers Checked

"None of the cases reported so far has been as severe as those reported in England," said Erie County Health Commissioner Berwyn F. Mattison.

At overseas airports and in the busy port of New York, U. S health inspectors kept a close check on incoming passengers to guard against importation of influenza from British epidemic areas.

More than 550 were hospitalized with influenza symptoms at the Fort Dix, N. J., Army training post, where the rate of incidence jumped from 60 a day last week to 100 a day over the weekend. The post hospital was jammed.

West To Demand Germany Free Of Communism

Terms Might Unmask Russian Propaganda

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 13 (AP)—The western powers intend to confront the Russians with a demand for Germany's unification on terms that would scuttle Communism in the whole country, high Allied sources said tonight.

There is skepticism about the possibility the Russians will accept. But Allied thinking appears to be the western conditions will unmask the propaganda of any fresh Soviet proposals obstensibly aimed at reunion of Germany and betterment of her condition.

No "People's Democracy"

The United States, British and French governments were reported agreed that a reunited Germany must not become a Red-infiltrated "people's democracy" on the Soviet satellite model.

Consultations are under way to define exactly and provide foolproof safeguards for the western democratic liberties, which the three allies would require to be introduced in East Germany before unifying the former reich, officials said.

This consultation is part of the preparation for a Big Four foreign ministers' conference—a matter of extensive note writing since Russia proposed Nov. 3 new talks concerning this divided nation. The Western Allies insist other world problems also should be taken up in such a conference.

Deputies Meet March 10

A French government official reported today deputy foreign ministers of the Big Four will meet in Paris between March 10 and 15 to arrange the terms, place the date for the meeting of their chiefs. U. S. State Department officials in Washington said there is some prospect for such a deputies' meeting, but no definite arrangements have been made yet. When it is held, Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup is expected to be the U. S. deputy.

Fairchild Workers, Shouting "Victory," End Their Strike

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—Striking workers shouted "victory" and voted today to end their five-week walkout at the Fairchild aviation division.

They won elimination of Fairchild's merit system for wage increases. If the Wage Stabilization Board in Washington approves, they also will get a 15-cent hourly wage increase. Their minimum has been about $1.10.

The strike, which started Jan. 8, had held up completely the production of Fairchild C-119 Packets, often called "Flying Boxcars" and widely used by the Air Force for troop transport and supply in Korea.

No Dissenting Vote

The vote to go back to work came at a mass meeting of the CIO-United Auto Workers local in the State Armory. An estimated 3,000 of the 4,700 strikers attended and there was no dissenting voice.

The picket lines at four Fairchild plants here melted away a few minutes after the meeting ended. Maintenance crews reported for work at 4:30 p. m. Production men will be on the assembly line again at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

E. T. Michael, president of the local, told the mass meeting that the company's decision to abandon the merit system is "complete vindication" of the union's position in the strike.

Appeal To Patriotism

It was not until last night that that company agreed to drop the merit system, at least for the duration of the national emergency. W. L. Landers, general manager, accompanied the offer with a statement that the strike no longer was simply a dispute between the company and the workers. It had become a national issue, he said, and might delay the defense effort.

Under the merit system, shop foremen could recommend the rate of pay for workmen within a wage bracket for their job classification. The union contended the company abused this system and insisted on automatic raises based on length of service.

Valentine Gets His Day Early—30 Days

DETROIT, Feb. 13 (AP)—Valentine Landes, 65, got his Valentine a day early this year.

Landes was hailed into Recorder's Court on a charge of being paralyzed drunk. Judge O. Z. Ide asked where he got the name Valentine.

"I was born on Valentine's Day," Landes replied. "That's how I come by the name. And Valentine's Day is tomorrow. That's how I come to get drunk."

"I have a Valentine for you," the judge sighed, then snapped: "Its 30 days in the House of Correction."

Spain Is Granted $12,200,000 Loan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The United States today granted $12,200,000 in loans to Spain.

The credits were the first under a congressional authorization for loans to Spain up to a maximum of $62,500,000. The aim is to aid that country's economy in the same fashion that the loan features of the Marshall Plan aid other Western European countries.

The Spanish loan authorization was put into the Economic Cooperation Administration's appropriations for this fiscal year in a rider attached in Congress.

The Truman administration had been against including aid to Spain in funds for aid to Western Europe.

When Congress nevertheless endorsed the aid to Spain credit, President Truman said that action would be considered only an authorization, and that making of such loans would depend upon circumstances showing they would be in the interest of the U. S.

Winter Provides Study In Contracts

[By The Associated Press]

Winter unloosed a mixture of cold, warmth and sleet Tuesday that brought these contrasts:

Bemidji, Minn., had a low of 37 degrees below zero while Richmond, Va., had a high of 75—a difference of 112 degrees.

Warm breezes from the Gulf brought springlike weather to the Eastern Seaboard while a sleet storm coated parts of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri in a sheath of ice.

Ga. House Spurns Bill To Curb Newspapers

ATLANTA, Feb. 15 (AP) — Spurred by pleas to preserve freedom of the press, the Georgia House today slapped down Gov. Herman Talmadge's bill to make newspapers "subject to regulation by the state."

The bill which the House rejected 97 to 56 was the most far-reaching of three sponsored by Talmadge. It would have declared all newspapers, magazines and other periodicals "clothed with a public interest and subject to regulation by the state."

In addition, it would have required them to give equal space and prominence to any answer to any criticism of a public official or private citizen.

Probers Report Police Coverup For Gamblers

Information Shelved By New York Official

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Senate crime probers said today they have uncovered an amazing story of "miscarriage of prosecutions" for gambling in the plush resort area of Saratoga County in Central New York State.

"It has been going on for years," Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.) told newsmen.

Also, he said, a detective testified that a gambling house paid him to transport its money and a high state authority was said to have pigeonholed a red-hot report on Saratoga gambling.

Tobey, with Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the committee, agreeing with him, said:

Costello Questioned

"We've had given us testimony that is an amazing revelation of the miscarriage of prosecutions, confused and aborted marginal jurisdictions of authority by those who failed to act in the public interest."

The Senate committee, investigating national crime linkups, talked to a string of Saratoga witnesses when it concluded its earlier questioning of New York City Gambler Frank Costello.

Costello, reputed "underworld ruler," spent an hour and a half in secret session with the committee and afterwards Kefauver summed up his testimony in one word:

"Interesting."

Detective Collected $10 Fee

Tobey said the Saratoga Springs detective acted as a messenger boy or bodyguard for gamblers to provide "safe passage for ill-gotten gains from the gambling houses to the banking houses."

He said the detective testified before the committee that he collected $10 a day from one gaming house for this service.

Turning to the state police, Tobey said they drew up an exhaustive report on Saratoga gambling in 1947. It was passed from office to office, Tobey said, until it reached the desk of a state police official "who was rather high up in authority."

Tobey said this officer expressed amazement at the report but marked it confidential and filed it away.

Reds Fire On British Ship

Remington To Remain Free On $7,000 Bail

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—William W. Remington, former Commerce Department economist, today won court approval to remain free on bail pending appeal of his perjury conviction.

The U. S. Court of Appeals fixed his bail at $7,000.

Remington was sentenced to five years in prison and a $2,000 fine last Friday on his conviction of falsely swearing that he never was a Communist.

2 Die In Plane Crash

FORT DEVENS, Mass., Feb. 13 (AP) —An Army lieutenant and a sergeant were killed when their light training plane crashed shortly after a takeoff from the base airfield today.

The Army Public Information Office said the men were members of the 278th Regimental Combat Team. They were engaged in a routine observation flight when their two-seat L-16 crashed.

Woolen Mill Strike Threatened On Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — The CIO-Textile Workers Union announced tonight that it will call 70,000 workers in 160 woolen and worsted mills out on strike Thursday midnight unless a new contract is negotiated before that time.

Emil Rieve, president of the union, said that present contracts were scheduled to expire Feb. 1, but had been extended for 15 days to permit further negotiations. He said there will be no additional extensions.

Multi-Million-Dollar Query: Will You Be My Valentine?

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — Will you be my Valentine?

There are a lot of ways to ask that question—cards, candy, flowers, perfume, telegrams—aside from the old-fashioned way: In person.

And sentimental Americans don't hesitate to ask. They have, in fact, turned it into a multi-million-dollar query.

Greeting card makers say it's the second biggest event of the year for them. This year more than 300,000,000 Valentines — ranging from a penny to $5 retail—have been sold. It may prove to be a record .

Valentine's is the No. 3 day for the candy makers—Christmas and Easter taking precedent. Sales of $10,000,000 were reported last year. This time they're expected to top that. Some boxes sell for as much as $20.

Flowers — well, no figures are available but florists say the red rose is the favorite. Carnations, violets, gardenias, orchids and red tulips come next in order.

The perfume and cosmetics industry expects a Valentine business running into "seven figures"—that's a million dollars or more.

Western Union figures people will wire about $100,000 worth of sentiments, and telephone officials say they always have a big increase in calls—even to foreign countries.

Vandenberg Says 70% Of Red Bombers Could Hit U. S. Targets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the Air Force, believes Russia could push at least 70 out of 100 bombers through to United States targets in a determined attack.

Vandenberg said in the current issue of Saturday Evening Post that Russia "has been working intensively on a heavy bomber to match the B-36" and "she unquestionably will build it."

Analyzing the Soviet striking power and America's air defenses, Vandenberg said Russia "now has at least 450 planes that can strike our major population and industrial centers from bases in the U.S.S.R."

He expressed his belief that no conceivable defense—not even such a devise as a five-mile high steel fence around the country backed by an unbroken radar screen, a perfect warning system and an umbrealla of fighter planes—could fully stop a determined bombing attack.

"Should war came," Vandenberg said, "We can be expected to destroy no more than 30 per cent of the planes making an attack in strength on the United States before bombing missions are completed. And our preparations today are not beefed up to achieve even that figure."

The United States must realize, he said, that Russia might sacrifice bombers in one-way atomic attacks on American industrial centers. Defensive planning also has given closest attention to the possibility that Russia will refuel its bombers in flight over the Artic wastes to enable them to make a round trip, he added.

Vandenberg said a large scale raid probably would include only a few planes carrying the a-bomb.

"Even if the enemy had 100 (atomic) bombs—which she hasn't now—she could not afford to throw all into one raid," he said.

Vandenberg noted that in the successful defense of England the British destroyed slightly under 10 per cent of the attacking German planes. He said his estimate that 30 per cent of an invading bomber fleet could be knocked down calls for an effort three times as effective as the British, despite the fact that protection involves an area 30 times as large against an enemy that will be far more heavily armed than the Germans.

Infantryman Is Still Kingpin In 8th Army's Fight For Life

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The powerful new Chinese offensive in Korea today heavily underlines the fact that the life or death of the U. S. Eighth Army depends on G.I. Joe—the infantryman.

In the showdown, it's the bearded, red-eyed, weary little man with the rifle or carbine or machine gun—squatting in a hole in the frozen mountains—who has the bloody job of stopping the enemy.

The Air Force, the artillery and the Navy can help. But even in these modern times the infantryman still is the kingpin in the Army's defense. And in Korea his job is even harder than it was in World War II.

The reason is this: In the Korean war, the Chinese have used tactics which in part cancel out our heavy superiority in airpower and artillery. They have succeeded in bringing the war down to a manpower level. And in manpower, the Chinese have tremendous superiority despite heavy losses in the past month.

Twice in three months the Chinese have battered the Eighth Army back despite our superiority in planes, tanks and artillery.

They did it in November, shattering Gen. MacArthur's "end the war by Christmas" drive with three savage night attacks. Now they have punched a deep wedge in the center of the Allied lines with these same tactics and are threatening to envelop part of the army.

Spain Is Granted $12,200,000 Loan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The United States today granted $12,200,000 in loans to Spain.

The credits were the first under a congressional authorization for loans to Spain up to a maximum of $62,500,000. The aim is to aid that country's economy in the same fashion that the loan features of the Marshall Plan aid other Western European countries.

The Spanish loan authorization was put into the Economic Cooperation Administration's appropriations for this fiscal year in a rider attached in Congress.

The Truman administration had been against including aid to Spain in funds for aid to Western Europe.

When Congress nevertheless endorsed the aid to Spain credit, President Truman said that action would be considered only an authorization, and that making of such loans would depend upon circumstances showing they would be in the interest of the U. S.

Winter Provides Study In Contracts

[By The Associated Press]

Winter unloosed a mixture of cold, warmth and sleet Tuesday that brought these contrasts:

Bemidji, Minn., had a low of 37 degrees below zero while Richmond, Va., had a high of 75—a difference of 112 degrees.

Warm breezes from the Gulf brought springlike weather to the Eastern Seaboard while a sleet storm coated parts of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri in a sheath of ice.

Ga. House Spurns Bill To Curb Newspapers

ATLANTA, Feb. 15 (AP) — Spurred by pleas to preserve freedom of the press, the Georgia House today slapped down Gov. Herman Talmadge's bill to make newspapers "subject to regulation by the state."

The bill which the House rejected 97 to 56 was the most far-reaching of three sponsored by Talmadge. It would have declared all newspapers, magazines and other periodicals "clothed with a public interest and subject to regulation by the state."

In addition, it would have required them to give equal space and prominence to any answer to any criticism of a public official or private citizen.

Probers Report Police Coverup For Gamblers

Information Shelved By New York Official

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Senate crime probers said today they have uncovered an amazing story of "miscarriage of prosecutions" for gambling in the plush resort area of Saratoga County in Central New York State.

"It has been going on for years," Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.) told newsmen.

Also, he said, a detective testified that a gambling house paid him to transport its money and a high state authority was said to have pigeonholed a red-hot report on Saratoga gambling.

Tobey, with Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the committee, agreeing with him, said:

Costello Questioned

"We've had given us testimony that is an amazing revelation of the miscarriage of prosecutions, confused and aborted marginal jurisdictions of authority by those who failed to act in the public interest."

The Senate committee, investigating national crime linkups, talked to a string of Saratoga witnesses when it concluded its earlier questioning of New York City Gambler Frank Costello.

Costello, reputed "underworld ruler," spent an hour and a half in secret session with the committee and afterwards Kefauver summed up his testimony in one word:

"Interesting."

Detective Collected $10 Fee

Tobey said the Saratoga Springs detective acted as a messenger boy or bodyguard for gamblers to provide "safe passage for ill-gotten gains from the gambling houses to the banking houses."

He said the detective testified before the committee that he collected $10 a day from one gaming house for this service.

Turning to the state police, Tobey said they drew up an exhaustive report on Saratoga gambling in 1947. It was passed from office to office, Tobey said, until it reached the desk of a state police official "who was rather high up in authority."

Tobey said this officer expressed amazement at the report but marked it confidential and filed it away.

Wage Control Formula Due Later In Week

Cotton Compromise Order Is Expected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board hopes to come up with a formula this week to unfreeze pay.

Those two subjects, both major trouble makers, held center stage today in work of the agencies assigned to keep the economy on an even keel in the period of mobilization.

The hopes of the wage board were reported by Peter Seitz, special assistant to WSB Chairman Cyrus S. Ching, in testimony to the Senate-House "watchdog" committee which keeps tab on operation of the Defense Production Act.

The hearing also produced a report, quickly denied by Ching, that he was stepping out of the WSB post.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said he understood such a move by Ching was coming. Shortly afterward, however, Ching authorized Seitz to say there was "apparently some misunderstanding."

Seitz, for Ching, added that the chairman expects to stay until a general pay formula is issued and the board is expanded as planned.

The assistant in that statement said again that the board hopes to fix such a formula this week.

Seitz' reference to expansion of the board was in connection with a plan to raise its membership from nine—three from labor, three from management and three including Ching for the public—to 18. President Truman is understood to be planning such a step in the next few days.

The wage problem is one of the thorniest in the field of stabilization. The three groups of WSB members were reported holding out stiffly in as many positions—labor for a formula that would permit a major pay rise to compensate for living costs, management for tight curbs to hold down business costs, and the public members somewhere in the middle.

In labor union circles it was reported late today that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson has advised the WSB to come up with a formula that would permit about an eight per cent rise above pre-Korea pay plus cost of living advances for the period since the freeze order.

On the price front, OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle was understood to have ordered a fast decision on a raw cotton price aimed both to appease southern senators who have demanded full decontrol, and to head off a sharp rise in clothing costs.

Martin Backs Hoover's Idea

[By The Associated Press]

The debate over foreign policy ranged cross country again last night with Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) coming out flatly against sending any American troops to help form European or Asiatic defense forces.

Martin, in an address prepared for the Traffic Club of New England at Boston, lined up with former President Hoover's idea for a strong Navy and Air Force.

He also let fly at the proposal of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey that America organize a 100-division army, saying it would "spell out national bankruptcy in the boldest letters" and rob the country of manpower needed for defense production.

RFC Investigation Will Be Reopened

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee said today an investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, now under hot fire in Congress, will be reopened next week.

The announcement came just 24 hours after President Truman renominated five RFC directors whom the Senate had already twice refused to confirm.

Maybank said a subcommittee headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) will conduct hearings centering on charges that three of the five directors yielded to outside influence in granting federal loans.

Fulbright's subcommittee, with the backing of the full committee, issued a report two weeks ago accusing the RFC of falling under the domination of Donald Dawson, a White House aide, and others.

Mr. Truman denounced the report as asinine.

Schools Are Closed, Army Post Hard Hit

[By The Associated Press]

Bad colds and isolated waves of influenza are harassing scattered parts of the nation but health authorities do not consider the outbreaks alarming.

Many communities reported an upsurge of grippe, sore throats, pneumonia and other respiratory disease, but in most cases, officials said the increase was seasonally normal.

Some areas, however, were hit unusually hard by the mid-winter ailments, forcing schools to close, keeping workers away from their jobs, and packing the hospital on at least one Army post.

Schools Close In Florida

In Tallahassee, Fla., an epidemic of flu and colds cut school attendance in Leon County by 25 per cent causing an indefinite shutdown of all white schools. Many teachers also were sick.

Northern New York and Maine also were plagued by such diseases.

Two infants died of influenza last week in Burnam, Me., near Waterville. Intestinal virus cases were described as numerous throughout Maine.

Niagara County, N. Y., schools, which closed last week after 2,796 of 14,263 pupils were kept home by illness, reopened yesterday.

Some schools in some nearby counties remained closed, and in Buffalo, an "abnormally high absenteeism" rate was reported in schools and industries. Serum tests were being made to determine if the disease was influenza or merely severe colds.

Incoming Passengers Checked

"None of the cases reported so far has been as severe as those reported in England," said Erie County Health Commissioner Berwyn F. Mattison.

At overseas airports and in the busy port of New York, U. S health inspectors kept a close check on incoming passengers to guard against importation of influenza from British epidemic areas.

More than 550 were hospitalized with influenza symptoms at the Fort Dix, N. J., Army training post, where the rate of incidence jumped from 60 a day last week to 100 a day over the weekend. The post hospital was jammed.

20-Mile Front Ablaze; Allied Units Trapped

Chipyong, Key U. N. Bastion, Encircled

Front line dispatches said Wonju, key to all roads south, was hit hard shortly after 3 a. m. Allied units were in heavy action north and west of the town, reported AP Correspondent John Randolph.

An even heavier Red assault struck and surrounded Chipyong, western bastion of the central front, last night. The Allied force in the town still was under intense enemy attack at 9 a. m.

Second Phase Of Red Push

Strong Chinese forces punched southward toward the main Wonju-Youju road in an effort to crack the U. N. line across Korea and cut communications lines. Yoju is 18 miles west of Wonju and 12 south of Chipyong.

This was the second phase of the big Communist push to divide the U. S. Eighth Army and cut off the 100,000-man Allied force in the west.

These forces in the west carried the U. N. limited offensive to the Han River across from Seoul. They also recaptured Seoul's port of Inchon on the Yellow Sea and Kimpo airfield, Korea's biggest, northwest of Seoul.

AP War Correspondent Stan Swinton, on the western front, reported that the Communists early today sent 400 to 800 infiltrators south of the Han River within rifle shot of a divisional command post.

Allied forces launched a concentrated attack today against enemy-held ridges below the Han and to the east of Kumyangjang, more than 25 miles southeast of Seoul. AP correspondent Tom Bradshaw said the Allied troops advanced against heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire.

Two Regiments Hit Wonju

The Reds hit Wonju from the north and northwest. In the first reported contact, an estimated two Chinese regiments slammed into an Allied battalion.

Mortar shells poured into Chipyong on the western end of the 20-mile attack sector. Small arms and automatic weapons fire hit the town from the southeast and northeast.

Woolen Mill Strike Threatened On Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — The CIO-Textile Workers Union announced tonight that it will call 70,000 workers in 160 woolen and worsted mills out on strike Thursday midnight unless a new contract is negotiated before that time.

Emil Rieve, president of the union, said that present contracts were scheduled to expire Feb. 1, but had been extended for 15 days to permit further negotiations. He said there will be no additional extensions.

Multi-Million-Dollar Query: Will You Be My Valentine?

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — Will you be my Valentine?

There are a lot of ways to ask that question—cards, candy, flowers, perfume, telegrams—aside from the old-fashioned way: In person.

And sentimental Americans don't hesitate to ask. They have, in fact, turned it into a multi-million-dollar query.

Greeting card makers say it's the second biggest event of the year for them. This year more than 300,000,000 Valentines — ranging from a penny to $5 retail—have been sold. It may prove to be a record .

Valentine's is the No. 3 day for the candy makers—Christmas and Easter taking precedent. Sales of $10,000,000 were reported last year. This time they're expected to top that. Some boxes sell for as much as $20.

Flowers — well, no figures are available but florists say the red rose is the favorite. Carnations, violets, gardenias, orchids and red tulips come next in order.

The perfume and cosmetics industry expects a Valentine business running into "seven figures"—that's a million dollars or more.

Western Union figures people will wire about $100,000 worth of sentiments, and telephone officials say they always have a big increase in calls—even to foreign countries.

Vandenberg Says 70% Of Red Bombers Could Hit U. S. Targets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the Air Force, believes Russia could push at least 70 out of 100 bombers through to United States targets in a determined attack.

Vandenberg said in the current issue of Saturday Evening Post that Russia "has been working intensively on a heavy bomber to match the B-36" and "she unquestionably will build it."

Analyzing the Soviet striking power and America's air defenses, Vandenberg said Russia "now has at least 450 planes that can strike our major population and industrial centers from bases in the U.S.S.R."

He expressed his belief that no conceivable defense—not even such a devise as a five-mile high steel fence around the country backed by an unbroken radar screen, a perfect warning system and an umbrealla of fighter planes—could fully stop a determined bombing attack.

"Should war came," Vandenberg said, "We can be expected to destroy no more than 30 per cent of the planes making an attack in strength on the United States before bombing missions are completed. And our preparations today are not beefed up to achieve even that figure."

The United States must realize, he said, that Russia might sacrifice bombers in one-way atomic attacks on American industrial centers. Defensive planning also has given closest attention to the possibility that Russia will refuel its bombers in flight over the Artic wastes to enable them to make a round trip, he added.

Vandenberg said a large scale raid probably would include only a few planes carrying the a-bomb.

"Even if the enemy had 100 (atomic) bombs—which she hasn't now—she could not afford to throw all into one raid," he said.

Vandenberg noted that in the successful defense of England the British destroyed slightly under 10 per cent of the attacking German planes. He said his estimate that 30 per cent of an invading bomber fleet could be knocked down calls for an effort three times as effective as the British, despite the fact that protection involves an area 30 times as large against an enemy that will be far more heavily armed than the Germans.

Infantryman Is Still Kingpin In 8th Army's Fight For Life

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The powerful new Chinese offensive in Korea today heavily underlines the fact that the life or death of the U. S. Eighth Army depends on G.I. Joe—the infantryman.

In the showdown, it's the bearded, red-eyed, weary little man with the rifle or carbine or machine gun—squatting in a hole in the frozen mountains—who has the bloody job of stopping the enemy.

The Air Force, the artillery and the Navy can help. But even in these modern times the infantryman still is the kingpin in the Army's defense. And in Korea his job is even harder than it was in World War II.

The reason is this: In the Korean war, the Chinese have used tactics which in part cancel out our heavy superiority in airpower and artillery. They have succeeded in bringing the war down to a manpower level. And in manpower, the Chinese have tremendous superiority despite heavy losses in the past month.

Twice in three months the Chinese have battered the Eighth Army back despite our superiority in planes, tanks and artillery.

They did it in November, shattering Gen. MacArthur's "end the war by Christmas" drive with three savage night attacks. Now they have punched a deep wedge in the center of the Allied lines with these same tactics and are threatening to envelop part of the army.

Board Approves Maryland Negro College Project

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—The Board of Public Works today approved completion of an engineering building at Maryland State College for Negroes as another battle over the institution shaped up in the Legislature.

Gov. McKeldin, avowed foe of expanding the college at Princess Anne, voted against the building contract. It was one of the Governor's first acts as chairman of the board, Maryland's top fiscal agency, and he suggested there may be legal problems in financing the construction.

The Governor produced a prepared statement in which Attorney General Hall Hammond said "there may be a legal question" whether the university could spend $53,000 of its own money to erect the building for agriculture, mechanical arts and engineering.

Award of the contract was made subject to Hammond's approval.

State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles approved the project because he doubted the board could "entirely defeat the action of the Legislature." He referred to the 1949 Construction Loan Act which set aside $270,000 for the Princess Anne building.

Miles said he would oppose any other building at the college until its future is settled by "the appropriate state agency." Only specific advice by the Attorney General that the board lacks discretion in appropriating money raised by bond acts would change his mind, Miles added.

Board action saved Contractor Charles E. Brohawn some $30,000 he estimated was tied up in a premature start on the building. The fact he had already begun work came to light when the board last month rejected the project.

Meanwhile, six senators teamed on a bill to prohibit any further construction at Princess Anne. If adopted over certain opposition from college supporters in the General Assembly, it would become effective June 1.

With but two dissents, the Senate Judiciary Committee voted favorably on a House-passed measure to repeal Maryland's "Jim Crow" statute. The committee's report was not offered immediately for full Senate action.

Frozen Woman's Hands Reported In Good Condition

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Physicians removed the bandages on the hands of Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, the frozen woman, this afternoon. They pronounced the hands in "excellent condition" with no trace of gangrene.

Earlier today Michael Reese Hospital removed the 23-year-old patient's name from the critical list. Although the hospital said her condition is serious, but not critical, the danger to her life is not past.

The doctors still don't know if amputation of any of her limbs may be necessary.

Mrs. Stevens was found "frozen stiff" in an alley in sub-zero cold Thursday. When brought to the hospital her body temperature was 64 degrees — 34.6 degrees below normal.

Reliefer Jailed After Splurge

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13 (AP) — A negro woman's spending splurge on her relief money brought a two-year prison sentence today.

She had a diamond-studded wrist watch, a large screen television set, and a new electric refrigerator.

The case moved Judge Joseph Sherbow to comment on "the weakness in the administration of relief."

He noted that many Welfare Department workers get piddling pay checks—hardly more than the relief clients they handle.

The low pay scale, he pointed out, restricts welfare departments to hiring inexperienced college girls. As soon as they get a little experience they quickly move on to jobs in private industries at much higher pay.

The case before Judge Sherbow in Criminal Court involved Mrs. Catherine Smith, who also was on relief rolls as Mrs. Catherine Robinson. She is 32, has had two legal husbands and six children—three of them born out of wedlock to two other men.

The Welfare Department charged she got $7,165 in illegal relief payments over a three-year period.

The testimony revealed that she was drawing relief checks under both names. Welfare workers several times visited her home without catching the duplicity.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 13 (AP) — The body of Mrs. Edith Baker was found today in a new section of Rose Hill Cemetery here.

Johnson Argues For 18-Year Draft

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) cited the casualty roll of 50,000 American fighting men in Korea to point up a contention today that "the present urgent crisis" requires authority to draft 18-year-olds.

He hammered at the same point with a statement that there is "only one ready division available for the defense of the United States." And not committed to Korea or to European stations.

Johnson's arguments were presented in a statement accompanying a subcommittee report approving an 18-year-old draft and universal military training.

The full Armed Services Committee briefly considered the legislation, as approved 7 to 1 by Johnson's Preparedness subcommittee. Then it put the matter off until tomorrow when a vote is expected.

Mayor, Army Feud Over Load Of Butter

MEDINA, O., Feb. 13 (AP)—Medina Mayor John Brown was conducting a private war with the U. S. Army tonight over a truckload of butter.

The 75,880 pounds of butter, he said, and the truck will be kept here until the Army or the driver's employer pays a $531 overloading fine.

Mayor Brown said neither the Army nor the haulers, Pacific States Refrigerated Transport Co., will consent to pay the fine for what later proved to be, said Brown, 25,300 pounds excess weight.

Loser Peddicord Gives Tax Views

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 13 (AP) — "If I'd been elected governor, taxes would have been the smallest matter to worry about," Stephen B. Peddicord said today.

"I'd got taxes. I'd got $100,000,000 by taxing all gambling."

Since the Baltimorean wasn't elected, he told the Senate Finance Committee how the state can get between $13,000,000 and $14,000,000 more revenue from present taxes.

"Plug the loopholes" in sales and state income tax collections, he urged.

"You are losing $10,000,000 by having 100,000 sales tax collectors," the oft-time candidate and never winner declared. "Imagine having 1,000 comptrollers in a business."

To do away with "so many hands handling the money" and having it "rerouted to somebody's pockets" instead of the state treasury, Peddicord offered two new systems of collection.

Either require retailers to give customers' stamps for sales taxes or, provide special state containers to collect the taxes.

Minneapolis Schools Due To Reopen Today

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 13 (AP) — Gov. Luther Youngdahl announced today he had assurances from Minneapolis union leaders that strike-closed public schools would reopen tomorrow morning.

The city's 94 public schools closed Jan. 23. Some 63,000 children have been away from the classrooms since. The governor's statement followed a brief conference with representatives of the Minneapolis Central Labor Union, a coordinating office for AFL unions in the city.

Youngdahl said George Murk, head of a special CLU subcommittee named to study labor problems in the schools, had authorized him to say that union teachers and janitors "would go back to work and schools will open tomorrow morning."

Frozen Woman's Hands Reported In Good Condition

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Physicians removed the bandages on the hands of Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, the frozen woman, this afternoon. They pronounced the hands in "excellent condition" with no trace of gangrene.

Earlier today Michael Reese Hospital removed the 23-year-old patient's name from the critical list. Although the hospital said her condition is serious, but not critical, the danger to her life is not past.

The doctors still don't know if amputation of any of her limbs may be necessary.

Mrs. Stevens was found "frozen stiff" in an alley in sub-zero cold Thursday. When brought to the hospital her body temperature was 64 degrees — 34.6 degrees below normal.

Reliefer Jailed After Splurge

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13 (AP) — A negro woman's spending splurge on her relief money brought a two-year prison sentence today.

She had a diamond-studded wrist watch, a large screen television set, and a new electric refrigerator.

The case moved Judge Joseph Sherbow to comment on "the weakness in the administration of relief."

He noted that many Welfare Department workers get piddling pay checks—hardly more than the relief clients they handle.

The low pay scale, he pointed out, restricts welfare departments to hiring inexperienced college girls. As soon as they get a little experience they quickly move on to jobs in private industries at much higher pay.

The case before Judge Sherbow in Criminal Court involved Mrs. Catherine Smith, who also was on relief rolls as Mrs. Catherine Robinson. She is 32, has had two legal husbands and six children—three of them born out of wedlock to two other men.

The Welfare Department charged she got $7,165 in illegal relief payments over a three-year period.

The testimony revealed that she was drawing relief checks under both names. Welfare workers several times visited her home without catching the duplicity.

Missing Woman Found Dead At Hagerstown

The 32-year-old woman had been missing from her home for three weeks. Last seen she was walking toward the edge of town wearing only her house clothes.

A preliminary check showed she apparently died of exposure. An autopsy is being performed.

Crosby's Condition Fine

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 13 (AP) — Bing Crosby, operated upon for a kidney ailment yesterday, is "getting along just fine," his doctor said today.

LOVELY MATRON SAYS "NOTHING BETTER FOR CONSTIPATION"

Mrs. George Schiesser, a charming wife and mother, of the Bronx, New York, says: "Whenever I'm bothered with constipation, there's nothing better than Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work so gently yet so thoroughly, removing waste from the entire intestinal tract."

Note: For years, Dr. F. M. Edwards, a noted Ohio physician, recommended Olive Tablets for his patients troubled with constipation and its headaches, lack of pep and bad breath. All vegetable! Olive Tablets work on both upper and lower bowels—they give more natural-like bowel movements —so smooth—no griping. 15¢, 30¢.

Johnson Argues For 18-Year Draft

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) cited the casualty roll of 50,000 American fighting men in Korea to point up a contention today that "the present urgent crisis" requires authority to draft 18-year-olds.

He hammered at the same point with a statement that there is "only one ready division available for the defense of the United States." And not committed to Korea or to European stations.

Johnson's arguments were presented in a statement accompanying a subcommittee report approving an 18-year-old draft and universal military training.

The full Armed Services Committee briefly considered the legislation, as approved 7 to 1 by Johnson's Preparedness subcommittee. Then it put the matter off until tomorrow when a vote is expected.

Mayor, Army Feud Over Load Of Butter

MEDINA, O., Feb. 13 (AP)—Medina Mayor John Brown was conducting a private war with the U. S. Army tonight over a truckload of butter.

The 75,880 pounds of butter, he said, and the truck will be kept here until the Army or the driver's employer pays a $531 overloading fine.

Mayor Brown said neither the Army nor the haulers, Pacific States Refrigerated Transport Co., will consent to pay the fine for what later proved to be, said Brown, 25,300 pounds excess weight.

Loser Peddicord Gives Tax Views

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 13 (AP) — "If I'd been elected governor, taxes would have been the smallest matter to worry about," Stephen B. Peddicord said today.

"I'd got taxes. I'd got $100,000,000 by taxing all gambling."

Since the Baltimorean wasn't elected, he told the Senate Finance Committee how the state can get between $13,000,000 and $14,000,000 more revenue from present taxes.

"Plug the loopholes" in sales and state income tax collections, he urged.

"You are losing $10,000,000 by having 100,000 sales tax collectors," the oft-time candidate and never winner declared. "Imagine having 1,000 comptrollers in a business."

To do away with "so many hands handling the money" and having it "rerouted to somebody's pockets" instead of the state treasury, Peddicord offered two new systems of collection.

Either require retailers to give customers' stamps for sales taxes or provide special state containers to collect the taxes.

Minneapolis Schools Due To Reopen Today

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 13 (AP) — Gov. Luther Youngdahl announced today he had assurances from Minneapolis union leaders that strike-closed public schools would reopen tomorrow morning.

The city's 94 public schools closed Jan. 23. Some 63,000 children have been away from the classrooms since. The governor's statement followed a brief conference with representatives of the Minneapolis Central Labor Union, a coordinating office for AFL unions in the city.

Youngdahl said George Murk, head of a special CLU subcommittee named to study labor problems in the schools, had authorized him to say that union teachers and janitors "would go back to work and schools will open tomorrow morning."

West Virginia Governor Signs Five Bonus Bills

Alcohol, Cigarettes To Get New Taxes

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 13 (AP)—Governor Patteson signed into law today five measures establishing a bonus for veterans of both world wars.

The bills authorize the bonds, provide for a $90,000,000 bond issue to finance it, raise the price of liquor, put an additional one cent tax on cigarettes, and double the tax on a barrell of beer.

A maximum of $300 can be obtained by anyone who served only within the United States, and a $400 maximum by anyone with overseas duty.

Ten dollars per month is allowed for each month of duty in the United States, and $15 per month for each month spent overseas.

The Governor's signature also made law of legislation to authorize the Commissioner of Agriculture to take charge of funds amounting to some $700,000 held by the Federal Government from the now defunct West Virginia Rural Rehabilitation Corporation. The money is to be used for rural rehabilitation work in the state.

Another bill made law today will raise the license examination fee of graduate nurses from $10 to $20.

Valley Street Outlet Takes Shape

Construction work on the outlet structure of the pressure conduit on Valley Street, part of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control project, progresses. Two large openings are being made as outlets for the huge pressure conduit which will clear the area of water resulting from heavy rains. A smaller opening provides an outlet from an intercepter sewer. Water from Wills Creek can be seen as it laps close to the construction work.

Bill For Extra Deputy Opposed

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said yesterday he opposes a bill making it mandatory for the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to add a deputy sheriff and to increase their salaries by $50 monthly.

As a result he said he will propose an amendment giving the commissioners power to act but not making it mandatory.

Because he did not like the mandatory provision, Whitworth said he did not sponsor the bill along with the rest of the delegation. Whitworth said if the House delegation declines to accept his amendment, he will ask Senator Robert B. Kimble to amend the measure when it reaches the Senate.

"The General Assembly should be careful in forcing the commissioners to add to costs and the resulting increase in taxes," said Whitworth.

He said final decision should be left up to the commissioners because:

1. They are in a better position to know the need for an additional deputy and a salary increase than is the legislature.

2. The commissioners have the task of raising the money. They know if the welfare of the county can be better served with another deputy and salary increases or whether it would be better to make no change.

Whitworth said it is his understanding that at least one commissioner is opposed to taking the steps at this time.

St. Valentine His Day

Half a dozen saints named Valentine are found in the calendar, but the one commemorated on February 14 seems to be the Valentine who was bishop of Terni and was martyred at Rome on February 14 of the year 270. Nothing that is known about his life has any bearing on the exchange of tender messages between the sexes.

One custom in the Roman celebration of Lupercalia in mid-February was for men and women to pair off by the drawing of lots. It is generally surmised that the early Christian church, unable to eradicate the custom, tried to moralize it by associating it with the saint who was put to death for his faith on February 14.

Certainly the early records of St. Valentine Day celebrations tell of men selecting their "valentines," who were thus indicated as their future wives, by drawing names from a hat or a bowl. Samuel Pepys in the latter half of the 17th Century gives details in his famous Diary of how he thus obtained his Valentine on a February 14. The custom is described also in Oliver Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield."

Earlier, toward the end of the 14th Century, Chaucer had referred to the legend that birds mated on St. Valentine's Day. The exchange of cards of love on the day probably grew out of the fact that mottos had been drawn along with names from the hat or bowl.

However the St. Valentine Day custom began, it is a commendable one. All romance has fled the hearts of those who ignore it.

Remember Czechoslovakia

Gen. Eisenhower, in working out plans for an army of the western democracies to resist Soviet aggression, will realize that such aggression would not necessarily take the form of military invasion. The Russians know how to take over by infiltration as well as by armies. Consider Czechoslovakia in February, 1948.

"Czechoslovakia was the test case and Benes was its protagonist. The destruction of Benes proved to the world that no pledges by the Soviet Union, written or oral, however fine they may sound, are a basis for cooperation." Thus Edward Taborsky, secretary to President Benes of Czechoslovakia during World War II, wrote in "Foreign Affairs" two years ago.

By 1948 the democracies were waking up—as the Kremlin noted. The Truman Doctrine had bolstered Turkey against threats from Moscow and was helping Greece to remain anti-Communist. So the Russians found it the part of wisdom to substitute covert for overt aggression for their newest conquest.

After the Munich agreement of 1938 had enabled Hitler to take over part of Czechoslovakia in that year and the remainder early in 1939, President Benes sought refuge in London. There he was officially shunned by the British government as well as by diplomats of other nations. Not until some months after Churchill had supplanted Chamberlain as Prime Minister did the British repudiate the Munich agreement and give acceptance to the Benes government in exile.

Russia, invaded by Germany in June, 1941, wasted no time in recognizing the Czechoslovak government in London. In 1943 Benes visited Moscow. He was impressed by Russian assurances of Czechoslovakia's postwar independence. He also counted on full postwar cooperation between the Anglo-Americans and Russians. Stalin appeared to Benes to be "a fatherly national leader rather than World Communist Number One," according to Taborsky.

But when the Red Army began its liberation of Czechoslovakia in the fall of 1944, the field leaders ignored a Soviet-Czechoslovak treaty signed in May of that year. They agitated for the "reunion" of Ruthenia, part of Czechoslovakia, with the Ukraine, a constituent state of the Soviet Union.

The victory celebration of May, 1945, in Prague, Czechoslovak capital, was "mainly a Red triumph," in the words of Sir Robert Bruce Lockhart. The Communists emerged from the elections of May 1946 as the largest party of the state but without a majority over the three other parties. Klement Gottwald, now President, became Prime Minister, and the Reds gained the ministries of Defense, Information, and the Interior. Although the Russian armies had been withdrawn to the border, Russian military leaders remained in Czechoslovakia.

President Benes began to reassert his personal authority. He was strengthened by UNRRA aid, and by early 1947 "the tide of communism seemed to be on the ebb." However, the Communists had infiltrated the police. On February 20, 1948, 12 anti-Communist ministers resigned because Gottwald rejected a cabinet decision cancelling the appointment of eight Communist police officials in Prague. The Communists called out their workers' militia, and Communist "Action Committees" seized factories and villages.

"Within 24 hours," according to Lockhart, "the Communists were masters of the country." Benes—elected for life in 1946—stayed on until June, 1948, resigned without having signed the new Peoples' Democracy constitution. Jan Masaryk, second most popular man in the country, briefly lent the new regime the color of legality by continuing as foreign minister, plunged to his death from an office window two weeks later. Russia had conquered from within.

Highway First Aid

In these days of machine efficiency the average person seldom sees a broken-down automobile on the road. So it is something of a surprise to learn that during 1950 on one highway alone 7,145 drivers needed assistance.

These figures are to be found in the annual report of the Jeep Patrol, which has the duty of unraveling traffic blocks on the West Side Elevated Highway in New York City. Of the cars which received the patrol's attention 3,180 had motor troubles, 2,986 had flat tires and the rest were involved in accidents. In 46 cases the drivers actually had abandoned their cars when the patrol arrived on the scene.

What would have happened to traffic if this kind of first aid had not been available can readily be imagined. Under regular conditions motorists do not make the best of time on busy highways during rush hours. Without someone to get stalled cars out of the way the movement of vehicles would often come to a halt and remain halted.

As traffic continues to increase, it may be necessary to inaugurate first aid patrols on all main highways. Garages along main arteries are too few and far between to provide emergency service and not many operate 24 hours a day.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Urinary Sediment

THE URINE CONTAINS many chemicals, cells, and solid waste constituents. Some can be seen under the microscope and others must be detected by chemical means. When a large number of pus cells are noted, for example, infection along the urinary tract is suspected. Red blood cells may mean stone, Bright's disease, or tumor. The physician does not make the diagnosis purely from the urinalysis but fits this test into the over-all picture obtained through the patient's story and the physical examination.

The urinary sediment also may contain casts. These cylindrical bodies of microscopic size appear in the urine for several reasons. Their shape represents an actual cast of the inside of one of the tiny tubular passageways within the kidneys. They are formed by the percipitation of proteins or by the sticking together of other material within the tubules. Apparently these substances jell in the microscopic drain pipes like a gelatin dessert prepared in the kitchen. For no apparent reason they slip off and pass into the urine to be discharged through the bladder. Sometimes they contain blood corpuscles, epithelial cells, and even masses of pus cells and bacteria. Returning to the analogy, we might say that these mixed casts resemble gelatin with sliced fruit. The different varieties are significant to the physician because they give him a clue on what is taking place within the kidneys.

Crystals in the urine have little significance except when kidney stones are or have been present. The crystals represent certain chemicals that precipitated into the urine, and the type depends upon whether the urine is acid or alkaline. Phosphate crystals form in an alkaline base whereas uric acid and calcium oxalate crystals favor an acid environment. Now and then crystals are responsible for the cloudy appearance of the urine.

The specimen should be collected in a clean container and taken to the physician as soon as possible. It usually is refrigerated or a preservative is added because it deteriorates within six to eight hours at room temperature. Droplets of fat may appear in the specimen, as well as threads of cotton or other vegetable fibers. This is puzzling to the examiner but sooner or later it becomes obvious that the individual has not cleaned the bottle. Yeast is present occasionally, especially in women and in diabetics. Parasites such as trichomonas also are observed from time to time.

Normally the color of the urine varies from light yellow to amber, depending upon its concentration. In summer, after perspiring freely, it is likely to be dark because most of the fluid is escaping through the pores and not the kidneys. Hemorrhage is suspected when the urine is red, brown, or black although this may indicate the presence of an abnormal pigment or the consumption of certain dyes or foods. A liver disturbance may lead to the excretion of bile pigment through the kidneys, producing a greenish-yellow hue. Other colors are noted in specific diseases.

SORE EAR

L. B. writes: Frequently, when I lie down on the right side, my right ear pains me. When I turn over or get up, pain goes away. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

Considering that we do not know whether pain is on the outside or inside, we can only suggest that you consult your physician.

●—●—●

PROTRACTED INFECTION

L. J. writes: If a person has had an amebic infection for 10 years, is it curable at this late date?

REPLY

Yes. The earlier the disease is detected, the easier it is to treat; but with our newer drugs, the individual in question stands a good chance of getting well.

●—●—●

BLOOD AND WINE

H. T. writes: Would a daily dose of sherry wine help a person whose blood is too thin?

REPLY

I would expect a question like this from your grandmother but not from you. There's no such thing as "thin" blood. Furthermore, wine is not much more than fermented grape juice with a "kick." Nowadays, anemia is treated with iron or liver, vitamin B-12, and foods rich in these elements.

COLD ALLERGY

F. E. S. writes: If a person is allergic to cold, can it be treated in any other way than by going to a warmer climate?

REPLY

There are several methods for desensitizing against cold. The two most popular are injections of increasing amounts of histamine and daily placing the hands in water, the temperature of which is lowered gradually. Going to a warmer climate may not solve the problem because many are bothered when they wash in cold water or lift a cold bottle of milk from the refrigerator.

SCARED TO LOOK

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

American Finds Stalin's Mother Unimpressed By Son's Achievements; Ridgway Rescues Korean Cause; Truman Defers To Hoover At India Relief Conference

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — Probably the only American who has ever met Stalin's mother is Carleton Smith, director of the National Arts Foundation, who while traveling near Tiflis in 1936 was taken to a village where Stalin's mother lived.

Her home was a mud hut dug out of the side of a hill, and she proved to be a wrinkled, kindly old lady. Telling Smith how she had raised her son to be a priest, the old lady added:

"I hear he's now running all of Russia, but I don't believe it."

A year later, Smith was in Moscow at the Bolshoi Theatre when Stalin was also present, and had an interview with the Russian dictator. Among other things he told him about the visit to his mother.

Stalin maintained an icy silence. He did not seem interested in his mother.

Victory In Korea

Gen. Matthew Ridgway personally is largely credited with turning the most humiliating defeat in 85 years of American military history into gradual victory in Korea.

Military men say that Ridgway has done an amazing job. Yet he did it with almost no reinforcements, and with a larger number of enemy forces against him than faced UN forces when General MacArthur was in direct command. For an estimated Chinese force of 276,000 men plus 191,000 revitalized North Koreans face Ridgway today, more than the Commuuist army that knocked MacArthur off balance in North Korea and drove him back across the 38th Parellel.

Not generally publicized is that almost sole responsibility in Korea has now been given to General Ridgway. For all practical purposes, MacArthur has been relieved of the fighting Korean command. Technically, of course, this is not true, because MacArthur still remains supreme commander. Actually, however, MacArthur virtually washed his hands of the Korean War after Washington refused to send him the four National Guard divisions he requested early in January.

Furthermore, Ridgway, coming direct to Korea from the United States, has been more independent than the field generals who had served under MacArthur in Japan and who, having been close to him, looked to him for direction.

Pentagon officials emphasize that there has been no friction between MacArthur and General Ridgway. The latter has merely used different tactics. He has quietly shaken up his command at the divisional level, has profited from McaArthur's mistakes, has given the UN Army a new shot in the arm and has turned a defeat complex on the part of the troops into a new fighting spirit.

Hoover and Truman

Though on opposite sides of the political fence, and vigorously disagreeing on foreign policy, the President of the United States and the only living ex-President of the United States seem to have a strong bond of affection for each other.

Hurbert Hoover once paid sincere tribute to Harry Truman at a Gridiron Club dinner. He has been known to be grateful to Truman for having lifted the ban against him which for 13 long years was imposed by Franklin Roosevelt.

Some White House friends have argued that Truman made a mistake by inviting Hoover to Washington for frequent conferences, since the Administration's blessing has now put him in a position where he could damage Truman's foreign policy. However, the President has not agreed, and the other day invited the ex-President to help him regarding relief for India.

Calling a meeting of Cabinet members and other advisers, Truman introduced Hoover by saying:

"I have invited President Hoover because of his vast experience and humanitarian policies to advise us on sending grain to India."

Hoover replied that, although he was not familiar with the Indian problem, he had great respect for Mr. Truman's judgment, and he was there to listen.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson explained that while "we do have our difference with the Government of India, I do not believe that should stand in the way of helping suffering people."

Secretary of Agriculture Charley Brannan was cautious. He explained that we do not have any great surplus of wheat. "But," he added, "if you say it is necessary we can get 2,000,000 tons or what is needed for India without creating a shortage at home."

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, ECA food director, outlined India's needs. He said that drought, floods, earthquakes, and about every other natural calamity had hit India and cut its grain production by 9,000,000 to 5,000,000 tons.

"This is especially bad," he said, "because 80 per cent of the caloric intake of Indians is grain. They are not meat eaters."

Some cold water was thrown on the project by James K. Knudson of the Defense Transport Administration, who said that with the railroad tieup it would be "quite difficult" to get the wheat to the ports and he understood ocean shipping was tight.

Several times during the discussion, President Truman interrupted to ask Mr. Hoover for his views and whether he thought the plan was feasible. Hoover's conclusion was: "This country has never failed to come to the rescue of the hungry, and this appears to be a worthy cause."

When the meeting broke up, it was significant that Hoover was chosen as spokesman to explain the conclusions of the conference to the press.

Tragic Jeep Accident

Not much got into the papers about the other victims of the jeep crash that killed Gen. Walton Walker.

However, the South Koreans have quietly sentenced the Korean driver who crashed into Walker's jeep to three years hard labor. The driver was Kyong Nei Pak. His passengers—Kuk Soom Lee, Chong Han Pak and Man Joo Chong—were released after investigation of the accident.

Three American soldiers in the jeep with Walker survived and were evacuated to the Tokyo General Hospital. They are: Lieut. Col. Layton Tyner, M-Sgt. George Belton and Sgt. Francis Reenan.

New Airpower Idea Will Affect Europe's Defense

By MARK SULLIVAN

THE ISSUE which generated late last fall, which became known as sending troops to Europe, which was brought to public attention by the speech of ex-President Herbert Hoover, December 20 and which became the "great debate" has now taken a definite form. It is embodied in a resolution before the Senate and will be debated this week.

For the widespread lack of complete understanding about this issue, there is reason in the circumstances in which it came into existence. It was created as a proposal by top leaders in our government, and by them communicated to leaders in the countries of Western Europe. Before the proposal could take effect, it would need to have assent from the governments and peoples of the countries the proposal covered. During the period of discussion, official public announcements might be awkward. There was no comprehensive and authoritative public statement until the radio address to the country by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower February 2; and that, while comprehensive, could not be specific or conclusive on some important points. Lack of complete understanding continues to this day.

The proposal was that a joint army be created for the defense of Western Europe against armed aggression by Russian communism, the joint army to be made up of armies of the countries of Western Europe, Canada and the United States. This—and it is an important point—differs from the North Atlantic Pact. The pact provides for mutual defense after aggression has taken place, while the present proposal is to create a joint army in advance.

Difficulties Arise

Difficulty came from several of the countries intended to be included. West Germany was reluctant to set up an army to be a part of the joint one until the United States should first have in Europe an army of sufficient size to protect West Germany as the probable first victim of any Russian Communist attack. In France there was objection to the existence of a West German army of formidable size—France had a long memory of bitter experiences with German armies. In other countries also there was disunity as between country and country and internally some reluctance or lack of responsiveness from different causes including some war weariness, and awareness of lack of strength, making for lack of strongly affirmative will to arm.

This lack of responsiveness from some Western European countries had a definite psychological effect in the United States. The picture was not of countries which must bear the brunt of aggression asking us to help them defend themselves. Instead the picture was of the United States asking them to become parts of a great joint army for the defense of Europe, to which the United States would contribute the largest strength, and they reluctant to accept the proposal.

This picture of the proposal, and the reluctance of Western European countries to respond, created in the United States an apprehensive vision of what the future picture might be if Russian aggression on Western Europe should take place. We would be expected to bear the brunt of defense. Among our people arose anxiety lest we see another great military expedition to Europe comparable to the ones we made in the first and second world wars.

Limited Liability Proposed

Out of the condition—as our people became aware of it about last December—there arose in Congress a proposal that would limit our liability. It is that our contribution to a joint army for the defense of Europe be limited to a predetermined proportion of the joint army as a whole, that the force we contribute be in a definite ratio to the forces contributed by the European countries. This idea is part of the resolution that will be debated the coming week.

Another idea has come forward. It is under technical discussion in military circles and it is an important factor in the thought put forward by ex-President Hoover. It assumes that a war fought with ground forces by the non-Communist countries against the Communist ones cannot be won, because of the immensely greater manpower of the Communist countries. It assumes further that we and the other non-Communist countries can win a war fought by airpower and also seapower, because in these we are strong while the Communist countries are relatively weak. If this idea gains strength, it will have bearing on the whole proposal about sending troops to Europe, for we could give airpower strength to the defense of Europe much more readily than we could contribute manpower for a war fought by ground troops.

British Politics Hampers American Forces In Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. — Again the "38th Parallel" has been interjected into the military operations of the United Nations forces by Great Britain. Prime Minister Attlee's admission in London that the views of the British government on this point had been presented to the American government and that the UN forces should not move across that parallel without consultations among the UN powers illustrates dramatically the way American forces have been hamstrung in Korea.

The utter absurdity of such a discussion in the midst of fighting will be apparent when it is noted that there has heretofore been no ban against crossing the parallel by our forces. Even now nobody is seriously advocating that the naval forces or the planes of the air force and the navy be prevented from attacking targets in North Korea. It is only the land forces which are to be ordered to stop their crossing.

No Guarantee From Reds

The idea that a war can be fought successfully by prohibiting ground forces from punishing the enemy, while sea and air forces continue the attack, is one that doesn't make sense to military men. If wars hereafter are to be managed by politicians and if future UN operations are to be commanded by foreign offices, then it might be well worth considering whether American forces should ever again be committed to resist aggression unless the UN specifically agrees in advance to let the military power be exerted to its maximum in every way until there is a "cease fire" agreed to by both sides.

What the British government is evidently attempting to offer is a "cease fire" so far as the UN forces are concerned but with no guaranty or assurance that the Communist Chinese will feel obligated to refrain from sudden attack on UN forces.

Merely to state what is involved from a military viewpoint is to reveal the impracticability of conducting military operations on such a basis. But what is more disconcerting is that the great government of Britain, which has tried assiduously to prevent the Red China regime from being pronounced an aggressor by the UN, now insists that the aggressor shall have the right to do as he pleases north of the 38th Parallel.

This must be sad news to the Korean people, who have been expecting the UN to liberate all of them and not just those south of the 38th Parallel. To stop at the parallel is to admit that all the military effort expended since last June, when the North Koreans marched across that line, has been in vain. Even to suggest publicly that the allies should consider stopping at the 38th Parallel is to notify Communist China that the U. N. forces are afraid to proceed further or that they are coming cravenly to beg for a "cease fire."

Tactics Not Inspiring

Does Prime Minister Attlee think such tactics can inspire American soldiers hereafter to make sacrifices for the U. N.? It can only result in severe criticism directed toward any government which sponsors a limitation on the right of an army in the midst of war operations to pursue its legitimate military objectives. The United States has suffered nearly 50,000 casualties, and yet the British Prime Minister is willing to stop our troops at the 38th Parallel. There is no objection, of course, to demand upon Red China for a "cease fire" based on a willingness of U. N. forces to withdraw from Korea in due time, but certainly not until after every Communist soldier has first been withdrawn and fool-proof guarantees have been given against a re-crossing of the Yalu River.

The Red Chinese will hardly be impressed by any maneuver now which orders U. N. forces to stop and wait for the Peiping government to agree to stop fighting. Every communication from the Red China regime thus far has been defiant. There isn't the slightest sign that stopping at the 38th Parallel would accomplish anything. Yet the British government, which has borne very little of the pain of the Korean War, is perfectly willing to see the operations of General Ridgway impaired by a restrictive order. Opinion here is that the British might better confine their help in the Korean War to a stoppage first of the British supplies that have been going through Hong Kong to the Communists. That would truly speed the victory for the U. N. in Korea.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The China Politburo

SOVIET China has now been fully organized along the lines of Soviet Russia. This model of government is universal among Communist countries, because they all are based on the dictatorship of the proletariat; that is, the total control of the people by one political party.

Thus, an oligarchy of 11 men, with supreme and sole power, holds hundreds of millions of people in thrall. These 11 men in China are Mao Tze-Tung, Liu Shao-Chi, Li Li-San, Chou En-Lai, Chen Shao-Yu, Chang Wen-Tien, Chen Yun, Peng Chen, Li Wei-Han, Li Fu-Chan,fi Liu Shao-Wen.

No military leaders are included in the politburo. This eliminates Chu Teh, who is one of the greatest figures in Chinese communism. In fact, in the mid 20's, the movement was generally referred to as Chu-Mao, combining the names of Chu Teh and Mao Tze-Tung. Chu is older than Mao and has been ill and may have been discarded as useless. He inherited the estate, whatever that may be worth, of the late Agnes Smedley, an American writer. They were great friends.

Of the 11 men in the politburo, six were educated in Moscow and represent an unadulterated Russian position in Chinese affairs. Among the most important of these Russian-trained leaders is Li Li-San, who used to be antagonistic to Mao Tze-Tung and who is generally regarded as Mao's likely successor.

In fact, when the State Department was monkeying with the notion that Mao might become a Chinese Tito, it was obvious to anyone who knew anything about China that should Mao show any deviationist tendencies, he would be killed and Li Li-San would take his place. The Russians failed to curb Tito because they could not kill him; Mao has, however, been surrounded by Russian-controlled Chinese.

I knew Li between 1925 and 1927 and a sharp and tough hombre he was. He devoted himself to labor movements and conducted a strike and propaganda machine with outstanding ability. In fact, were it not for his strikes, it is likely that Chiang Kai-Shek's revolution would have failed. Chiang and Li were then associated. In 1930, he returned to Moscow, where he continued his studies at the Lenin Institute. Later he was associated with the Foreign Language publishing House—a book trust that sends Russian literature in all sorts of languages to all parts of the world.

If I recall correctly, Michael Borodin, the American lawyer, who came to China in 1924 to conquer that country for Russia through Sun Yat-Sen's revolution, was also associated with this publishing house. It was a reduction of Borodin's position from a great proconsul to be a minor publisher.

Li is the present boss of Manchuria and has been since 1945. That is another reason why Mao could not be a Tito. Manchuria is the power house of China and whoever controls that can control China. It is not surprising that the Russians turned that task over to Li. He is, from their standpoint, most trustworthy.

His is a name to remember. I recall that in 1925 there was a vast boycott against American as well as British goods throughout China. Li then took the position that American capitalistic imperialism was the same in substance as Brit-

Mark 6:31 (R. S. V.).
Read Isaiah 30:15—26.

INTO RETREAT WITH HIM

Restfulness, which means serenity of mind, a grasp of the elemental and ultimate facts of life, is the necessity of everyone to the living of a full life.

If we should want to know the reason for the poise of Jesus, we should have to find it in those solitary all-night vigils, the hours spent alone, or the days he sought sanctuary when he talked with a few close friends.

Being alone, however, or apart from the turmoil of life for awhile is quite different from idleness or running away from duty. The deserter's life is full of satirical presence, and the idler's life holds too many perils to the soul. A man must have wings to fly, not from duty, but upwards towards God, and outward in service to his fellowmen. One gets the incentive to do a task when in quietness and confidence one has found strength. Fear will defeat us. Facing up to life will make the obstacles in our path become steppingstones to larger usefulness and deeper faith.

Let Us Pray: Eternal God, in whom we live, and move, and have our being, teach us how to face life with an unconfused mind, an understanding heart, and faith in the victory of God. Trrough Jesus Christ. Amen.

St. Valentine His Day

Half a dozen saints named Valentine are found in the calendar, but the one commemorated on February 14 seems to be the Valentine who was bishop of Terni and was martyred at Rome on February 14 of the year 270. Nothing that is known about his life has any bearing on the exchange of tender messages between the sexes.

One custom in the Roman celebration of Lupercalia in mid-February was for men and women to pair off by the drawing of lots. It is generally surmised that the early Christian church, unable to eradicate the custom, tried to moralize it by associating it with the saint who was put to death for his faith on February 14.

Certainly the early records of St. Valentine Day celebrations tell of men selecting their "valentines," who were thus indicated as their future wives, by drawing names from a hat or a bowl. Samuel Pepys in the latter half of the 17th Century gives details in his famous Diary of how he thus obtained his Valentine on a February 14. The custom is described also in Oliver Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield."

Earlier, toward the end of the 14th Century, Chaucer had referred to the legend that birds mated on St. Valentine's Day. The exchange of cards of love on the day probably grew out of the fact that mottos had been drawn along with names from the hat or bowl.

However the St. Valentine Day custom began, it is a commendable one. All romance has fled the hearts of those who ignore it.

Remember Czechoslovakia

Gen. Eisenhower, in working out plans for an army of the western democracies to resist Soviet aggression, will realize that such aggression would not necessarily take the form of military invasion. The Russians know how to take over by infiltration as well as by armies. Consider Czechoslovakia in February, 1948.

"Czechoslovakia was the test case and Benes was its protagonist. The destruction of Benes proved to the world that no pledges by the Soviet Union, written or oral, however fine they may sound, are a basis for cooperation." Thus Edward Taborsky, secretary to President Benes of Czechoslovakia during World War II, wrote in "Foreign Affairs" two years ago.

By 1948 the democracies were waking up—as the Kremlin noted. The Truman Doctrine had bolstered Turkey against threats from Moscow and was helping Greece to remain anti-Communist. So the Russians found it the part of wisdom to substitute covert for overt aggression for their newest conquest.

After the Munich agreement of 1938 had enabled Hitler to take over part of Czechoslovakia in that year and the remainder early in 1939, President Benes sought refuge in London. There he was officially shunned by the British government as well as by diplomats of other nations. Not until some months after Churchill had supplanted Chamberlain as Prime Minister did the British repudiate the Munich agreement and give acceptance to the Benes government in exile.

Russia, invaded by Germany in June, 1941, wasted no time in recognizing the Czechoslovak government in London. In 1943 Benes visited Moscow. He was impressed by Russian assurances of Czechoslovakia's postwar independence. He also counted on full postwar cooperation between the Anglo-Americans and Russians. Stalin appeared to Benes to be "a fatherly national leader rather than World Communist Number One," according to Taborsky.

But when the Red Army began its liberation of Czechoslovakia in the fall of 1944, the field leaders ignored a Soviet-Czechoslovak treaty signed in May of that year. They agitated for the "reunion" of Ruthenia, part of Czechoslovakia, with the Ukraine, a constituent state of the Soviet Union.

The victory celebration of May, 1945, in Prague, Czechoslovak capital, was "mainly a Red triumph," in the words of Sir Robert Bruce Lockhart. The Communists emerged from the elections of May 1946 as the largest party of the state but without a majority over the three other parties. Klement Gottwald, now President, became Prime Minister, and the Reds gained the ministries of Defense, Information, and the Interior. Although the Russian armies had been withdrawn to the border, Russian military leaders remained in Czechoslovakia.

President Benes began to reassert his personal authority. He was strengthened by UNRRA aid, and by early 1947 "the tide of communism seemed to be on the ebb." However, the Communists had infiltrated the police. On February 20, 1948, 12 anti-Communist ministers resigned because Gottwald rejected a cabinet decision cancelling the appointment of eight Communist police officials in Prague. The Communists called out their workers' militia, and Communist "Action Committees" seized factories and villages.

"Within 24 hours," according to Lockhart, "the Communists were masters of the country." Benes—elected for life in 1946—stayed on until June, 1948, resigned without having signed the new Peoples' Democracy constitution. Jan Masaryk, second most popular man in the country, briefly lent the new regime the color of legality by continuing as foreign minister, plunged to his death from an office window two weeks later. Russia had conquered from within.

Highway First Aid

In these days of machine efficiency the average person seldom sees a broken-down automobile on the road. So it is something of a surprise to learn that during 1950 on one highway alone 7,145 drivers needed assistance.

These figures are to be found in the annual report of the Jeep Patrol, which has the duty of unraveling traffic blocks on the West Side Elevated Highway in New York City. Of the cars which received the patrol's attention 3,180 had motor troubles, 2,986 had flat tires and the rest were involved in accidents. In 46 cases the drivers actually had abandoned their cars when the patrol arrived on the scene.

What would have happened to traffic if this kind of first aid had not been available can readily be imagined. Under regular conditions motorists do not make the best of time on busy highways during rush hours. Without someone to get stalled cars out of the way the movement of vehicles would often come to a halt and remain halted.

As traffic continues to increase, it may be necessary to inaugurate first aid patrols on all main highways. Garages along main arteries are too few and far between to provide emergency service and not many operate 24 hours a day.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Urinary Sediment

THE URINE CONTAINS many chemicals, cells, and solid waste constituents. Some can be seen under the microscope and others must be detected by chemical means. When a large number of pus cells are noted, for example, infection along the urinary tract is suspected. Red blood cells may mean stone, Bright's disease, or tumor. The physician does not make the diagnosis purely from the urinalysis but fits this test into the over-all picture obtained through the patient's story and the physical examination.

The urinary sediment also may contain casts. These cylindrical bodies of microscopic size appear in the urine for several reasons. Their shape represents an actual cast of the inside of one of the tiny tubular passageways within the kidneys. They are formed by the percipitation of proteins or by the sticking together of other material within the tubules. Apparently these substances jell in the microscopic drain pipes like a gelatin dessert prepared in the kitchen. For no apparent reason they slip off and pass into the urine to be discharged through the bladder. Sometimes they contain blood corpuscles, epithelial cells, and even masses of pus cells and bacteria. Returning to the analogy, we might say that these mixed casts resemble gelatin with sliced fruit. The different varieties are significant to the physician because they give him a clue on what is taking place within the kidneys.

Crystals in the urine have little significance except when kidney stones are or have been present. The crystals represent certain chemicals that precipitated into the urine, and the type depends upon whether the urine is acid or alkaline. Phosphate crystals form in an alkaline base whereas uric acid and calcium oxalate crystals favor an acid environment. Now and then crystals are responsible for the cloudy appearance of the urine.

The specimen should be collected in a clean container and taken to the physician as soon as possible. It usually is refrigerated or a preservative is added because it deteriorates within six to eight hours at room temperature. Droplets of fat may appear in the specimen, as well as threads of cotton or other vegetable fibers. This is puzzling to the examiner but sooner or later it becomes obvious that the individual has not cleaned the bottle. Yeast is present occasionally, especially in women and in diabetics. Parasites such as trichomonas also are observed from time to time.

Normally the color of the urine varies from light yellow to amber, depending upon its concentration. In summer, after perspiring freely, it is likely to be dark because most of the fluid is escaping through the pores and not the kidneys. Hemorrhage is suspected when the urine is red, brown, or black although this may indicate the presence of an abnormal pigment or the consumption of certain dyes or foods. A liver disturbance may lead to the excretion of bile pigment through the kidneys, producing a greenish-yellow hue. Other colors are noted in specific diseases.

SORE EAR

L. B. writes: Frequently, when I lie down on the right side, my right ear pains me. When I turn over or get up, pain goes away. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

Considering that we do not know whether pain is on the outside or inside, we can only suggest that you consult your physician.

PROTRACTED INFECTION

L. J. writes: If a person has had an amebic infection for 10 years, is it curable at this late date?

REPLY

Yes. The earlier the disease is detected, the easier it is to treat; but with our newer drugs, the individual in question stands a good chance of getting well.

•—•—•

BLOOD AND WINE

H. T. writes: Would a daily dose of sherry wine help a person whose blood is too thin?

REPLY

I would expect a question like this from your grandmother but not from you. There's no such thing as "thin" blood. Furthermore, wine is not much more than fermented grape juice with a "kick." Nowadays, anemia is treated with iron or liver, vitamin B-12, and foods rich in these elements.

COLD ALLERGY

F. E. S. writes: If a person is allergic to cold, can it be treated in any other way than by going to a warmer climate?

REPLY

There are several methods for desensitizing against cold. The two most popular are injections of increasing amounts of histamine and daily placing the hands in water, the temperature of which is lowered gradually. Going to a warmer climate may not solve the problem because many are bothered when they wash in cold water or lift a cold bottle of milk from the refrigerator.

SCARED TO LOOK

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

American Finds Stalin's Mother Unimpressed By Son's Achievements; Ridgway Rescues Korean Cause; Truman Defers To Hoover At India Relief Conference

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — Probably the only American who has ever met Stalin's mother is Carleton Smith, director of the National Arts Foundation, who while traveling near Tiflis in 1936 was taken to a village where Stalin's mother lived.

Her home was a mud hut dug out of the side of a hill, and she proved to be a wrinkled, kindly old lady. Telling Smith how she had raised her son to be a priest, the old lady added:

"I hear he's now running all of Russia, but I don't believe it."

A year later, Smith was in Moscow at the Bolshoi Theatre when Stalin was also present, and had an interview with the Russian dictator. Among other things he told him about the visit to his mother.

Stalin maintained an icy silence. He did not seem interested in his mother.

Victory In Korea

Gen. Matthew Ridgway personally is largely credited with turning the most humiliating defeat in 85 years of American military history into gradual victory in Korea.

Military men say that Ridgway has done an amazing job. Yet he did it with almost no reinforcements, and with a larger number of enemy forces against him than faced UN forces when General MacArthur was in direct command. For an estimated Chinese force of 276,000 men plus 191,000 revitalized North Koreans face Ridgway today, more than the Commuuist army that knocked MacArthur off balance in North Korea and drove him back across the 38th Parellel.

Not generally publicized is that almost sole responsibility in Korea has now been given to General Ridgway. For all practical purposes, MacArthur has been relieved of the fighting Korean command. Technically, of course, this is not true, because MacArthur still remains supreme commander. Actually, however, MacArthur virtually washed his hands of the Korean War after Washington refused to send him the four National Guard divisions he requested early in January.

Furthermore, Ridgway, coming direct to Korea from the United States, has been more independent than the field generals who had served under MacArthur in Japan and who, having been close to him, looked to him for direction.

Pentagon officials emphasize that there has been no friction between MacArthur and General Ridgway. The latter has merely used different tactics. He has quietly shaken up his command at the divisional level, has profited from McaArthur's mistakes, has given the UN Army a new shot in the arm and has turned a defeat complex on the part of the troops into a new fighting spirit.

Hoover and Truman

Though on opposite sides of the political fence, and vigorously disagreeing on foreign policy, the President of the United States and the only living ex-President of the United States seem to have a strong bond of affection for each other.

Herbert Hoover once paid sincere tribute to Harry Truman at a Gridiron Club dinner. He has been known to be grateful to Truman for having lifted the ban against him which for 13 long years was imposed by Franklin Roosevelt.

Some White House friends have argued that Truman made a mistake by inviting Hoover to Washington for frequent conferences, since the Administration's blessing has now put him in a position where he could damage Truman's foreign policy. However, the President has not agreed, and the other day invited the ex-President to help him regarding relief for India.

Calling a meeting of Cabinet members and other advisers, Truman introduced Hoover by saying:

"I have invited President Hoover because of his vast experience and humanitarian policies to advise us on sending grain to India."

Hoover replied that, although he was not familiar with the Indian problem, he had great respect for Mr. Truman's judgment, and he was there to listen.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson explained that while "we do have our difference with the Government of India, I do not believe that should stand in the way of helping suffering people."

Secretary of Agriculture Charley Brannan was cautious. He explained that we do not have any great surplus of wheat. "But," he added, "if you say it is necessary we can get 2,000,000 tons or what is needed for India without creating a shortage at home."

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, ECA food director, outlined India's needs. He said that drought, floods, earthquakes, and about every other natural calamity had hit India and cut its grain production by 9,000,000 to 5,000,000 tons.

"This is especially bad," he said, "because 80 per cent of the caloric intake of Indians is grain. They are not meat eaters."

Some cold water was thrown on the project by James K. Knudson of the Defense Transport Administration, who said that with the railroad tieup it would be "quite difficult" to get the wheat to the ports and he understood ocean shipping was tight.

Several times during the discussion, President Truman interrupted to ask Mr. Hoover for his views and whether he thought the plan was feasible. Hoover's conclusion was: "This country has never failed to come to the rescue of the hungry, and this appears to be a worthy cause."

When the meeting broke up, it was significant that Hoover was chosen as spokesman to explain the conclusions of the conference to the press.

Tragic Jeep Accident

Not much got into the papers about the other victims of the jeep crash that killed Gen. Walton Walker.

However, the South Koreans have quietly sentenced the Korean driver who crashed into Walker's jeep to three years hard labor. The driver was Kyong Nei Pak. His passengers —Kuk Soom Lee, Chong Han Pak and Man Joo Chong—were released after investigation of the accident.

Three American soldiers in the jeep with Walker survived and were evacuated to the Tokyo General Hospital. They are: Lieut. Col. Layton Tyner, M-Sgt. George Belton and Sgt. Francis Reenan.

New Airpower Idea Will Affect Europe's Defense

By MARK SULLIVAN

THE ISSUE which generated late last fall, which became known as sending troops to Europe, which was brought to public attention by the speech of ex-President Herbert Hoover, December 20 and which became the "great debate" has now taken a definite form. It is embodied in a resolution before the Senate and will be debated this week.

For the widespread lack of complete understanding about this issue, there is reason in the circumstances in which it came into existence. It was created as a proposal by top leaders in our government, and by them communicated to leaders in the countries of Western Europe. Before the proposal could take effect, it would need to have assent from the governments and peoples of the countries the proposal covered. During the period of discussion, official public announcements might be awkward. There was no comprehensive and authoritative public statement until the radio address to the country by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower February 2; and that, while comprehensive, could not be specific or conclusive on some important points. Lack of complete understanding continues to this day.

The proposal was that a joint army be created for the defense of Western Europe against armed aggression by Russian communism, the joint army to be made up of armies of the countries of Western Europe, Canada and the United States. This—and it is an important point—differs from the North Atlantic Pact. The pact provides for mutual defense after aggression has taken place, while the present proposal is to create a joint army in advance.

Difficulties Arise

Difficulty came from several of the countries intended to be included. West Germany was reluctant to set up an army to be a part of the joint one until the United States should first have in Europe an army of sufficient size to protect West Germany as the probable first victim of any Russian Communist attack. In France there was objection to the existence of a West German army of formidable size—France had a long memory of bitter experiences with German armies. In other countries also there was disunity as between country and country and internally some reluctance or lack of responsiveness from different causes including some war weariness, and awareness of lack of strength, making for lack of strongly affirmative will to arm.

This lack of responsiveness from some Western European countries had a definite psychological effect in the United States. The picture was not of countries which must bear the brunt of aggression asking us to help them defend themselves. Instead the picture was of the United States asking them to become parts of a great joint army for the defense of Europe, to which the United States would contribute the largest strength, and they reluctant to accept the proposal.

This picture of the proposal, and the reluctance of Western European countries to respond, created in the United States an apprehensive vision of what the future picture might be if Russian aggression on Western Europe should take place. We would be expected to bear the brunt of defense. Among our people arose anxiety lest we see another great military expedition to Europe comparable to the ones we made in the first and second world wars.

Limited Liability Proposed

Out of the condition—as our people became aware of it about last December—there arose in Congress a proposal that would limit our liability. It is that our contribution to a joint army for the defense of Europe be limited to a predetermined proportion of the joint army as a whole, that the force we contribute be in a definite ratio to the forces contributed by the European countries. This idea is part of the resolution that will be debated the coming week.

Another idea has come forward. It is under technical discussion in military circles and it is an important factor in the thought put forward by ex-President Hoover. It assumes that a war fought with ground forces by the non-Communist countries against the Communist ones cannot be won, because of the immensely greater manpower of the Communist countries. It assumes further that we and the other non-Communist countries can win a war fought by airpower and also seapower, because in these we are strong while the Communist countries are relatively weak. If this idea gains strength, it will have bearing on the whole proposal about sending troops to Europe, for we could give airpower strength to the defense of Europe much more readily than we could contribute manpower for a war fought by ground troops.

British Politics Hampers American Forces In Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. — Again the "38th Parallel" has been interjected into the military operations of the United Nations forces by Great Britain. Prime Minister Attlee's admission in London that the views of the British government on this point had been presented to the American government and that the UN forces should not move across that parallel without consultations among the UN powers illustrates dramatically the way American forces have been hamstrung in Korea.

The utter absurdity of such a discussion in the midst of fighting will be apparent when it is noted that there has heretofore been no ban against crossing the parallel by our forces. Even now nobody is seriously advocating that the naval forces or the planes of the air force and the navy be prevented from attacking targets in North Korea. It is only the land forces which are to be ordered to stop their crossing.

No Guarantee From Reds

The idea that a war can be fought successfully by prohibiting ground forces from punishing the enemy, while sea and air forces continue the attack, is one that doesn't make sense to military men. If wars hereafter are to be managed by politicians and if future UN operations are to be commanded by foreign offices, then it might be well worth considering whether American forces should ever again be committed to resist aggression unless the UN specifically agrees in advance to let the military power be exerted to its maximum in every way until there is a "cease fire" agreed to by both sides.

What the British government is evidently attempting to offer is a "cease fire" so far as the UN forces are concerned but with no guaranty or assurance that the Communist Chinese will feel obligated to refrain from sudden attack on UN forces.

Merely to state what is involved from a military viewpoint is to reveal the impracticability of conducting military operations on such a basis. But what is more disconcerting is that the great government of Britain, which has tried assiduously to prevent the Red China regime from being pronounced an aggressor by the UN, now insists that the aggressor shall have the right to do as he pleases north of the 38th Parallel.

This must be sad news to the Korean people, who have been expecting the UN to liberate all of them and not just those south of the 38th Parallel. To stop at the parallel is to admit that all the military effort expended since last June, when the North Koreans marched across that line, has been in vain. Even to suggest publicly that the allies should consider stopping at the 38th Parallel is to notify Communist China that the U. N. forces are afraid to proceed further or that they are coming cravenly to beg for a "cease fire."

Tactics Not Inspiring

Does Prime Minister Attlee think such tactics can inspire American soldiers hereafter to make sacrifices for the U. N.? It can only result in severe criticism directed toward any government which sponsors a limitation on the right of an army in the midst of war operations to pursue its legitimate military objectives. The United States has suffered nearly 50,000 casualties, and yet the British Prime Minister is willing to stop our troops at the 38th Parallel. There is no objection, of course, to demand upon Red China for a "cease fire" based on a willingness of U. N. forces to withdraw from Korea in due time, but certainly not until after every Communist soldier has first been withdrawn and fool-proof guarantees have been given against a re-crossing of the Yalu River.

The Red Chinese will hardly be impressed by any maneuver now which orders U. N. forces to stop and wait for the Peiping government to agree to stop fighting. Every communication from the Red China regime thus far has been defiant. There isn't the slightest sign that stopping at the 38th Parallel would accomplish anything. Yet the British government, which has borne very little of the pain of the Korean War, is perfectly willing to see the operations of General Ridgway impaired by a restrictive order. Opinion here is that the British might better confine their help in the Korean War to a stoppage first of the British supplies that have been going through Hong Kong to the Communists. That would truly speed the victory for the U. N. in Korea.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The China Politburo

SOVIET China has now been fully organized along the lines of Soviet Russia. This model of government is universal among Communist countries, because they all are based on the dictatorship of the proletariat; that is, the total control of the people by one political party.

Thus, an oligarchy of 11 men, with supreme and sole power, holds hundreds of millions of people in thrall. These 11 men in China are Mao Tze-Tung, Liu Shao-Chi, Li Li-San, Chou En-Lai, Chen Shao-Yu, Chang Wen-Tien, Chen Yun, Peng Chen, Li Wei-Han, Li Fu-Chan, Liu Shao-Wen.

No military leaders are included in the politburo. This eliminates Chu Teh, who is one of the greatest figures in Chinese communism. In fact, in the mid 20's, the movement was generally referred to as Chu-Mao, combining the names of Chu Teh and Mao Tze-Tung. Chu is older than Mao and has been ill and may have been discarded as useless. He inherited the estate, whatever that may be worth, of the late Agnes Smedley, an American writer. They were great friends.

Of the 11 men in the politburo, six were educated in Moscow and represent an unadulterated Russian position in Chinese affairs. Among the most important of these Russian-trained leaders is Li Li-San, who used to be antagonistic to Mao Tze-Tung and who is generally regarded as Mao's likely successor.

In fact, when the State Department was monkeying with the notion that Mao might become a Chinese Tito, it was obvious to anyone who knew anything about China that should Mao show any deviationist tendencies, he would be killed and Li Li-San would take his place. The Russians failed to curb Tito because they could not kill him; Mao has, however, been surrounded by Russian-controlled Chinese.

I knew Li between 1925 and 1927 and a sharp and tough hombre he was. He devoted himself to labor movements and conducted a strike and propaganda machine with outstanding ability. In fact, were it not for his strikes, it is likely that Chiang Kai-Shek's revolution would have failed. Chiang and Li were then associated. In 1930, he returned to Moscow, where he continued his studies at the Lenin Institute. Later he was associated with the Foreign Language publishing House —a book trust that sends Russian literature in all sorts of languages to all parts of the world.

If I recall correctly, Michael Borodin, the American lawyer, who came to China in 1924 to conquer that country for Russia through Sun Yat-Sen's revolution, was also associated with this publishing house. It was a reduction of Borodin's position from a great proconsul to be a minor publisher.

Li is the present boss of Manchuria and has been since 1945. That is another reason why Mao could not be a Tito. Manchuria is the power house of China and whoever controls that can control China. It is not surprising that the Russians turned that task over to Li. He is, from their standpoint, most trustworthy.

His is a name to remember. I recall that in 1925 there was a vast boycott against American as well as British goods throughout China. Li then took the position that American capitalistic imperialism was the same in substance as Brit-

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotional

Mark 6:31 (R. S. V.).
Read Isaiah 30:15—26.

INTO RETREAT WITH HIM

Restfulness, which means serenity of mind, a grasp of the elemental and ultimate facts of life, is the necessity of everyone to the living of a full life.

If we should want to know the reason for the poise of Jesus, we should have to find it in those solitary all-night vigils, the hours spent alone, or the days he sought sanctuary when he talked with a few close friends.

Being alone, however, or apart from the turmoil of life for awhile is quite different from idleness or running away from duty. The deserter's life is full of satirical presence, and the idler's life holds too many perils to the soul. A man must have wings to fly, not from duty, but upwards towards God, and outward in service to his fellowmen. One gets the incentive to do a task when in quietness and confidence one has found strength. Fear will defeat us. Facing up to life will make the obstacles in our path become steppingstones to larger usefulness and deeper faith.

Let Us Pray: Eternal God, in whom we live, and move, and have our being, teach us how to face life with an unconfused mind, an understanding heart, and faith in the victory of God. Trrough Jesus Christ. Amen.

"Toe-Rings" And Sequin Beauty Spots In For 1951

PARIS—(INS)—"Toe-rings" and sequin beauty-spots are in for 1951. They are accessories which will give the final touch to the new Paris curves and do-dads.

Since basic lines for spring fashions haven't changed, Paris designers let their imaginations go wild on accessories. Jewelry, gloves, buttons and even new hair-dos and wigs will make women look smarter and more feminine—and certainly different.

"Toe-rings" will be worn with informal hostess gowns or fashionable beach outfits. Pierre Balmain matched a huge amethyst ring, worn on the left little toe, with lilac-colored corduroy trousers and chiffon blouses. The height of something or other was achieved when this outfit was presented with a French poodle tinted in lilac, to match.

Paquin shows interesting "Indian chief earrings." Made of flowers, pearls or rhine-stones these costume jewels follow and cover the contour of the ears and look dressy and flattering.

Schiaparelli makes a lovely bonnet of white, pink and red roses, just covering the top of the head. Paquin displays the biggest bouquet of violets ever worn. A huge posy with leaves and stems covers almost the entire bust of a strapless blue-green taffeta sheath worn with a purple chiffon stole.

Robert Piquet even trims classic black theatre pumps with red rose buds, one on each shoe. Lanvin droops garlands of roses down from the neck to the hems of cocktail and evening dresses. Evening capes, boas and glove-cuffs made of flowers are seen in many houses.

Poison-green gloves matching green buttons and piping on navy blue suits look new and chic. Many suit and coat buttons have reached the size of saucers at Jacques Fath and Schiaparelli. Often they are the only trimmings on otherwise classic styles.

The hair-do is important for 1951. If Paris hairdressers went in for short-cut and curled hair, Paris fashion designers prefer long hair combed to buns or "ear-phone" coils to match their spring styles.

Dior and Balenciaga favor high placed buns recalling regency hairstyles, and hats are worn tilted accordingly. Bill of Rochas shows "ear-phones" sometimes faked in straw.

Paquin shows interesting "Indian chief earrings." Made of flowers, pearls or rhine-stones these costume jewels follow and cover the contour of the ears and look dressy and flattering.

Schiaparelli makes a lovely bonnet of white, pink and red roses, just covering the top of the head. Paquin displays the biggest bouquet of violets ever worn. A huge posy with leaves and stems covers almost the entire bust of a strapless blue-green taffeta sheath worn with a purple chiffon stole.

Robert Piquet even trims classic black theatre pumps with red rose buds, one on each shoe. Lanvin droops garlands of roses down from the neck to the hems of cocktail and evening dresses. Evening capes, boas and glove-cuffs made of flowers are seen in many houses.

Poison-green gloves matching green buttons and piping on navy blue suits look new and chic. Many suit and coat buttons have reached the size of saucers at Jacques Fath and Schiaparelli. Often they are the only trimmings on otherwise classic styles.

The hair-do is important for 1951. If Paris hairdressers went in for short-cut and curled hair, Paris fashion designers prefer long hair combed to buns or "ear-phone" coils to match their spring styles.

Dior and Balenciaga favor high placed buns recalling regency hair-styles, and hats are worn tilted accordingly. Bill of Rochas shows "ear-phones" sometimes faked in straw.

Much better bards by far than I
to serenade a lady fair,
Have penned sweet words in days gone by
And caught her fancy unaware.
This I should like to do today
And so I borrow classic line
To say the things I want to say

—A Valentine

She was a phantom of delight
When first she gleamed upon my sight . . .
A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort, and command;
And yet a spirit still, and bright

—Wordsworth

She walks in beauty like the night
Of cloudless climes and starry skies;
And all that's best of dark and bright

—Byron

NEW YORK—Carolyn Schnurer has fallen in love with India.

The noted sportswear designer, aided and abetted by A. Wells Peck, president of a chain of specialty shops, took a recent flying trip to the land of the mystics and came back to design a collection of resort fashions destained to bring an air of Bombay to some of the best American beaches this year.

Her collection, entitled "Flight to India," uses specially designed fabrics produced to her specifications by American manufacturers, and introduces modern interpretations of typical Indian costumes.

White plays an important part in Miss Schnurer's collection, as it does in India. The Sari is used in various versions, as is the backless "Choli" blouse, worn by the women of India beneath their Saris.

Her embroidered beach jackets also make news, employing the patterns used on jeweled jackets worn in India.

ish colonial imperialism. That movement was as anti-American as it was anti-British and it was then organized by the Third International.

Chen Shao-Yu is Russian-trained and deeply Marxist. Under the name of Wang Ming, he was the Chinese Communist representative in the Third International. He is completely indoctrinated and is likely to take the Russian position on all questions. He is violently anti-American.

It is interesting to note that several old-time leaders have been dropped from the politburo. I have already referred to Chu Teh. But Jen Pi-Shih, former director of party organization, Kang Sheng, secret police chief, Kao Kang of Manchuria, Lin Tsu-Han, important financial leader, Tung Pi-Wu, who represented the Chinese Communists at the San Francisco Conference, have also been omitted.

From all this, there is the appearance of some kind of purge, the old bolsheviks being pushed out by the younger generation. How effectively this is done in Communist countries may be witnessed at the play "Darkness at Noon," now being given at a Broadway theater. This play is an excellent portrayal of the Communist mind in any country.

Mrs. Black Elk entered the conversation only once . . . When Chief Black Elk said she was 49, Mrs. Elk shook her head and said, "48." She didn't look a day over 50.

Meanwhile, Chief American Horse proudly was showing off Mrs. American Horse's beaded blouse . . . He said it had taken his spouse about six months to form the Indian designs with millions of beads.

"She best beader in world. No wear glasses, either," he added.

Speaking of eye glasses, Indians rarely need them, nor do they go in for false teeth.

Black Elk explained that, "The older Indians have better even than us. You should se them. They ate what the earth gave them—wild turnips and wild fruit, and they chewed their meat apart from one piece. It toughened them and their teeth. The old Indians drank buffalo soup, that's why."

Busted traffic lights all the way from Uline Arena to duPont Circle slowing up homeward-bound traffic. . . "A Democratic plot," cussed many drivers . . . Stately greyhead, Miss Ruth Thompson, lady representative from Michigan, getting her first smack of a Washington traffic jam . . . Several hundred cars were crowded into a parking lot ordinarily accommodating half that many . . . After surveying the situation for a few moments, the former judge from Michigan got into her car, and expertly eased herself out of a space with only about two inches to spare on either side. The parking lot attendant held his breath while Miss Thompson maneuvered the extrication . . . Admiringly, he beamed, "Lady, your husband oughta' be proud of you."

NEW YORK (INS)—THE PASSING SHOW—

Eddy Duchin was one of the most pleasant and courageous men I ever met in show business. And the least self-conscious of his own considerable fame and least jealous of the even greater fame of others.

Rabbi Julius Mark stressed this latter aspect of Eddy's life in his touching remarks near the flag-draped bier of his Navy buddy. Chaplain Mary had never heard him utter a word of envy of anyone else, a great epitaph for any showman, and neither had any of those who came to pay their last respects to the brilliant and wonderful guy.

When Duchin entered the Navy early in 1942 he was immediately seized by a social admiral who assumed that the pianist-conductor would be happy to spend the war playing at brass parties at Great Lakes. Eddy had genuine difficulty convincing the admiral that he was in the Navy to fight a war.

Finally the admiral asked him why, and Duchin answered, "Sir, one of these years my kid is going to climb up on my knee and say 'Daddy, what did you do in the big war-' And I don't want to have to tell him I played a piano."

Eddy went on to a real tough war, filled with combat landings from Iwo Jima to Normandy, the sinking of his ships, and the terrible pressing of his luck.

"Funny thing," he laughed not long ago, when recalling the story. "The kid never asked me what I did."

The man fought his leukemia for the menacing beast it is. It cornered him in the prime of his life and he fought back with quiet courage that brought a lump to the throats of his friends but never to Eddy's own throat. No doctors, no hospital, ever had a more resolute patient.

Eddy tried everything. He ran the gamut of the wonder drugs, willingly offering his veins so that others—if not he—might live because of what he was contributing. At the end, barely alive under his oxygen tent, he was ready to try P.V.P., the new synthetic blood plasma.

The Navy gave him a decoration for valor a few hours before he died, but he never saw it. It sat on a table at Averell Harriman's house the other night, after his death. A few of his best friends had gathered with the inspiringly courageous widow. The decoration, fine as it is, was just another medal. In their hearts those friends and countless others had pinned medals on Eddy for years.

Whether you know it or not you're being repeatedly defended against "enemy" bomber attack these nights. B-36s, B-29s and B-50s, posing as a menacing air force, have been making numerous raids on many of the major and minor cities of the country, and are being met at great altitudes by jet fighters in mock battles.

At one airfield—Elgin, in Florida—jet pilots are on 24-hour alert in all kinds of weather, and have warded off enough potential mayhem to wipe that section of the state off the map.

Years ago there was a play named "The Ladder" which was kept alive on Broadway by its devoted angel for many months after people would not permit themselves to be pushed into the theater at gun-point.

"The Ladder" has an aeronautical counterpart in Howard Hughes' 200-ton plywood flying boat the "Hercules," subject of that congressional investigation of 1947. Hughes is now suing the RFC for $2,000,000 for money which he says it promised him to help build the plane—which has eight engines, a wing longer than a football field, and an altitude record of about three feet.

The plane, begun in 1942, has now cost the government and Hughes about $35,000,000, and Hughes is still spending $300,000 a month trying to complete the hopelessly obsolete monster. In the meantime the RFC is as uncomfortable as an oyster with a square pearl.

Yugoslavia Still Walks In Middle Of Political Road

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Yugoslavia is still walking down the middle of the world political road, at bitter odds with Russia and cockily independent toward the free West.

Yugoslavs are eating the first instalment of American food and getting other western aid today—and more is promised—but Yugoslavia's policy of no-surrender to either camp hasn't changed.

In one testing-place, the United Nations, the Yugoslavs recently have voted either with the U. S. and the free west or against them. Often they have not voted for either side

They claim they have the true Communist religion and the rest of the Soviet bloc distorts it. U. N. ballots find them voting the same way the Russians do on many questions.

But no longer is there a slavish "me-too" position for the Russian stand as there was before the Cominform block expelled Premier Marshal Tito nearly three years ago.

The Yugoslaves now even take oral swings at Russian and bloc pressure in attacks that bring Russian cries of "slander"—just as if Yugoslavia were a western nation.

Yugoslavia didn't go along with the West on naming China guilty of aggression in Korea early this month. It was adopted 44-7, the Russian block its chief opponents. The Yugoslavs abstained. They wanted the emphasis put on another attempt to get the war stopped. Negativeness on China—and on the whole Korean question—was seen as an attempt to preserve neutrality for mediation.

Last November, when he was Security Council president, Bebler lashed out at the Chinese Communists after the speech by Communist General Wu, who denounced the U. N., the U. S., the West, and Nationalist China. Bebler said Communist China not only encouraged the North Koreans but were then helping them with men and arms, and said a would-be U. N. member should not act like that.

During the Russian boycott of the Security Council in 1950, Bebler was one of the first to demand that the Chinese Communists be seated in the U. N., on the grounds that they are the effective government in China.

He also supported having both North and South Koreans here for talks with the Security Council, as well as the Red Chinese, although he and his government came later to agree that the North Koreans were the aggressors.

Many in the U. N. do not agree with the Yugoslavs' refusal to go to the end of the line with the nations they'll have to get help from if Russia tries to crush Tito. But they make these points:

The Tito brand of nationalism has to try for a position of leadership in the Communist world.

It tried to get across to the Red Chinese and the Korean Communists that the Russians were not their only friends in the U. N.

The Yugoslavs have to try to drive another wedge between Moscow and the Asian Communists.

You can follow American fortunes of war in Korea by the blimping in the Pentagon. When we were retreating the experts fled to the mezzanine. Now that we're on the make they are again throwing their shadows on frosted glass doors.

All military orders are inside jobs. They're kicked around the council, pinned down on maps, okayed by a majority nod and filtered through a keyhole.

Then they're put in a sealed envelope not to be opened until at sea. The Pentagon boys want everybody to be in the same mental condition they are:

Czech Reds Chart "Significant" Strikes By West Europe Workers

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

The map is one of a series of charts published by the party's culture and propaganda section with the help of the State Geographical and Cartographical Institute. It is selling well in Prague book stores.

Small red squares indicate the strikes deemed significant occurred in 44 cities in Britain, France, Italy, Spain, Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia, Greece and Finland.

Small red circles denote 33 ports where workers are said to have refused to unload arms shipments, presumably from the United States. Fourteen of these are in France or French North Africa, six in Italy, others in Britain, the Low Countries, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Large red numerals tab Italy as the scene of two general strikes and France, French Morocco and internationally-controlled Trieste as the scene of one general work stoppage.

Other maps show the numbers of people claimed to have signed the Stockholm declaration against the atom bomb on the various continents and in individual European countries prior to last October's World Peace Congress in Warsaw.

The incomplete total of signers figures out at 467,867,098. Some of the returns are downright sensational. For instance, more than 20 million signers are shown for Eastern Germany. A 1946 census (reported in the 1950 Statesman Year Book) listed only 20,513,762 people in that entire area—with Berlin included.

Yugoslavia Still Walks In Middle Of Political Road

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Yugoslavia is still walking down the middle of the world political road, at bitter odds with Russia and cockily independent toward the free West.

Yugoslavs are eating the first instalment of American food and getting other western aid today—and more is promised—but Yugoslavia's policy of no-surrender to either camp hasn't changed.

In one testing-place, the United Nations, the Yugoslavs recently have voted either with the U. S. and the free west or against them. Often they have not voted for either side

They claim they have the true Communist religion and the rest of the Soviet bloc distorts it. U. N. ballots find them voting the same way the Russians do on many questions.

But no longer is there a slavish "me-too" position for the Russian stand as there was before the Cominform block expelled Premier Marshal Tito nearly three years ago.

The Yugoslaves now even take oral swings at Russian and bloc pressure in attacks that bring Russian cries of "slander"—just as if Yugoslavia were a western nation.

Yugoslavia didn't go along with the West on naming China guilty of aggression in Korea early this month. It was adopted 44-7, the Russian block its chief opponents. The Yugoslavs abstained. They wanted the emphasis put on another attempt to get the war stopped. Negativeness on China—and on the whole Korean question—was seen as an attempt to preserve neutrality for mediation.

Last November, when he was Security Council president, Bebler lashed out at the Chinese Communists after the speech by Communist General Wu, who denounced the U. N., the U. S., the West, and Nationalist China. Bebler said Communist China not only encouraged the North Koreans but were then helping them with men and arms, and said a would-be U. N. member should not act like that.

During the Russian boycott of the Security Council in 1950, Bebler was one of the first to demand that the Chinese Communists be seated in the U. N., on the grounds that they are the effective government in China.

He also supported having both North and South Koreans here for talks with the Security Council, as well as the Red Chinese, although he and his government came later to agree that the North Koreans were the aggressors.

Many in the U. N. do not agree with the Yugoslavs' refusal to go to the end of the line with the nations they'll have to get help from if Russia tries to crush Tito. But they make these points:

The Tito brand of nationalism has to try for a position of leadership in the Communist world.

It tried to get across to the Red Chinese and the Korean Communists that the Russians were not their only friends in the U. N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

The map is one of a series of charts published by the party's culture and propaganda section with the help of the State Geographical and Cartographical Institute. It is selling well in Prague book stores.

Small red squares indicate the strikes deemed significant occurred in 44 cities in Britain, France, Italy, Spain, Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia, Greece and Finland.

Small red circles denote 33 ports where workers are said to have refused to unload arms shipments, presumably from the United States. Fourteen of these are in France or French North Africa, six in Italy, others in Britain, the Low Countries, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Large red numerals tab Italy as the scene of two general strikes and France, French Morocco and internationally-controlled Trieste as the scene of one general work stoppage.

Other maps show the numbers of people claimed to have signed the Stockholm declaration against the atom bomb on the various continents and in individual European countries prior to last October's World Peace Congress in Warsaw.

The incomplete total of signers figures out at 467,867,098. Some of the returns are downright sensational. For instance, more than 20 million signers are shown for Eastern Germany. A 1946 census (reported in the 1950 Statesman Year Book) listed only 20,513,762 people in that entire area—with Berlin included.

Barter Play To Be Given Tonight

The Barter Theatre will present "The Glass Menagerie" at Allegany High School auditorium tonight at 8:15 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Junior Association of Commerce.

Hearing Is Held By Liquor Board

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board heard testimony yesterday in a remonstrance against issuance of a Class B beer and wine permit to Henry J. Schoenadel for the Fairgo Cafe.

After testimony by more than 20 witnesses the board reserved its decision until later.

A remonstrance was filed several weeks ago against issuance of the permit by residents of the immediate neighborhood. They contend that there are three establishments in the area which have beer licenses and the Fairgo Cafe poses a problem due to the large number of children which live in the neighborhood.

City Is Assured Of Chlorine Supplies

Cumberland water supply will not lack a sufficient supply of chlorine, Water Commissioner George H. Tederick said yesterday.

Tederick said that the government has assured public drinking water and sewage systems from a shortage of the purification chemical.

Naval Reserve Seeks Officer Candidates

The Navy is accepting applications for enlisted male and female personnel in the volunteer and organized reserve for its 1951 summer reserve officer candidate program.

Established to provide a continuing flow of reserve officer material, the program is restricted to college students. It is designed primarily to procure officers who may qualify eventually for commissions in the general line category, including aviation and specialists.

Training of 1,250 male reserve officer candidates will be at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport Rhode Island, and the U. S. Naval Station, San Diego, Calif. A school has been established at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., for 160 female officer candidates.

Courses will be six weeks long and male candidates will normally be ordered to the training center nearest their home or college address. Applicants must be able to complete the required two summer training periods not later than the summer subsequent to graduation.

To qualify for the reserve officer candidate program, both male and female applicants must be enrolled in accredited college or university and in good scholastic standing. Male applicants must be at least 17 years of age and female applicants at least 18. Applicants over 27 will not be accepted. Students pursuing theological, medical or dental courses, or courses leading to a commission in the Medical Service Corps are not eligible for this program.

Gonder Hearing Set For Today

A hearing will be held this afternoon at Annapolis before the Senate Elections Committee on the petition of Bernard I. Gonder, Democratic candidate for state senator from Garrett county, for a recount of the ballots in the November general election.

Gonder lost out by one vote to State Senator Neil C. Fraley, also of Oakland.

Counsel for Gonder will be Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., local attorneys, while Fraley will be represented by Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorney.

Gonder demanded a recount after charging Fraley with "irregularities" in his one-vote victory in November's general election. Gonder polled 3,079 votes, Fraley received 2,080.

Fraley was the incumbent. Gonder, who was Garrett county senator from 1943 to to 1946, contended election officials had been guilty of "inaccuracy" rather than "fraud." He contended some of the ballots counted were improperly marked and an election judge had left his post before the count was finished without appointing a substitute.

The actual counting would be done in Annapolis and the committee will designate some state official, possibly the Senate sergeant at arms, to go to Garrett county and deliver the ballots to the State House.

The decision of the Senate will be final.

Business Travel-Expense Deductions Cut Your Tax

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Many persons reduce their taxes by deducting expenses or travel on business or their employer.

You can claim out-o-town business travel expenses and in addition take non-business deductions either taking the standard allowance, amounting to 10 per cent of your income, or itemizing your non-business deductions and taking the total of those items.

Business travel expenses are subtracted from your gross income to get adjusted gross income. You list travel expenses on a separate sheet of paper and fasten it securely to form 1040.

You can claim trevel-expense deductions on either short form 1040 or long form 1040. There is no place for travel deductions on form 1040-A the simplified yellow sheet.

The cost of lodging and meals can be deducted along with railroad, airplane, bus and steamship fares. You also can deduct taxi fares, cost of baggage transfer and storage, porter charges and tips in reasonable amounts.

You can deduct the cost of business travel by auto, such as gasoline, oil, car repairs, garage rent. Other necessary auto operation and upkeep expenditures are deductible.

If you have auto or other transportation expense in connection with work within your home town, they can be itemized among "miscellaneous" deductions on Page 3, form 1040. If you itemize such deductions you cannot take the standard 10 per cent allowance because that would be repeating your deduction allowance.

Some workers can deduct "reimbursed expenses" along with business travel expenses. They are workers whose employers include expense money allowances as part of employes' salary or wages when they report employes' income to the government.

In that case "reimbursed expenses" are subtracted fro mthe total income reported. That's done to prevent tax being levied on money hich went to pay business expenses.

Business and professional men, of course, can deduct the expense of travel on business away from home. The deductions are limited to expenses which are ordinary and necessary.

If a business man makes a trip from which re returns by the end of the same day, hei snot considered as traveling away from home. In that case, the cost of transportation can de deducted as a ordinary business expense, but the cost of meals cannot.

The cost of transportation between your home and your regular place of business or employment is not deductible.

You cannot deduct the cost of travel from one city to another to seek employment or to take another job. However, you can deduct the cost of travel to another city to look after rental property and royalties.

A business man who is called upon to make trips to Washington to give advice to the government can deduct the full expenses of such travel.

Tot Who Lost Eyes Due To Cancer Is Learning To Live In Darkness

LITTLE STURGEON, Wis. — (INS)—A two-year-old girl, whose parents had to choose between blindness or death for her, is learning to live in darkness at her farm home near Little Sturgeon, Wis.

Mary Joe May had both eyes removed two weeks ago at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., after physicians told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard May, that the child would die of cancer unless the eyes were removed.

Today, Mary Joe has recovered completely from the operation and is in excellent health.

She has recovered her normal happy spirits, too, since that heart-rending moment when the bandages were removed and she sobbed to her mother:

Mary Joe has learned to dress herself and to play with her brothers and sister, Donny, 7; Darwin, 10, and Diana, five months.

Mr. and Mrs. May first consulted an eye specialist about Mary Joe after they read newspaper accounts of Carolyn Purcell, the little Georgia girl who was believed to be suffering from cancer of the eyes.

The Mays noted that Mary Joe's eyes had a glassy look.

Unlike the Purcell child, whom Mayo physicians found was not a victim of cancer, Mary Joe was examined at the Rochester clinic and the diagnosis confirmed.

The physicians said cancer had nearly blinded one eye and badly damaged the other.

Street Flushing Plan Impractical

Suggestions that the Fire Department clean streets by flushing with water is not considered practical because of damage caused by the lack of capacity of sewers to carry off the water.

In many instances the combination sanitary and storm sewers are not large enough to take care of the overflow, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, Commissioner of Streets and public property.

The practice of flushing streets was tried here some time ago with dire results when overflow occurred, the commissioner added.

Mrs. Roeder is of the opinion that when sewers were first installed they were constructed too small. When the chance comes to remedy the situation, the sewers are enlarged, looking to future development, she said. The latest was on Valley Street when the ground was opened for the flood control project.

Discussing streets, Mrs Roeder said the flood control project has added to their problems of maintenance but she pointed out that a project will occur only once, indicating that street conditions are only temporary.

The Street Department is working on several bad places, Mrs. Roeder said, but work on others is delayed because water from the ice and snow remains in the holes.

Business Travel-Expense Deductions Cut Your Tax

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Many persons reduce their taxes by deducting expenses or travel on business or their employer.

You can claim out-o-town business travel expenses and in addition take non-business deductions either taking the standard allowance, amounting to 10 per cent of your income, or itemizing your non-business deductions and taking the total of those items.

Business travel expenses are subtracted from your gross income to get adjusted gross income. You list travel expenses on a separate sheet of paper and fasten it securely to form 1040.

You can claim trevel-expense deductions on either short form 1040 or long form 1040. There is no place for travel deductions on form 1040-A the simplified yellow sheet.

The cost of lodging and meals can be deducted along with railroad, airplane, bus and steamship fares. You also can deduct taxi fares, cost of baggage transfer and storage, porter charges and tips in reasonable amounts.

You can deduct the cost of business travel by auto, such as gasoline, oil, car repairs, garage rent. Other necessary auto operation and upkeep expenditures are deductible.

If you have auto or other transportation expense in connection with work within your home town, they can be itemized among "miscellaneous" deductions on Page 3, form 1040. If you itemize such deductions you cannot take the standard 10 per cent allowance because that would be repeating your deduction allowance.

Some workers can deduct "reimbursed expenses" along with business travel expenses. They are workers whose employers include expense money allowances as part of employes' salary or wages when they report employes' income to the government.

In that case "reimbursed expenses" are subtracted fro mthe total income reported. That's done to prevent tax being levied on money hich went to pay business expenses.

Business and professional men, of course, can deduct the expense of travel on business away from home. The deductions are limited to expenses which are ordinary and necessary.

If a business man makes a trip from which re returns by the end of the same day, hei snot considered as traveling away from home. In that case, the cost of transportation can de deducted as a ordinary business expense, but the cost of meals cannot.

The cost of transportation between your home and your regular place of business or employment is not deductible.

You cannot deduct the cost of travel from one city to another to seek employment or to take another job. However, you can deduct the cost of travel to another city to look after rental property and royalties.

A business man who is called upon to make trips to Washington to give advice to the government can deduct the full expenses of such travel.

LaMotta Will Fast 21 Hours To Make Weight For Title Bout

Champion Must Weigh 160 Or Less Or Forfeit Crown

Robinson Installed 3-1 Favorite In 15 Rounder At Chicago

By KEN OPSTEIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (INS)—Hungry Jake LaMotta began a 21-hour fight against food today so that he may fight against Sugar Ray Robinson tomorrow night in a 15-round middleweight championship bout at the Chicago Stadium.

The middleweight king started his fast at one o'clock and will neither eat nor drink until after tomorrow's 10 a. m. weighing. He will forfeit his title on the scales if he is unable to make 160 pounds or less.

Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois Athletic Commission said the sledge-hammer slugger from the Bronx would be given until noon to trim off any suet should he be overweight at 10 a. m.

Triner stated the fight would "go on at the regular time even if LaMotta is too heavy." Triner explained that in such an event the championship would go to Robinson no matter if LaMotta won in the ring.

Scored KO After Fast

Jake conducted a similar fast before his title defense against Laurent Dauthuille in Detroit on Sept. 13, 1950. LaMotta scaled 159½ against the Frenchman. The champ drank a pitcher of orange juice immediately after the weighing in the Motor City, went to a restaurant and ate a half dozen eggs and returned that evening to score a 15th round knockout.

Tale Of The Tape

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (INS)—The tale of the tape for middleweight champion Jake LaMotta and welterweight king Sugar Robinson:

| Ray Robinson | | Jake LaMotta |
|---|---|---|
| 29 | Age | 29 |
| *155 | Weight | *159½ |
| 5-11 | Height | 5-8 |
| 72½ | Reach | 67 |
| 36½ | Chest (normal) | 42 |
| 38 | Chest (expanded) | 45 |
| 28½ | Waist | 33 |
| 19¾ | Thigh | 23 |
| 13¾ | Calf | 13½ |
| 11¾ | Biceps | 13½ |
| 10¾ | Forearm | 12 |
| 15 | Neck | 16 |

* Estimated.

He has not been in a gymnasium since Friday. His only workouts since that time have been long walks and calisthenics, LaMotta explained:

"My appetite increases when I drill hard. I'm just going to take it easy and rest."

LaMotta has been spending much of his time in the movies. He quipped:

Expects To Make 159½

LaMotta expects to weigh 159½ pounds. He was 176 when he started training seven weeks ago.

"I should weigh 154 or 155 pounds. I'm glad that this is one fight where I'm the guy who doesn't have to make weight."

Neither boxer would predict a knockout. Robinson said he would be glad to help LaMotta down to the canvas if he hurt him. But the Harlem Slasher added:

"I'm ready to go 15 rounds. I outpointed him four of five other times and I don't know why I can't do it again."

Robinson is a 3 to 1 favorite. But LaMotta thinks the odds should be with him. He says:

"I knocked him down twice. I really should have been the winner in three of our fights."

Predicts Crowd of 15,000

President Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club predicts a crowd of 15,000 will jam the stadium and provide a gate of $200,000. Ticket prices range from $20 at ringside to $5 in the upper tiers.

The bout will be broadcast and televised by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 10 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. Short wave broadcasts to South America and Spain will carry the blow-by blow account. The Voice of America plans to transmit the fight to troops overseas.

More than 250 newspapermen from the United States, France, Italy and South America also will relay their stories to millions of readers.

LaMotta Will Fast 21 Hours To Make Weight For Title Bout

Robinson Installed 3-1 Favorite In 15 Rounder At Chicago

By KEN OPSTEIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (INS)—Hungry Jake LaMotta began a 21-hour fight against food today so that he may fight against Sugar Ray Robinson tomorrow night in a 15-round middleweight championship bout at the Chicago Stadium.

The middleweight king started his fast at one o'clock and will neither eat nor drink until after tomorrow's 10 a. m. weighing. He will forfeit his title on the scales if he is unable to make 160 pounds or less.

Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois Athletic Commission said the sledge-hammer slugger from the Bronx would be given until noon to trim off any suet should he be overweight at 10 a. m.

Triner stated the fight would "go on at the regular time even if LaMotta is too heavy." Triner explained that in such an event the championship would go to Robinson no matter if LaMotta won in the ring.

Scored KO After Fast

Jake conducted a similar fast before his title defense against Laurent Dauthuille in Detroit on Sept. 13, 1950. LaMotta scaled 159½ against the Frenchman. The champ drank a pitcher of orange juice immediately after the weighing in the Motor City, went to a restaurant and ate a half dozen eggs and returned that evening to score a 15th round knockout.

Tale Of The Tape

| Ray Robinson | | Jake LaMotta |
|---|---|---|
| 29 | Age | 29 |
| *155 | Weight | *159½ |
| 5-11 | Height | 5-8 |
| 72½ | Reach | 67 |
| 36½ | Chest (normal) | 42 |
| 38 | Chest (expanded) | 45 |
| 28½ | Waist | 33 |
| 19¾ | Thigh | 23 |
| 13¾ | Calf | 13½ |
| 11¾ | Biceps | 13½ |
| 10¾ | Forearm | 12 |
| 15 | Neck | 16 |

* Estimated.

He has not been in a gymnasium since Friday. His only workouts since that time have been long walks and calisthenics. LaMotta explained:

"My appetite increases when I drill hard. I'm just going to take it easy and rest."

LaMotta has been spending much of his time in the movies. He quipped:

Expects To Make 159½

LaMotta expects to weigh 159½ pounds. He was 176 when he started training seven weeks ago.

"I should weigh 154 or 155 pounds. I'm glad that this is one fight where I'm the guy who doesn't have to make weight."

Neither boxer would predict a knockout. Robinson said he would be glad to help LaMotta down to the canvas if he hurt him. But the Harlem Slasher added:

"I'm ready to go 15 rounds. I outpointed him four of five other times and I don't know why I can't do it again."

Robinson is a 3 to 1 favorite. But LaMotta thinks the odds should be with him. He says:

"I knocked him down twice. I really should have been the winner in three of our fights."

Predicts Crowd of 15,000

President Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club predicts a crowd of 15,000 will jam the stadium and provide a gate of $200,000. Ticket prices range from $20 at ringside to $5 in the upper tiers.

The bout will be broadcast and televised by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 10 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. Short wave broadcasts to South America and Spain will carry the blow-by blow account. The Voice of America plans to transmit the fight to troops overseas.

More than 250 newspapermen from the United States, France, Italy and South America also will relay their stories to millions of readers.

Schools From 21 Counties Enter State Cage Tourney

Inter-District Plans Announced; 3 Allegany Teams Won Last Year

Schools from 21 of the 23 counties will participate in the eliminations that will be climaxed with the crowning of Maryland's public high school Class A, B and C basketball champions at the University of Maryland on St. Patrick's Day, according to announcement by Crescent J. Bride, chairman of the state tournament committee.

Allegany county schools annexed all three titles last year when Allegany High won "A" honors, Central High of Lonaconing was tops in "B" and Barton High School was the class of the "C" schools. Barton is a sure shot to represent Allegany County in the Class C competition again because the Braves are the only school in that class playing basketball in the county. Central looks like a repeater because the Tigers appear to be much superior to Bruce High, the other "B" school. There are three "A" schools in the county—Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill—and the last named is out in front in that race now.

Counties Participating

The following counties are participating:

DISTRICT IV—Classes B and C, Caroline, Cecil and Queen Anne's.

All games within any county to determine the county champion in each of the three classes must be completed on or before March 2.

All inter-county games within any district to determine the district champion in each of the three classes must be completed on, or before March 10.

Inter-District Dates

CLASS A:
District 3 at 5, March 9, 10 or 13. District 2 at 1, March 9, 10 or 13. Winners meet at College Park, March 17 at 8 p. m.
CLASS B:
District 4 at 5, March 9 or 10 with winner playing District 3 in one semi-final March 13 or 14. In other semi-final District 2 at 1, March 9, 10, 13 or 14. Finalists meet at College Park, March 17 at 7 p. m.
CLASS C:
District 5 at 4, March 9 or 10. Winner plays District 3 in one semi-final on Eastern Shore, March 13 or 14. In other semi-final, District 1 plays at 2, March 9, 10, 13 or 14. Finalists meet at College Park March 17 at 3:30 p. m.

The only counties not participating this year are Baltimore and Kent.

To Meet Here Feb. 24

Arthur G. Ramey, of the Allegany County Board of Education, yesterday announced that Warren Evans, of Frederick, district chairman, has called a meeting of representatives of Class A, B and C schools of District No. 1, comprising Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties for Saturday, Feb. 24 at 10 a. m. at the county board of education building here. Plans will be formulated for inter-county contests at that session.

Allegany county teams won the following games last fall to earn state honors:

CLASS B: Lonaconing 5, Gransville 22 (Frostburg); Lonaconing 47, Middletown 27 (Frostburg); Lonaconing 32, Gaithersburg 27 (Takoma Park); Lonaconing 50, Elkton 37 (College Park).

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (INS)—Some of our leading economists in the stock market have listed Sugar Ray Robinson at 3 to 1 or better to lift the middleweight crown off Jake LaMotta's corrugated dome in Chicago tomorrow night.

These figures seem to be a little out of line, but the Sock Market specialists are rarely caught napping in their estimates and so we are inclined to string along with them.

On past performances you would have to pick Robinson to win the 15-round battle. The records show that Ray has beaten Jake in four of their five previous fights while giving away as much as 16 ponuds and a beating.

The weight spread will not be more than five pounds in this Valentine number because Jake must make the 160-pound class limit and because Robinson can hardly get under 154 without losing a leg.

Let's take a look at the pros and cons. Robinson has been fighting steadily while Jake has been idling, and a busy fighter always figures to have something on a rusty one.

Robinson is faster both with feet and hands. He hits harder and more often and he is immeasurably the cleverer boxer. And he always has taken a punch about as well as Jake.

Stated coldly like this, it would appear that Robinson is a lead pipe cinch to win.

But it is not quite as simple as it appears on paper. Jake is by no means a cream puff puncher. When he is levelling—and you may be reasonably sure he will be levelling in a title fight—he can punch hard enough to bring home the bacon if he connects.

We recall one of the Robinson-LaMotta fights where Jake had Ray on the ropes and ready for the cleaners when a welcome bell came to Ray's rescue. It could happen again.

Jake has been virtually indestructible in all his fights. Oh yes, we know about the time Billy Fox, an absolute paluka, stopped him in four rounds. But we also know that was "one of those things," as they say in the fight racket.

We never met any champion who was more proud of his title than Jake is. Before he won the title, Jake was just another guy in the fight racket. Now he hears "hello champ" everywhere he goes and he loves it.

Never let anybody tell you that Jake is a chump. He knows all the angles in this unsavory racket. He knows how to make money and, what's more important and more unusual for a fighter, he knows how to keep it as well as Robinson. And the fight racket never has produced a better business man than Robinson.

Jake admits Robinson is a great fighter but he always has insisted that he has just the right style to beat the welter champion. Perhaps he has.

Jake undoubtedly has gone back a lot. How far only this fight can decide.

In any event, it should be a rough party.

State Racing Commission Abolishes Receiving Barn

Drug Detection Tests Have Been Conducted Since Fall Of 1946

Horse owners and trainers have smarted under the receiving barn regulations ever since they were introduced in the fall of 1946 at Laurel.

Horses had to be in the isolated receiving barn two hours before post time. They were given a saliva test for the detection of drugs and carefully guarded against last minute injections.

Horsemen doubted the effectiveness of the pre-race saliva test. There have been several cases recently in which horses passed it and were found later to have a drug in their systems.

The Racing Commission said it would substitute more comprehensive post-race urine tests for the receiving barn. All the winners will be tested.

Something resembling the receiving barn still will be used. It is called a "reception paddock." Horses will be brought there 45 minutes before post time. There will be no saliva test. At 25 minutes before post time, the horses will be transferred to the regular paddock.

Pen-Mar League Meets Sunday

The Pen-Mar Baseball League will meet Sunday, February 18 at 2 o'clock at the Frostburg VFW Home, it was announced yesterday by Kenneth Robertson, secretary.

All teams that were in the league last season and any new teams interested in joining the loop are urged to be present.

Baugh Signs With 'Skins

Sammy To Play 15th Season Of Pro Ball

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sam Baugh, the record-setter, sent in his contract to the Washington Redskins today for his 15th year in pro football, thereby setting the stage for another record.

Baugh's passing already has accounted for 17 national football league records. Now he's setting marks merely by hanging around.

For as Baugh goes into his 15th year, he will become the only player to stay with one club that long. Mel Hein, the durable center, put in 14 years with the New York Giants, a record Baugh has tied and will better next season.

Johnny Blood played in the league longer than anyone, 15 years. But he worked for Milwaukee, Green Bay and Pittsburgh. Baugh always has been a Redskin.

Ironically, Baugh's contract arrived the same day that Sid Luckman announced he's quitting after 12 years as an active player with the Chicago Bears.

But they know they have a certain record-setter, even though he now shares the passing chores with Harry Gilmer of Alabama.

For practically every time Baugh touches a football it's a record. He's thrown more passes — 2,829. He's completed the most—1,622. He's gained the most yards—20,782, or more than 11 miles. More Baugh passes have been caught for touchdowns—178. His lifetime completion average—.575—is a record.

LuckmanEnds Playing Days With Chicago

Bears Appoint Sid To Vice Presidency

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP) — Sid Luckman—eulogized as the greatest T formation football quarterback by such gents as George Halas, Frank Leahy, Johnny Lujack and Bob Williams — today ended his 12-year playing career with the Chicago Bears and became a vice president of the club.

The Bears thus became runner-up to the First National Bank of Chicago in the number of vice presidents on hand. The bank has nearly 50. The Bears have at least four officially—Luckman; technical advisor Clark Shaughnessy, the gridiron nomad appointed last week; assistant Bear coach Luke Johnsos and old-timer Jim Mc Millen, former Bear guard and now mayor of suburban Antioch and a pro wrestler.

Owner-coach Halas of the Bears today announced Luckman's finish as a player. Williams, the Notre Dame All-America quarterback, and the Bears' first draft choice this season, was there as well as Bear quarterback Lujack and Leahy, the Irish coach.

Williams said that come April he would decide whether to enter the air cadets, the navy, or take his chance on being drafted by Uncle Sam.

Halas, in a nice speech, left no doubt that Williams would be welcomed by the Bears no matter what interlude there may be.

Luckman, 34, has been sliding toward retirement the last two years. The former Columbia great was voted the National Football League's most valuable player in 1943.

He said that several years ago he turned down the coaching job at the University of Miami, Fla., and also shunned "open" offers as assistant at Columbia to remain with the Bears.

He will be a scout and backfield instructor as well as vice president of Halas' club. He wants to remain in Chicago where he operates an automobile agency and is an executive for a television concern.

Frank J. Davis is vice president and Roy Clites of Hyndman is secretary-treasurer of the Interstate League.

Inter-District Plans Announced; 3 Allegany Teams Won Last Year

Schools from 21 of the 23 counties will participate in the eliminations that will be climaxed with the crowning of Maryland's public high school Class A, B and C basketball champions at the University of Maryland on St. Patrick's Day, according to announcement by Crescent J. Bride, chairman of the state tournament committee.

Allegany county schools annexed all three titles last year when Allegany High won "A" honors, Central High of Lonaconing was tops in "B" and Barton High School was the class of the "C" schools. Barton is a sure shot to represent Allegany County in the Class C competition again because the Braves are the only school in that class playing basketball in the county. Central looks like a repeater because the Tigers appear to be much superior to Bruce High, the other "B" school. There are three "A" schools in the county—Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill—and the last named is out in front in that race now.

Counties Participating

The following counties are participating:

DISTRICT IV—Classes B and C, Caroline, Cecil and Queen Anne's.

All games within any county to determine the county champion in each of the three classes must be completed on or before March 2.

All inter-county games within any district to determine the district champion in each of the three classes must be completed on, or before March 10.

Inter-District Dates

CLASS A:
District 3 at 5, March 9, 10 or 13. District 2 at 1, March 9, 10 or 13. Winners meet at College Park, March 17 at 8 p. m.
CLASS B:
District 4 at 5, March 9 or 10 with winner playing District 3 in one semi-final March 13 or 14. In other semi-final District 2 at 1, March 9, 10, 13 or 14. Finalists meet at College Park, March 17 at 7 p. m.
CLASS C:
District 5 at 4, March 9 or 10. Winner plays District 3 in one semi-final on Eastern Shore, March 13 or 14. In other semi-final, District 1 plays at 2, March 9, 10, 13 or 14. Finalists meet at College Park March 17 at 3:30 p. m.

To Meet Here Feb. 24

Arthur G. Ramey, of the Allegany County Board of Education, yesterday announced that Warren Evans, of Frederick, district chairman, has called a meeting of representatives of Class A, B and C schools of District No. 1, comprising Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties for Saturday, Feb. 24 at 10 a. m. at the county board of education building here. Plans will be formulated for inter-county contests at that session.

Allegany county teams won the following games last fall to earn state honors:

CLASS B: Lonaconing 5, Gransville 22 (Frostburg); Lonaconing 47, Middletown 27 (Frostburg); Lonaconing 32, Gaithersburg 27 (Takoma Park); Lonaconing 50, Elkton 37 (College Park).

Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (INS)—Some of our leading economists in the stock market have listed Sugar Ray Robinson at 3 to 1 or better to lift the middleweight crown off Jake LaMotta's corrugated dome in Chicago tomorrow night.

These figures seem to be a little out of line, but the Sock Market specialists are rarely caught napping in their estimates and so we are inclined to string along with them.

On past performances you would have to pick Robinson to win the 15-round battle. The records show that Ray has beaten Jake in four of their five previous fights while giving away as much as 16 ponuds and a beating.

The weight spread will not be more than five pounds in this Valentine number because Jake must make the 160-pound class limit and because Robinson can hardly get under 154 without losing a leg.

Let's take a look at the pros and cons. Robinson has been fighting steadily while Jake has been idling, and a busy fighter always figures to have something on a rusty one.

Robinson is faster both with feet and hands. He hits harder and more often and he is immeasurably the cleverer boxer. And he always has taken a punch about as well as Jake.

Stated coldly like this, it would appear that Robinson is a lead pipe cinch to win.

But it is not quite as simple as it appears on paper. Jake is by no means a cream puff puncher. When he is levelling—and you may be reasonably sure he will be levelling in a title fight—he can punch hard enough to bring home the bacon if he connects.

We recall one of the Robinson-LaMotta fights where Jake had Ray on the ropes and ready for the cleaners when a welcome bell came to Ray's rescue. It could happen again.

Jake has been virtually indestructible in all his fights. Oh yes, we know about the time Billy Fox, an absolute paluka, stopped him in four rounds. But we also know that was "one of those things," as they say in the fight racket.

We never met any champion who was more proud of his title than Jake is. Before he won the title, Jake was just another guy in the fight racket. Now he hears "hello champ" everywhere he goes and he loves it.

He knows how to make money and, what's more important and more unusual for a fighter, he knows how to keep it as well as Robinson. And the fight racket never has produced a better business man than Robinson.

Jake admits Robinson is a great fighter but he always has insisted that he has just the right style to beat the welter champion. Perhaps he has.

Jake undoubtedly has gone back a lot. How far only this fight can decide.

In any event, it should be a rough party.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (INS)—Autobahn, the famous road Hitler built to facilitate movement of his storm troopers, is the actual locale of a story of the same name which Dore Schary will bring to the screen in the summer.

The excitement centers around a lieutenant in the air force with a yen to travel, so he joins up with a band of smuggles and operates his nefarious black market business all over Europe. Wherever he goes the actual scenes will be photographed, which means, of course, an M-G-M company will be sent to Europe. Producer Richard Goldstone has, so far, chosen Van Johnson, and the rest of the cast will be composed mostly of young players at M-G-M, such as Marshall Thompson, Keefe Brasselle, etc.

The old Ring Lardner play, "June Moon," which George Kaufman produced on Broadway in 1929, is being remade as a musical by Paramount. Years ago it was filmed with Jack Okie in the lead, when Jack was younger and thinner.

The 1951 cast is Bill Holden, Jimmy Durante and Jan Sterling. Robert Welch has been named as producer.

The story, as I remember it, is about a starry-eyed song writer who goes to New York and becomes famous writing corny tunes.

Recently, Howard Hawks and Eddie Lasker bought the screen rights to this novel which appeared serially last year. It's the story of a captured American aviator in China, who poses as a priest in order to escape from a Chinese warlord.

This won't be the first time Faulkner has worked with Hawks. He adapted "The Big Sleep" and "To Have and Have Not" for him.

It was not my intention, nor the intention of Joan Fontaine, whom I interviewed for a magazine story, to embarrass William Dozier, her former husband. I am sorry if a false impression was created that he did not contribute to the upkeep of their home during their marriage.

Neither was there any intention on my part, through innuendo or actual statement, to say that he forced Joan to work in a motion picture and remain active while she was expecting a baby, because of financial necessity. He says his contract with Universal-International didn't expire until a year after this particular picture was made.

Marlene Dietrich is sought for the Broadway play, "Night In Samarkand," which opens in April.

Merle Oberon talked with Sir Alexander Korda over long distance and he tells her that although he has been ill for six weeks he is improving. He has had a fever every day. Although Merle and Alex are divorced, they remain excellent friends.

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, who are being named in a suit by Jimmy Durante, say it's not their fault that "That's My Boy" is the title on their picture. They are just working for Hal Wallis who titled it.

Vic Damone sang song after song at the dinner Rosalind and Henry Rogers gave honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sammis of Photoplay magazine, and Charles Saxon of Modern Screen. Then Vic took off for Palm Springs. He has a real case on 17-year-old Joan Benny, Jack's and Mary's pretty debutante daughter.

Jane Wyman, escorted by Greg Bautzer, gave us "Sunny Side Of The Street," and she is getting better all the time. She looked so pretty, too.

Kirk Douglas and Irene Wrightsman McEvoy, who never sit farther apart than they can help, were good listeners. Kirk was being urged to sing.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Safety Record Pleases Mines Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — James Boyd, director of the Bureau of Mines, has expressed satisfaction over the reduction in coal mine accidents but said that the conditions which have caused "great disasters" still exist in some mines.

Boyd's remarks were contained in the annual report by Interior Secretary Chapman to President Truman. The report is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950.

The problem of mine accidents "still demands unremitting effort," Boyd said. He added that the bureau proposes to continue its attack by a threefold method that has "proved effective" in the past:

1. Research and investigations to intensify hazards and find ways of counteracting them; 2. Education and training to spread the knowledge gained throughout the industry, and, 3. Inspections to learn the specific hazards present in individual coal mines and provide a factual basis for specific corrective recommendations.

Boyd said that it was a source of "satisfaction" that 1949 was the first full calendar year in the statistical history of American coal mining to pass without a major disaster—defined as one causing five or more fatalities.

When his report was written, in mid-August of 1950, Boyd said there had not been a major coal mine disaster since Nov. 4, 1948.

The bureau was established in 1910 after a series of coal mine explosions taking "thousands of lives," Boyd said.

He added:

"It is interesting to compare the coal-mine fatality record of 1910, when 2,821 miners lost their lives and the death rate was 2.02 per million man-hours of exposure, with that of 1949, when accidental deaths of coal miners totaled 593 and the death rate per million man-hours was 0.96."

Boyd said, however, that it is not possible to be "complacent" over the death of 593 men a year in a single industry, "although the figure represents notable safety progress."

The bureau Boyd said, intensified its studies during the year of methods of protecting miners against falls of rock and coal, the nidustry's number one hazard. At the same time, he said, the bureau prepared for a "contemplated concentration upon the problem presented by haulage hazards."

Daskal Receives $3,000 Settlement

KEYSER, W. Va. — A Mineral county Circuit Court jury awarded James Daskal $3,000 in his $15,000 damage suit against the Schriver Company, Inc., of Cumberland, Monday.

The News account yesterday incorrectly listed the amount as $300. This was one of four suits which were settled Monday as a result of the same accident last summer. The total amount involved in the settlement was $11,000 and not $8,300, as was reported yesterday.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (INS)—Autobahn, the famous road Hitler built to facilitate movement of his storm troopers, is the actual locale of a story of the same name which Dore Schary will bring to the screen in the summer.

The excitement centers around a lieutenant in the air force with a yen to travel, so he joins up with a band of smugglers and operates his nefarious black market business all over Europe. Wherever he goes the actual scenes will be photographed, which means, of course, an M-G-M company will be sent to Europe. Producer Richard Goldstone has, so far, chosen Van Johnson, and the rest of the cast will be composed mostly of young players at M-G-M, such as Marshall Thompson, Keefe Brasselle, etc.

The old Ring Lardner play, "June Moon," which George Kaufman produced on Broadway in 1929, is being remade as a musical by Paramount. Years ago it was filmed with Jack Okie in the lead, when Jack was younger and thinner.

The 1951 cast is Bill Holden, Jimmy Durante and Jan Sterling. Robert Welch has been named as producer.

The story, as I remember it, is about a starry-eyed song writer who goes to New York and becomes famous writing corny tunes.

Recently, Howard Hawks and Eddie Lasker bought the screen rights to this novel which appeared serially last year. It's the story of a captured American aviator in China, who poses as a priest in order to escape from a Chinese warlord.

This won't be the first time Faulkner has worked with Hawks. He adapted "The Big Sleep" and "To Have and Have Not" for him.

It was not my intention, nor the intention of Joan Fontaine, whom I interviewed for a magazine story, to embarrass William Dozier, her former husband. I am sorry if a false impression was created that he did not contribute to the upkeep of their home during their marriage.

Neither was there any intention on my part, through innuendo or actual statement, to say that he forced Joan to work in a motion picture and remain active while she was expecting a baby, because of financial necessity. He says his contract with Universal-International didn't expire until a year after this particular picture was made.

Merle Oberon talked with Sir Alexander Korda over long distance and he tells her that although he has been ill for six weeks he is improving. He has had a fever every day. Although Merle and Alex are divorced, they remain excellent friends.

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, who are being named in a suit by Jimmy Durante, say it's not their fault that "That's My Boy" is the title on their picture. They are just working for Hal Wallis who titled it.

Vic Damone sang song after song at the dinner Rosalind and Henry Rogers gave honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sammis of Photoplay magazine, and Charles Saxon of Modern Screen. Then Vic took off for Palm Springs. He has a real case on 17-year-old Joan Benny, Jack's and Mary's pretty debutante daughter.

Jane Wyman, escorted by Greg Bautzer, gave us "Sunny Side Of The Street," and she is getting better all the time. She looked so pretty, too.

Kirk Douglas and Irene Wrightsman McEvoy, who never sit farther apart than they can help, were good listeners. Kirk was being urged to sing.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WAR'S DESTRUCTION like this rubble in the city of Anyang greets the United Nations troops of Lt. General Matthew B. Ridgway on all sides, as they roll back into the Seoul-Inchon area. This part of the Korean battleground has changed hands four times in the seven and a half months of the U.N. struggle against the Reds. (International)

Safety Record Pleases Mines Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — James Boyd, director of the Bureau of Mines, has expressed satisfaction over the reduction in coal mine accidents but said that the conditions which have caused "great disasters" still exist in some mines.

Boyd's remarks were contained in the annual report by Interior Secretary Chapman to President Truman. The report is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950.

The problem of mine accidents "still demands unremitting effort," Boyd said. He added that the bureau proposes to continue its attack by a threefold method that has "proved effective" in the past:

1. Research and investigations to intensify hazards and find ways of counteracting them; 2. Education and training to spread the knowledge gained throughout the industry, and, 3. Inspections to learn the specific hazards present in individual coal mines and provide a factual basis for specific corrective recommendations.

Boyd said that it was a source of "satisfaction" that 1949 was the first full calendar year in the statistical history of American coal mining to pass without a major disaster—defined as one causing five or more fatalities.

When his report was written, in mid-August of 1950, Boyd said there had not been a major coal mine disaster since Nov. 4, 1948.

The bureau was established in 1910 after a series of coal mine explosions taking "thousands of lives," Boyd said.

He added:

"It is interesting to compare the coal-mine fatality record of 1910, when 2,821 miners lost their lives and the death rate was 2.02 per million man-hours of exposure, with that of 1949, when accidental deaths of coal miners totaled 593 and the death rate per million man-hours was 0.96."

Boyd said, however, that it is not possible to be "complacent" over the death of 593 men a year in a single industry, "although the figure represents notable safety progress."

The bureau Boyd said, intensified its studies during the year of methods of protecting miners against falls of rock and coal, the nidustry's number one hazard. At the same time, he said, the bureau prepared for a "contemplated concentration upon the problem presented by haulage hazards."

Daskal Receives $3,000 Settlement

KEYSER, W. Va. — A Mineral county Circuit Court jury awarded James Daskal $3,000 in his $15,000 damage suit against the Schriver Company, Inc., of Cumberland, Monday.

The News account yesterday incorrectly listed the amount as $300. This was one of four suits which were settled Monday as a result of the same accident last summer. The total amount involved in the settlement was $11,000 and not $8,300, as was reported yesterday.

Auroral "curtains" are the strangest and most impressive of all the forms of northern and southern lights.

STAG LINES

By BERT BACHARACH

The Ties That Bind

Hearts and Cravats

VALENTINE MEMO: Leave this paragraph where your best girl will see it. . . . For February 14 Ed Herlihy of NBC fame is given a gift tie package by his wife (left). It contains a cravat for sportswear, one for dress and one for business. . . . Another timely item—the "Ace of Hearts" lovers-knot tie clasp and cuff links in a special package.

Dress Tips: You can get powder off your shirt by rubbing lightly with toilet water. . . . In this weather, carry an extra handkerchief in your overcoat pocket to avoid doing a strip tease when you need one.

Handyman: When gluing pieces of wood together, press a few shreds of steel wool between them. They prevent slipping and make a better bond. . . . If shoe polish is dried out, you can soften it with a few drops of turpentine.

Progress: Here's another report on the "Stag Lines" campaign to keep men's hats on in elevators. A big store reprinted in three daily papers the whole paragraph from our column—and declared itself all for the idea.

Packing: Next time you travel, pack ties in a magazine. First, fold ties over center pages (left). Then close magazine (right) and pack flat. Protected thus, ties will not get creased.

Food and Drink: Try this for dessert some time: Sliced orange, grapefruit and pineapple served in a bowl of hot champagne or sparkling Burgundy. . . . The Flying Saucer cocktail: One-third aquavit, two-thirds vodka and a dash of Cointreau. Serve no more than two to a guest!

Sensational

Hair Line: Balladeer Burl Ives, who wears one, predicts beards'll come back in style. Claims the ladies like 'em. . . . We look for new popularity for crew haircuts. Most prominent exponent at the moment is the sensational juvenile in "Call Me Madam"—Russell Nype (right). Fellows getting into uniform go for this style naturally.

Odd Items: Comedian Morey Amsterdam has his change-pockets lined with chamois to prevent wear and tear. . . . Mrs. Arthur Murray reports that the gals will welcome your bow ties—they're smart on blouses. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to Eddie Cantor. Honored for his devotion to humanitarian causes, he said, "I'm only trying to repay my debt to America for what it has done for me. I know I'll never repay it, but I'll keep on trying."

"The Authority on Authorities"

HOW IS YOUR PARTNER?

CERTAIN types of bids are smart opposite experienced, sound partners, but highly dangerous opposite one who lacks understanding. If you make one of them when you don't know too much about the chap across the table, you chance getting your side into a barrel of trouble. That applies with considerable force to entering the auction with a high suit bid after you had passed a couple of times. A partner who had been through the wars would know you had nothing except your long suit in a weak hand and would pass regardless of what he had. A neophyte, however, might take you out to his own suit and subject the side to heavy punishment.

West said after the deal that he was going to pass the 3-Hearts if South had passed, and as the post mortem proceeded the foursome agreed that this contract probably would have been set exactly one trick, costing North and South 50 points. As it was, the 4-Hearts doubled got beaten two tricks, giving East and West 300 points.

North blamed South for the trouble, saying he never should have made that bid of 4-Clubs. South, a not very experienced competitor, explained that he had no fit for his partner's suit, with a bit of something in the two unbid black suits, so that he thought this might uncover a somewhat better chance for the side. North explained then that, after his own preceding two passes, the kind of bid he made at the level of three could not have been on anything except a long suit in a weak hand. South saw the logic of that, though the idea was a bit new to him, but he still felt there was a chance of a club or spade fit which might work out better.

West broke in then by advising South never to bid after such a sequence, but leave it all to North. The latter, however, was to blame for bidding that way without knowing he had a good partner. Incidentally, 4-Clubs, if left in, would have been murdered.

A Column for Men

STAG LINES

By BERT BACHARACH

Hearts and Cravats

VALENTINE MEMO: Leave this paragraph where your best girl will see it. . . . For February 14 Ed Herlihy of NBC fame is given a gift tie package by his wife (left). It contains a cravat for sportswear, one for dress and one for business. . . . Another timely item—the "Ace of Hearts" lovers-knot tie clasp and cuff links in a special package.

Dress Tips: You can get powder off your shirt by rubbing lightly with toilet water. . . . In this weather, carry an extra handkerchief in your overcoat pocket to avoid doing a strip tease when you need one.

Handyman: When gluing pieces of wood together, press a few shreds of steel wool between them. They prevent slipping and make a better bond. . . . If shoe polish is dried out, you can soften it with a few drops of turpentine.

Progress: Here's another report on the "Stag Lines" campaign to keep men's hats on in elevators. A big store reprinted in three daily papers the whole paragraph from our column—and declared itself all for the idea.

Packing: Next time you travel, pack ties in a magazine. First, fold ties over center pages (left). Then close magazine (right) and pack flat. Protected thus, ties will not get creased.

Food and Drink: Try this for dessert some time: Sliced orange, grapefruit and pineapple served in a bowl of hot champagne or sparkling Burgundy. . . . The Flying Saucer cocktail: One-third aquavit, two-thirds vodka and a dash of Cointreau. Serve no more than two to a guest!

Sensational

Hair Line: Balladeer Burl Ives, who wears one, predicts beards'll come back in style. Claims the ladies like 'em. . . . We look for new popularity for crew haircuts. Most prominent exponent at the moment is the sensational juvenile in "Call Me Madam"—Russell Nype (right). Fellows getting into uniform go for this style naturally.

Odd Items: Comedian Morey Amsterdam has his change-pockets lined with chamois to prevent wear and tear. . . . Mrs. Arthur Murray reports that the gals will welcome your bow ties—they're smart on blouses. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to Eddie Cantor. Honored for his devotion to humanitarian causes, he said, "I'm only trying to repay my debt to America for what it has done for me. I know I'll never repay it, but I'll keep on trying."

"The Authority on Authorities"

HOW IS YOUR PARTNER?

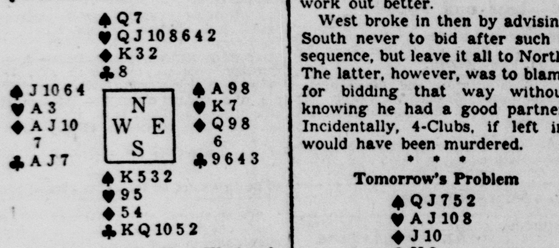
CERTAIN types of bids are smart opposite experienced, sound partners, but highly dangerous opposite one who lacks understanding. If you make one of them when you don't know too much about the chap across the table, you chance getting your side into a barrel of trouble. That applies with considerable force to entering the auction with a high suit bid after you had passed a couple of times. A partner who had been through the wars would know you had nothing except your long suit in a weak hand and would pass regardless of what he had. A neophyte, however, might take you out to his own suit and subject the side to heavy punishment.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | Pass | 1 ♦ |
| Pass | 2 ♦ | Pass | 2 NT |
| 3 ♥ | Pass | 4 ♣ | Dbl |
| 4 ♥ | Dbl | | |

West said after the deal that he was going to pass the 3-Hearts if South had passed, and as the post mortem proceeded the foursome agreed that this contract probably would have been set exactly one trick, costing North and South 50 points. As it was, the 4-Hearts doubled got beaten two tricks, giving East and West 300 points.

North blamed South for the trouble, saying he never should have made that bid of 4-Clubs. South, a not very experienced competitor, explained that he had no fit for his partner's suit, with a bit of something in the two unbid black suits, so that he thought this might uncover a somewhat better chance for the side. North explained then that, after his own preceding two passes, the kind of bid he made at the level of three could not have been on anything except a long suit in a weak hand. South saw the logic of that, though the idea was a bit new to him, but he still felt there was a chance of a club or spade fit which might work out better.

West broke in then by advising South never to bid after such a sequence, but leave it all to North. The latter, however, was to blame for bidding that way without knowing he had a good partner. Incidentally, 4-Clubs, if left in, would have been murdered.

Council Studies Baltimore Plan For Tax Money

Estimates $158,000 Can Be Realized

Mayor and City Council took into consideration last night a rough draft pattern for special taxing powers for the city similar to those given to Baltimore County and Baltimore City by act of state legislation.

The special session was held in the Mayor's office at City Hall as council discussed plans to hike the city's revenue.

Economy measures now being taken by the council are expected to save up to $80,000 toward the increased costs of city government. Salary raises have upped costs some $30,000 and other disbursements have used the city treasury's surplus of $150,000.

Populations Compared

In an effort to keep from raising property taxes the council studied the proposed draft and revenues derived by Baltimore County's taxes, based on the population of the county as compared to Cumberland's population.

Baltimore County has a population of 155,825 and obtained monies from taxes on tobacco, liquor, electric, amusement devices and telephones.

According to figures garnered by the city auditor and the mayor during trips to Baltimore the county collected $311,601.62 on tobacco, $139,744.16 on liquor, $24,675.00 on amusement devices, $300,888.08 on electric, and $40,067.10 on telephones.

Anticipate $158,000

With Cumberland's population being approximately one-fourth of Baltimore County the council estimated it could derive $158,000 in taxes from these same sources plus a five per cent occupancy tax on hotels on rooms over $2.

Broken down, the council estimated approximately $50,000 on tobacco, $25,000 on liquor, $6,000 on amusement devices such as claw machines, pinball machines, shuffleboards, etc., $55,000 on gas and electricity, $10,000 on a five per cent commercial consumer telephone tax, and $12,000 on the hotel tax.

The council will decide on the exact bill for the enabling tax powers it will seek to have passed by the state legislature during the present session, but gave indication last night it would like all the included, even if all the taxing powers are not applied.

Legion Seeks Aid For Korean Vets

Legionnaires who attended the meeting of the Fort Cumberland Post 13 last night unanimously approved a proposal to aid discharged veterans of the Korean conflict.

It went on record that all separation centers be notified to the effect that returning servicemen be given as thorough a physical examination upon discharge as they received upon induction.

Also approved was the motions that veterans should be given full information by the centers concerning their rights upon returning to civilian life.

Robert Wilson, membership committee chairman reported that 810 members have been signed up for the current year. The drive has been going on since last October.

The Post Activities Committee headed by Past Commander Howard Spiker is arranging for the Legion Birthday Party, an annual event, which will be held Thursday evening March 15.

Quick Thaw Brings Numerous Complaints

City engineering office and warehouse employes received almost 100 phone calls yesterday as residents complained of mud and travel hazards on the city's unpaved alleys and streets during the balmy weather which has prevailed the past few days.

The pleasant weather has caused a quick thaw which has made passage of automobiles on some streets impossible because of the mud. Most of the complaints were from residents whose cars were stuck and unable to move. Only one call came from a flood project area, engineering employes said.

Second Guesser Column Starts In News Friday

A new feature column "The Old Second Guesser," by John Wheeler, will start Friday as a regular three-times-a-week feature in The Cumberland News.

Mr. Wheeler is not exactly a newcomer to readers of the News since he substituted for Billy Rose when the latter took a 'round the world cruise last summer before deciding to give up his Pitching Horseshoes column.

Loaded with a fund of anecdotes of human interest and humorous stories gathered over many years in the newspaper and syndicate business, Mr. Wheeler's "The Old Second Guesser" is just about as entertaining and easy to read as any column you could hope to find.

Look for it Friday and start reading it regularly every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. You're bound to like it.

Council Takes No Action On Owens Contract

Hitchcock Seeks Aide's Retention

No action was taken at a special executive session of the Mayor and City Council last night on the disposition of the deputy smoke inspector's one-year contract which expired February 9.

The decision on the renewal of Charles Owens' $250 a month contract as assistant to George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, will be brought up at a future council meeting.

Reason for split of opinions was voiced in part by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, who said:

"I feel that in view of the fact there has been a heavy increase in taxes, and the heavy burden of the emergency, perhaps some of the things not quite as essential for operation of the city government could be dispensed with for the duration."

The commissioner asserted he "did not want to put anybody out of work" but at the same time the matter would bear investigating since it "would mean a saving of about $3,000 and help ease the burden on tax payers during the emergency."

Buchholtz did offer an alternative plan. He said he would be agreeable to renewing Owens' contract until the end of the fiscal year, June 30, since "money has already been appropriated for it." After that date, however, Buchholtz indicated he would vote against renewal.

Mayor Post said that Hitchcock favored the retention of Owens in his present capacity. He has been employed by the city about two years.

Interstate Commission Will Hold Meeting

The meeting will feature the work of the advisory Land Committee, which is planning a demonstration of small watershed development, in cooperation with the Monocacy River Watershed Council.

Weather

Area residents braced themselves for the expected sleet and snow predicted for this afternoon and tonight although little indication of the promised cold front was evident last night. Constitution Park weather station reports a high of 65 and a low of 36 yesterday. It was 55 last night at 10 o'clock. Today is to be colder with occasional rain turning to sleet tonight in this section.

Maryland's Natural Beauty Incentive To Tourist Trade

Tourists inquiring about vacationing in Maryland increased 131 per cent during the 1950 fiscal year according to the annual report of the Maryland Department of Information.

Despite this increase, however, John P. Trimmer, director, observed: "One thing is plain: Maryland is failing to get its share of the tourist and vacation trade because funds are too small to do the necessary jobs of promotion."

An increase of 38 per cent in total inquires received by the department was reported. Inquires totaled 8,228 asking for 13,805 different items of information.

The report said the total was no doubt lessened by the fact that Maryland materials were distributed directly to the schools.

During the year the department emphasized tourist and vacation attractions in Maryland including salt water fishing. In addition, it made available to Marylanders many pamphlets and folders to help them discover and enjoy recreation offered by the state.

In discussing the Maryland tourist trade, Trimmer estimated its worth at $50,000,000. Even allowing for error, such as economic value is well ahead of fisheries, forestry, mining and quarrying as a Maryland industry.

"This substantial trade is obtained with a comparatively small amount of advertising and promotion. All the advertising is done privately, and the promotion is done by the state as well as private local groups.

"That the state gets a fair share of the tourist-vacation trade is not due to these efforts. It is due to the marvelous natural advantages that make Maryland one of the finest tourist and vacation lands in the nation. These advantages are the sound basis for our promotion slogan, American in Miniature."

The department observed that sound promotion programs pay dividends, citing the experience of Missouri and Connecticut. In Missouri for every dollar spent on promotion the state business benefited to the tune of $320. In Connecticut the income per dollar spent was $118.

If Maryland promotion were similarly operated, the report said, and took in only $100 for each dollar invested, we would receive approximately $2 in sales tax revenues. This would be in addition to the powerful stimulant of the tourist dollar for the economic life of our state.

Trimmer added: "A sound promotion program including advertising, publicity and servicing inquires and a survey to check results could mean millions of dollars to Maryland.

Strike-Affected Industries Here Nearing Normal

Railroads Report Usual Activity Now

Although all four of Cumberland's principal employers were affected by the recent railroad switchmen's strike in varying degrees, employment at all four is approaching normal, a check last night indicated.

Chester F. Williams, Cumberland Division superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said last night that very few of the B&O laborers here were laid off as a result of the switchmen's strike which sharply curtailed the flow of freight traffic through here.

"Ony about two or three crews had to be laid off," Williams said. "Last weekend the backlog of freight from the western terminals of Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati came through here boosting the freight traffic much above normal, keeping our crews mighty busy, but conditions are just about normal now," he concluded.

Freight Traffic Dropped

Joseph M. Miller, division superintendent here for the Western Maryland Railroad, stated that his railroad did not lay off any of its force although at the peak of the switchmen's work stoppage the flow of freight was down to about half of normal.

"There was no labor trouble on the Western Maryland, but we received comparatively little freight from connecting railroad, especially those shipping out of Chicago," Miller added. The freight traffic volume is just about normal now he concluded.

Meanwhile, the Celanese plant began increasing its production Monday although the effect of the strike probably will be felt there for a few weeks.

Kelly - Springfield Tire Company will resume all production today.

Harrison C. Givens, Jr., Amcelle plant manager, said the CA Department will not reach full production before Monday and it will be "a few weeks before we reach normal production in spinning."

Furloughs at Amcelle because of the strike had cut production about 40 per cent.

The first increase in production in the CA Department occurred Monday. Another increase is slated today and another tomorrow, Givens said. The department should be at full capacity Monday, Givens added.

Spinning will not get underway until next week, Givens said, in estimating that it will take a few weeks to approach normal.

At the Kelly plant, which curtailed production last Friday because of a shortage of materials, workers have been notified to report today at 7 a. m., Edmund S. Burke, president, said.

Cassidy Child Killed By Auto

DAVIS, W. Va.—Richard David Cassidy, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cassidy, Smithtown, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon when he darted from behind a parked car into the path of another auto in front of his home.

Born December 7, 1945, at Kempton, the child is survived by his parents, one sister, Carol Jean, at home; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Okey Smith, Dry Fork; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ira Cassidy, Negy Church, Md.

The body is being brought to Davis. A funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at Maple Springs Church at Eglon. Rev. Daniel Spaid, pastor of Eglon Brethern Church, will officiate and interment will be in Eglon Cemetery.

No Civil Service Hearing Set For Policemen

Suspended Men Must Make Request

The Civil Service Commission announced last night no date has been set for a hearing for three suspended probationary policemen.

H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, said no action will be taken until the men involved ask for a hearing.

The men, Officers Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller, have a total of 14 months service with the department.

They were suspended indefinitely by the department on January 30 for "conduct unbecoming to an officer".

Commissioner Long announced over the weekend that he is asking the Civil Service Board to grant a hearing "in fairness" to the officers.

The trio was suspended from the force following an altercation at Midway Inn on McMullen Highway early January 28. They were off duty at the time and out of full uniform.

As a result of the fracas, Frankfort was handed a 30-day jail sentence last week in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of assaulting Willim W. Schumaker, 31, of 322 Bond Street. He filed notice of an appeal and was freed under $200 bond.

Browning and Miller were not named in the warrant charging Frankfort with assault.

Spiker said the Civil Service Board hearing will be public.

Unemployment Here Levels Off

Unemployment in Allegany County is leveling off with only minor fluctuations during the past six months, according to a report issued by Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the State Department of Employment Security yesterday.

"One factor in the leveling off of the labor market is the number of workers accepting positions with firms in Baltimore and Washington. The local office has sent between 100 and 125 to those two cities in the last few months," stated Carroll.

Unemployment claims paid in Allegany County during 1950 totaled $1,595,000 of which $51,686 was paid to veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act. This is about 75 per cent less than in 1949, when claim payments were $4,736,000.

More than half of the entire amount was paid during the first three months of the benefit year with $869,000 going to claimants. This was due to the fact that many persons who worked in 1949 did not work enough weeks to qualify them for compensation checks throughout 1950.

Johnson To Attend Foresters' Meeting

District Forester William H. Johnson will be in Baltimore Friday and Saturday attending the annual winter meeting of the Allegheny Section of the Society of American Foresters in the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Hearts, Darts And Flowers Are Valentine Day Symbols

Today is St. Valentine's Day. This is the occasion when we recall memories of sending "sentimental sayings" to the little pig-tailed girl who sat in the desk in front of us or the shy little boy across the aisle.

It is the anniversary of "hearts and darts and pretty flowers." Yes, one's heart fluttered just a beat or two quicker as he handed the "note of everlasting love and devotion" to the little girl whose books he'd most rather carry home.

Just who St. Valentine was or when he lived, nobody seems to know, yet lovers of many lands have honored his memory for more than 17 centuries.

According to tradition prevalent throughout Europe, "birds chose their mates on Saint Valentine's Day." Legend traces the origin of choosing Valentines to early Roman times when, at the annual feast of Februato Juno, February 13, lads drew from urns girls names. By this means, a youth became the faithful partner for the year of the maiden whose name he drew.

As time went on, sentimental verses were exchanged. Years ago, in the days of the goose quill, there began the custom of composing Valentines. This practice has now developed into world wide usage.

Yet, despite the changes that have taken place, certain symbols persist such as the hearts, flowers and cupids. Little changes are noted from original refrains such as "I am thine, please be mine."

Refined elegance pervaded the best of the first lithographed love notes. Along with the traditional flowers and doves, they displayed demure maids, with church spires in the distance. Blushing, gently-faced creatures they were, in full skirts and bonnets, often clinging to frock-coated beaus, or shyly pining for some one absent.

But in this modern age—a new trend has developed. The "comic" valentine, sharp in caricature and unkind in humor, has seeped into our society. They lampoon "disagreeable old maids," the skinny, the fat, the conceited the smug and the dandified, mincing no words.

Yes, today is the anniversary of St. Valentine and across the nation and around the world, each in his own language and custom will say the sentimental words "I Love You."

North End Group May Incorporate

Plans are underway to get the North End Playground Association incorporated President Ralph Knieriem announced last night.

A petition has been formulated and more than 200 residents are expected to sign. Thus far, 160 have signed and the trend favors complete approval, he said.

Knieriem said that the petition will be in the hands of two local attorneys today and will then be sent to Annapolis for issuance of the charter.

Following incorporation, when it will be known as The North End Playground Association, a membership drive will be conducted, Knieriem explained.

Conlon To Head Division In Red Cross Drive

Advance Gifts Drive Will Begin Monday

Thomas F. Conlon, Cumberland postmaster, has accepted the position of chairman of the Clubs and Organizations Division of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter Campaign for 1951, William C. Walsh, general campaign chairman, announced last night.

Conlon has been active in Red Cross campaign work in Cumberland for more than a decade, having served as a worker in many of the divisions and as a member of the Advance Gifts Committee in the 1950 drive.

He said last night that special letters will be mailed this week to approximately 120 clubs and organizations in Cumberland asking for their participation in the campaign which will get underway on Monday, March 5, with a goal of $26,796.

The Advance Gifts Committee will start two weeks earlier, on Monday, February 19.

During World War II, Conlon frequently worked with local Red Cross staff assistants in his capacity as a member of the Maryland Veterans Commission and as service officer for Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

"Many times I have called on the local Red Cross chapter for help for service men and their families," Conlon recalled last night, "and the Red Cross cooperated and gave valuable assistance in every instance."

"It would be a wonderful thing if all the people of Cumberland who will be asked to contribute to the 1921 Red Cross campaign would ask for the testimony of men who served in the armed forces as to the value of the Red Cross." Conlon added:

"We who have worked closely with the Red Cross in times of war and peace, and now in a state of national emergency, know how helpful they are and how often they can accomplish seemingly impossible tasks when asked to perform them for a service man or his family. We expect to call on them with increasing frequency in time to come as the size of our armed forces steadily grows larger, and I want to urge the people of Cumberland and Allegany County to provide the Red Cross this year with the funds necessary to carry on their work."

Value Of Building Permits Increase

The value of building permits issued in Cumberland last month was more than three times higher than for the same period last year. Permits totaling $96,760 were issued in January, compared to $31,710 for January, 1950.

House Approves Resolutions For Industries Here

Driscoll Introduces Pay Hike Proposal

House Resolutions calling for the establishment of defense industries and an Army quartermaster laboratory in this city were passed yesterday.

Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, said the measures included House Joint Resolution 15, sponsored by See and Estel C. Kelley, which requests the Office of Defense Mobilization to establish defense industries in the City of Cumberland.

The second, HR 21, introduced by the Allegany County Delegation, requests that the proposed Quartermaster Research Laboratory be located in Cumberland.

A third, introduced by Delegate See, asks the Federal Government to give full consideration to Cumberland as a site of government offices if plans to disperse offices is carried out.

Introduced in the House yesterday by Delegate Driscoll was House Bill 256, to set the minimum pay of judges and clerks of elections in Allegany County at $1 an hour. It was referred to the Ways and Means committee.

In brief, it would provide for $8 for the first eight hours of work and $1 an hour after that. The present law provides for $10 for the first 12 hours of work and 60 cents an hour after that time.

The Delegation announced that HB 218, introduced by the Delegation, is being held out for a week for further study.

The bill would enable the City of Cumberland to issue $1,500,000 of revenue bonds for the establishment of a sewage disposal system here.

Delegate See said the amount of money involved in the bill is too great to allow hurried consideration.

Greene Street Curve Concerns City Council

Long Studies Plan For Warning Light

Within the last several weeks, for instance, one automobile hopped the curb and knocked over one of the brick posts at the east end of the park.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, who had been investigating the possibility of installing a guard rail along the south side of Greene Street at the park, told her male associates on City Council Monday nigh tthat this plan has been ruled out.

The reason is that the third phase of Cumberland's flood control project includes the changing of the grade on Greene Street near the park. Because this may be done within the next year or so, she considers it not feasible to install the rails.

As a result, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long now is investigating the possibility of having warning lights or reflectors placed along Greene Street. He probably will submit a report at one of the council meetings within the next few weeks.

Estimates $158,000 Can Be Realized

Mayor and City Council took into consideration last night a rough draft pattern for special taxing powers for the city similar to those given to Baltimore County and Baltimore City by act of state legislation.

The special session was held in the Mayor's office at City Hall as council discussed plans to hike the city's revenue.

Economy measures now being taken by the council are expected to save up to $80,000 toward the increased costs of city government. Salary raises have upped costs some $30,000 and other disbursements have used the city treasury's surplus of $150,000.

Populations Compared

In an effort to keep from raising property taxes the council studied the proposed draft and revenues derived by Baltimore County's taxes, based on the population of the county as compared to Cumberland's population.

Baltimore County has a population of 155,825 and obtained monies from taxes on tobacco, liquor, electric, amusement devices and telephones.

According to figures garnered by the city auditor and the mayor during trips to Baltimore the county collected $311,601.62 on tobacco, $139,744.16 on liquor, $24,675.00 on amusement devices, $300,888.08 on electric, and $40,067.10 on telephones.

Anticipate $158,000

With Cumberland's population being approximately one-fourth of Baltimore County the council estimated it could derive $158,000 in taxes from these same sources plus a five per cent occupancy tax on hotels on rooms over $2.

Broken down, the council estimated approximately $50,000 on tobacco, $25,000 on liquor, $6,000 on amusement devices such as claw machines, pinball machines, shuffleboards, etc., $55,000 on gas and electricity, $10,000 on a five per cent commercial consumer telephone tax, and $12,000 on the hotel tax.

The council will decide on the exact bill for the enabling tax powers it will seek to have passed by the state legislature during the present session, but gave indication last night it would like all the included, even if all the taxing powers are not applied.

Also approved was the motions that veterans should be given full information by the centers concerning their rights upon returning to civilian life.

The Post Activities Committee headed by Past Commander Howard Spiker is arranging for the Legion Birthday Party, an annual event, which will be held Thursday evening March 15.

Quick Thaw Brings Numerous Complaints

City engineering office and warehouse employes received almost 100 phone calls yesterday as residents complained of mud and travel hazards on the city's unpaved alleys and streets during the balmy weather which has prevailed the past few days.

The pleasant weather has caused a quick thaw which has made passage of automobiles on some streets impossible because of the mud. Most of the complaints were from residents whose cars were stuck and unable to move. Only one call came from a flood project area, engineering employes said.

Council Takes No Action On Owens Contract

Hitchcock Seeks Aide's Retention

No action was taken at a special executive session of the Mayor and City Council last night on the disposition of the deputy smoke inspector's one-year contract which expired February 9.

The decision on the renewal of Charles Owens' $250 a month contract as assistant to George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, will be brought up at a future council meeting.

Reason for split of opinions was voiced in part by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, who said:

"I feel that in view of the fact there has been a heavy increase in taxes, and the heavy burden of the emergency, perhaps some of the things not quite as essential for operation of the city government could be dispensed with for the duration."

The commissioner asserted he "did not want to put anybody out of work" but at the same time the matter would bear investigating since it "would mean a saving of about $3,000 and help ease the burden on tax payers during the emergency."

Buchholtz did offer an alternative plan. He said he would be agreeable to renewing Owens' contract until the end of the fiscal year, June 30, since "money has already been appropriated for it." After that date, however, Buchholtz indicated he would vote against renewal.

Mayor Post said that Hitchcock favored the retention of Owens in his present capacity. He has been employed by the city about two years.

Maryland's Natural Beauty Incentive To Tourist Trade

Tourists inquiring about vacationing in Maryland increased 131 per cent during the 1950 fiscal year according to the annual report of the Maryland Department of Information.

Despite this increase, however, John P. Trimmer, director, observed: "One thing is plain: Maryland is failing to get its share of the tourist and vacation trade because funds are too small to do the necessary jobs of promotion."

An increase of 38 per cent in total inquires received by the department was reported. Inquires totaled 8,228 asking for 13,805 different items of information.

The report said the total was no doubt lessened by the fact that Maryland materials were distributed directly to the schools.

During the year the department emphasized tourist and vacation attractions in Maryland including salt water fishing. In addition, it made available to Marylanders many pamphlets and folders to help them discover and enjoy recreation offered by the state.

In discussing the Maryland tourist trade, Trimmer estimated its worth at $50,000,000. Even allowing for error, such as economic value is well ahead of fisheries, forestry, mining and quarrying as a Maryland industry.

"This substantial trade is obtained with a comparatively small amount of advertising and promotion. All the advertising is done privately, and the promotion is done by the state as well as private local groups.

"That the state gets a fair share of the tourist-vacation trade is not due to these efforts. It is due to the marvelous natural advantages that make Maryland one of the finest tourist and vacation lands in the nation. These advantages are the sound basis for our promotion slogan, American in Miniature."

The department observed that sound promotion programs pay dividends, citing the experience of Missouri and Connecticut. In Missouri for every dollar spent on promotion the state business benefited to the tune of $320. In Connecticut the income per dollar spent was $118.

If Maryland promotion were similarly operated, the report said, and took in only $100 for each dollar invested, we would receive approximately $2 in sales tax revenues. This would be in addition to the powerful stimulant of the tourist dollar for the economic life of our state.

Trimmer added: "A sound promotion program including advertising, publicity and servicing inquires and a survey to check results could mean millions of dollars to Maryland.

Strike-Affected Industries Here Nearing Normal

Railroads Report Usual Activity Now

Although all four of Cumberland's principal employers were affected by the recent railroad switchmen's strike in varying degrees, employment at all four is approaching normal, a check last night indicated.

Chester F. Williams, Cumberland Division superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said last night that very few of the B&O laborers here were laid off as a result of the switchmen's strike which sharply curtailed the flow of freight traffic through here.

"Ony about two or three crews had to be laid off," Williams said. "Last weekend the backlog of freight from the western terminals of Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati came through here boosting the freight traffic much above normal, keeping our crews mighty busy, but conditions are just about normal now," he concluded.

Freight Traffic Dropped

Joseph M. Miller, division superintendent here for the Western Maryland Railroad, stated that his railroad did not lay off any of its force although at the peak of the switchmen's work stoppage the flow of freight was down to about half of normal.

"There was no labor trouble on the Western Maryland, but we received comparatively little freight from connecting railroad, especially those shipping out of Chicago," Miller added. The freight traffic volume is just about normal now he concluded.

Meanwhile, the Celanese plant began increasing its production Monday although the effect of the strike probably will be felt there for a few weeks.

Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will resume all production today.

Harrison C. Givens, Jr., Amcelle plant manager, said the CA Department will not reach full production before Monday and it will be "a few weeks before we reach normal production in spinning."

Furloughs at Amcelle because of the strike had cut production about 40 per cent.

The first increase in production in the CA Department occurred Monday. Another increase is slated today and another tomorrow, Givens said. The department should be at full capacity Monday, Givens added.

Spinning will not get underway until next week, Givens said, in estimating that it will take a few weeks to approach normal.

At the Kelly plant, which curtailed production last Friday because of a shortage of materials, workers have been notified to report today at 7 a. m., Edmund S. Burke, president, said.

No Civil Service Hearing Set For Policemen

Suspended Men Must Make Request

The Civil Service Commission announced last night no date has been set for a hearing for three suspended probationary policemen.

H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, said no action will be taken until the men involved ask for a hearing.

The men, Officers Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller, have a total of 14 months service with the department.

They were suspended indefinitely by the department on January 30 for "conduct unbecoming to an officer".

Commissioner Long announced over the weekend that he is asking the Civil Service Board to grant a hearing "in fairness" to the officers.

The trio was suspended from the force following an altercation at Midway Inn on McMullen Highway early January 28. They were off duty at the time and out of full uniform.

As a result of the fracas, Frankfort was handed a 30-day jail sentence last week in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of assaulting Willim W. Schumaker, 31, of 322 Bond Street. He filed notice of an appeal and was freed under $200 bond.

Browning and Miller were not named in the warrant charging Frankfort with assault.

Spiker said the Civil Service Board hearing will be public.

Unemployment Here Levels Off

Unemployment in Allegany County is leveling off with only minor fluctuations during the past six months, according to a report issued by Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the State Department of Employment Security yesterday.

"One factor in the leveling off of the labor market is the number of workers accepting positions with firms in Baltimore and Washington. The local office has sent between 100 and 125 to those two cities in the last few months," stated Carroll.

Unemployment claims paid in Allegany County during 1950 totaled $1,595,000 of which $51,686 was paid to veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act. This is about 75 per cent less than in 1949, when claim payments were $4,736,000.

More than half of the entire amount was paid during the first three months of the benefit year with $869,000 going to claimants. This was due to the fact that many persons who worked in 1949 did not work enough weeks to qualify them for compensation checks throughout 1950.

Hearts, Darts And Flowers Are Valentine Day Symbols

Today is St. Valentine's Day. This is the occasion when we recall memories of sending "sentimental sayings" to the little pig-tailed girl who sat in the desk in front of us or the shy little boy across the aisle.

It is the anniversary of "hearts and darts and pretty flowers." Yes, one's heart fluttered just a beat or two quicker as he handed the "note of everlasting love and devotion" to the little girl whose books he'd most rather carry home.

Just who St. Valentine was or when he lived, nobody seems to know, yet lovers of many lands have honored his memory for more than 17 centuries.

According to tradition prevalent throughout Europe, "birds chose their mates on Saint Valentine's Day." Legend traces the origin of choosing Valentines to early Roman times when, at the annual feast of Februato Juno, February 13, lads drew from urns girls names. By this means, a youth became the faithful partner for the year of the maiden whose name he drew.

As time went on, sentimental verses were exchanged. Years ago, in the days of the goose quill, there began the custom of composing Valentines. This practice has now developed into world wide usage.

Yet, despite the changes that have taken place, certain symbols persist such as the hearts, flowers and cupids. Little changes are noted from original refrains such as "I am thine, please be mine."

Refined elegance pervaded the best of the first lithographed love notes. Along with the traditional flowers and doves, they displayed demure maids, with church spires in the distance. Blushing, gently-faced creatures they were, in full skirts and bonnets, often clinging to frock-coated beaus, or shyly pining for some one absent.

But in this modern age—a new trend has developed. The "comic" valentine, sharp in caricature and unkind in humor, has seeped into our society. They lampoon "disagreeable old maids," the skinny, the fat, the conceited the smug and the dandified, mincing no words.

Yes, today is the anniversary of St. Valentine and across the nation and around the world, each in his own language and custom will say the sentimental words "I Love You."

Advance Gifts Drive Will Begin Monday

Thomas F. Conlon, Cumberland postmaster, has accepted the position of chairman of the Clubs and Organizations Division of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter Campaign for 1951, William C. Walsh, general campaign chairman, announced last night.

Conlon has been active in Red Cross campaign work in Cumberland for more than a decade, having served as a worker in many of the divisions and as a member of the Advance Gifts Committee in the 1950 drive.

He said last night that special letters will be mailed this week to approximately 120 clubs and organizations in Cumberland asking for their participation in the campaign which will get underway on Monday, March 5, with a goal of $26,796.

The Advance Gifts Committee will start two weeks earlier, on Monday, February 19.

During World War II, Conlon frequently worked with local Red Cross staff assistants in his capacity as a member of the Maryland Veterans Commission and as service officer for Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

"Many times I have called on the local Red Cross chapter for help for service men and their families," Conlon recalled last night, "and the Red Cross cooperated and gave valuable assistance in every instance."

"It would be a wonderful thing if all the people of Cumberland who will be asked to contribute to the 1921 Red Cross campaign would ask for the testimony of men who served in the armed forces as to the value of the Red Cross." Conlon added:

"We who have worked closely with the Red Cross in times of war and peace, and now in a state of national emergency, know how helpful they are and how often they can accomplish seemingly impossible tasks when asked to perform them for a service man or his family. We expect to call on them with increasing frequency in time to come as the size of our armed forces steadily grows larger, and I want to urge the people of Cumberland and Allegany County to provide the Red Cross this year with the funds necessary to carry on their work."

House Approves Resolutions For Industries Here

Driscoll Introduces Pay Hike Proposal

House Resolutions calling for the establishment of defense industries and an Army quartermaster laboratory in this city were passed yesterday.

Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, said the measures included House Joint Resolution 15, sponsored by See and Estel C. Kelley, which requests the Office of Defense Mobilization to establish defense industries in the City of Cumberland.

The second, HR 21, introduced by the Allegany County Delegation, requests that the proposed Quartermaster Research Laboratory be located in Cumberland.

A third, introduced by Delegate See, asks the Federal Government to give full consideration to Cumberland as a site of government offices if plans to disperse offices is carried out.

Introduced in the House yesterday by Delegate Driscoll was House Bill 256, to set the minimum pay of judges and clerks of elections in Allegany County at $1 an hour. It was referred to the Ways and Means committee.

In brief, it would provide for $2 for the first eight hours of work and $1 an hour after that. The present law provides for $10 for the first 12 hours of work and 60 cents an hour after that time.

The Delegation announced that HB 218, introduced by the Delegation, is being held out for a week for further study.

The bill would enable the City of Cumberland to issue $1,500,000 of revenue bonds for the establishment of a sewage disposal system here.

Delegate See said the amount of money involved in the bill is too great to allow hurried consideration.

Greene Street Curve Concerns City Council

Long Studies Plan For Warning Light

Within the last several weeks, for instance, one automobile hopped the curb and knocked over one of the brick posts at the east end of the park.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, who had been investigating the possibility of installing a guard rail along the south side of Greene Street at the park, told her male associates on City Council Monday nigh tthat this plan has been ruled out.

The reason is that the third phase of Cumberland's flood control project includes the changing of the grade on Greene Street near the park. Because this may be done within the next year or so, she considers it not feasible to install the rails.

As a result, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long now is investigating the possibility of having warning lights or reflectors placed along Greene Street. He probably will submit a report at one of the council meetings within the next few weeks.

ALL-OUT RED ATTACK HITS WONJU

Red Charges Against U. S. Rejected

U. S. Escapes Slap For China Bombings

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 13 (AP) — The United Nations Assembly gave the United States two big votes of confidence today. It rejected, 48 to 5, Soviet demands for condemnation of the U. S. as an aggressor against Formosa. It refused, 51 to 5, to slap the U. S. for American bombings of Chinese territory along the North Korean border.

No one supported the Soviet bloc in either vote. Burma, Indonesia and Yugoslavia abstained on the aggressor decision and Yugoslavia and Afghanistan abstained on the second vote.

India, which fought hard against an Assembly verdict calling Red China an aggressor in Korea, voted also against both Russian resolutions.

U. S. Denounces Charges

Rajeshwar Dayal, Indian deputy delegate, said India still believed negotiations would be the best method to achieve peaceful settlement. He said "mutual recriminations" would not serve this purpose.

Ernest A. Gross, U. S. delegate, denounced the two Soviet charges as "a complete tissue of lies and distortions."

"The United States has no aggressive designs, military, political or economic, on Formosa," Gross said.

Gross made clear that the U. S. government stands opposed to admission of Red China to the U. N. He said Peiping's demands for a seat in the U. N. are not valid as long as Peiping continues its aggression in Korea.

Only 17 of the 60 U. N. members recognize Red China and Peiping's chances of admission appear more remote than ever.

Soviet "Grab" Charged

He told the Assembly the Soviet Union has constantly attacked in the debate here the idea of American friendship for the Chinese people. He said the only country which controls thousands of square miles which were once Chinese is not the United States.

This was an obvious reference to the Soviet Union, which the Americans assert has taken over huge blocs of territory once belonging to China.

Semyon K. Tsarapkin, Soviet delegate, argued that the United States decision to send the Seventh U. S. Fleet to neutralize Formosa last summer was in fact an aggression against Formosa. He also contended there are American forces on Formosa.

Gross replied that the Seventh Fleet was ordered to Formosan waters after the Security Council called for U. N. action against the Communist North Korean invasion of South Korea.

It's Victory For Striking Fairchild Workers

Striking workers shouted "victory" and voted yesterday to end their five-week walkout at the Fairchild aviation division, Hagerstown. Shown at the microphone in the State Armory is E. T. Michael, president of Local 842, CIO-United Auto Workers. The strike, which started Janunary 8, had heid up production of Fairchild C-119 Packets.

Wage Control Formula Due Later In Week

Cotton Compromise Order Is Expected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board hopes to come up with a formula this week to unfreeze pay.

Those two subjects, both major trouble makers, held center stage today in work of the agencies assigned to keep the economy on an even keel in the period of mobilization.

The hopes of the wage board were reported by Peter Seitz, special assistant to WSB Chairman Cyrus S. Ching, in testimony to the Senate-House "watchdog" committee which keeps tab on operation of the Defense Production Act.

The hearing also produced a report, quickly denied by Ching, that he was stepping out of the WSB post.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said he understood such a move by Ching was coming. Shortly afterward, however, Ching authorized Seitz to say there was "apparently some misunderstanding."

Seitz, for Ching, added that the chairman expects to stay until a general pay formula is issued and the board is expanded as planned.

The assistant in that statement said again that the board hopes to fix such a formula this week.

Seitz' reference to expansion of the board was in connection with a plan to raise its membership from nine—three from labor, three from management and three including Ching for the public—to 18. President Truman is understood to be planning such a step in the next few days.

The wage problem is one of the thorniest in the field of stabilization. The three groups of WSB members were reported holding out stiffly in as many positions—labor for a formula that would permit a major pay rise to compensate for living costs, management for tight curbs to hold down business costs, and the public members somewhere in the middle.

In labor union circles it was reported late today that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson has advised the WSB to come up with a formula that would permit about an eight per cent rise above pre-Korea pay plus cost of living advances for the period since the freeze order.

On the price front, OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle was understood to have ordered a fast decision on a raw cotton price aimed both to appease southern senators who have demanded full decontrol, and to head off a sharp rise in clothing costs.

RFC Investigation Will Be Reopened

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee said today an investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, now under hot fire in Congress, will be reopened next week.

The announcement came just 24 hours after President Truman renominated five RFC directors whom the Senate had already twice refused to confirm.

Maybank said a subcommittee headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) will conduct hearings centering on charges that three of the five directors yielded to outside influence in granting federal loans.

Fulbright's subcommittee, with the backing of the full committee, issued a report two weeks ago accusing the RFC of falling under the domination of Donald Dawson, a White House aide, and others.

Mr. Truman denounced the report as asinine.

20-Mile Front Ablaze; Allied Units Trapped

Chipyong, Key U. N. Bastion, Encircled

Front line dispatches said Wonju, key to all roads south, was hit hard shortly after 3 a. m. Allied units were in heavy action north and west of the town, reported AP Correspondent John Randolph.

An even heavier Red assault struck and surrounded Chipyong, western bastion of the central front, last night. The Allied force in the town still was under intense enemy attack at 9 a. m.

Second Phase Of Red Push

Strong Chinese forces punched southward toward the main Wonju-Youju road in an effort to crack the U. N. line across Korea and cut communications lines. Yoju is 18 miles west of Wonju and 12 south of Chipyong.

This was the second phase of the big Communist push to divide the U. S. Eighth Army and cut off the 100,000-man Allied force in the west.

These forces in the west carried the U. N. limited offensive to the Han River across from Seoul. They also recaptured Seoul's port of Inchon on the Yellow Sea and Kimpo airfield, Korea's biggest, northwest of Seoul.

AP War Correspondent Stan Swinton, on the western front, reported that the Communists early today sent 400 to 800 infiltrators south of the Han River within rifle shot of a divisional command post.

Allied forces launched a concentrated attack today against enemy-held ridges below the Han and to the east of Kumyangjang, more than 25 miles southeast of Seoul. AP correspondent Tom Bradshaw said the Allied troops advanced against heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire.

Two Regiments Hit Wonju

The Reds hit Wonju from the north and northwest. In the first reported contact, an estimated two Chinese regiments slammed into an Allied battalion.

Mortar shells poured into Chipyong on the western end of the 20-mile attack sector. Small arms and automatic weapons fire hit the town from the southeast and northeast.

Bad Colds, 'Flu Harassing Many Parts Of Nation

Schools Are Closed, Army Post Hard Hit

[By The Associated Press]

Bad colds and isolated waves of influenza are harassing scattered parts of the nation but health authorities do not consider the outbreaks alarming.

Many communities reported an upsurge of grippe, sore throats, pneumonia and other respiratory disease, but in most cases, officials said the increase was seasonally normal.

Some areas, however, were hit unusually hard by the mid-winter ailments, forcing schools to close, keeping workers away from their jobs, and packing the hospital on at least one Army post.

Schools Close In Florida

In Tallahassee, Fla., an epidemic of flu and colds cut school attendance in Leon County by 25 per cent causing an indefinite shutdown of all white schools. Many teachers also were sick.

Northern New York and Maine also were plagued by such diseases.

Two infants died of influenza last week in Burham, Me., near Waterville. Intestinal virus cases were described as numerous throughout Maine.

Niagara County, N. Y., schools, which closed last week after 2,796 of 14,263 pupils were kept home by illness, reopened yesterday.

Some schools in some nearby counties remained closed, and in Buffalo, an "abnormally high absenteeism" rate was reported in schools and industries. Serum tests were being made to determine if the disease was influenza or merely severe colds.

Incoming Passengers Checked

"None of the cases reported so far has been as severe as those reported in England," said Erie County Health Commissioner Berwyn F. Mattison.

At overseas airports and in the busy port of New York, U. S health inspectors kept a close check on incoming passengers to guard against importation of influenza from British epidemic areas.

More than 550 were hospitalized with influenza symptoms at the Fort Dix, N. J., Army training post, where the rate of incidence jumped from 60 a day last week to 100 a day over the weekend. The post hospital was jammed.

West To Demand Germany Free Of Communism

Terms Might Unmask Russian Propaganda

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 13 (AP)—The western powers intend to confront the Russians with a demand for Germany's unification on terms that would scuttle Communism in the whole country, high Allied sources said tonight.

There is skepticism about the possibility the Russians will accept. But Allied thinking appears to be the western conditions will unmask the propaganda of any fresh Soviet proposals obstensibly aimed at reunion of Germany and betterment of her condition.

No "People's Democracy"

The United States, British and French governments were reported agreed that a reunited Germany must not become a Red-infiltrated "people's democracy" on the Soviet satellite model.

Consultations are under way to define exactly and provide foolproof safeguards for the western democratic liberties, which the three allies would require to be introduced in East Germany before unifying the former reich, officials said.

This consultation is part of the preparation for a Big Four foreign ministers' conference—a matter of extensive note writing since Russia proposed Nov. 3 new talks concerning this divided nation. The Western Allies insist other world problems also should be taken up in such a conference.

Deputies Meet March 10

A French government official reported today deputy foreign ministers of the Big Four will meet in Paris between March 10 and 15 to arrange the terms, place the date for the meeting of their chiefs. U. S. State Department officials in Washington said there is some prospect for such a deputies' meeting, but no definite arrangements have been made yet. When it is held, Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup is expected to be the U. S. deputy.

Fairchild Workers, Shouting "Victory," End Their Strike

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—Striking workers shouted "victory" and voted today to end their five-week walkout at the Fairchild aviation division.

They won elimination of Fairchild's merit system for wage increases. If the Wage Stabilization Board in Washington approves, they also will get a 15-cent hourly wage increase. Their minimum has been about $1.10.

The strike, which started Jan. 8, had held up completely the production of Fairchild C-119 Packets, often called "Flying Boxcars" and widely used by the Air Force for troop transport and supply in Korea.

No Dissenting Vote

The vote to go back to work came at a mass meeting of the CIO-United Auto Workers local in the State Armory. An estimated 3,000 of the 4,700 strikers attended and there was no dissenting voice.

The picket lines at four Fairchild plants here melted away a few minutes after the meeting ended. Maintenance crews reported for work at 4:30 p. m. Production men will be on the assembly line again at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

E. T. Michael, president of the local, told the mass meeting that the company's decision to abandon the merit system is "complete vindication" of the union's position in the strike.

Appeal To Patriotism

It was not until last night that that company agreed to drop the merit system, at least for the duration of the national emergency. W. L. Landers, general manager, accompanied the offer with a statement that the strike no longer was simply a dispute between the company and the workers. It had become a national issue, he said, and might delay the defense effort.

Under the merit system, shop foremen could recommend the rate of pay for workmen within a wage bracket for their job classification. The union contended the company abused this system and insisted on automatic raises based on length of service.

Valentine Gets His Day Early--30 Days

Landes was hailed into Recorder's Court on a charge of being paralyzed drunk. Judge O. Z. Ide asked where he got the name Valentine.

"I was born on Valentine's Day," Landes replied. "That's how I come by the name. And Valentine's Day is tomorrow. That's how I come to get drunk."

"I have a Valentine for you," the judge sighed, then snapped: "Its 30 days in the House of Correction."

Spain Is Granted $12,200,000 Loan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The United States today granted $12,200,000 in loans to Spain.

The credits were the first under a congressional authorization for loans to Spain up to a maximum of $62,500,000. The aim is to aid that country's economy in the same fashion that the loan features of the Marshall Plan aid other Western European countries.

The Spanish loan authorization was put into the Economic Cooperation Administration's appropriations for this fiscal year in a rider attached in Congress.

The Truman administration had been against including aid to Spain in funds for aid to Western Europe.

When Congress nevertheless endorsed the aid to Spain credit, President Truman said that action would be considered only an authorization, and that making of such loans would depend upon circumstances showing they would be in the interest of the U. S.

Probers Report Police Coverup For Gamblers

Information Shelved By New York Official

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Senate crime probers said today they have uncovered an amazing story of "miscarriage of prosecutions" for gambling in the plush resort area of Saratoga County in Central New York State.

"It has been going on for years," Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.) told newsmen.

Also, he said, a detective testified that a gambling house paid him to transport its money and a high state authority was said to have pigeonholed a red-hot report on Saratoga gambling.

Tobey, with Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the committee, agreeing with him, said:

Costello Questioned

"We've had given us testimony that is an amazing revelation of the miscarriage of prosecutions, confused and aborted marginal jurisdictions of authority by those who failed to act in the public interest."

The Senate committee, investigating national crime linkups, talked to a string of Saratoga witnesses when it concluded its earlier questioning of New York City Gambler Frank Costello.

Costello, reputed "underworld ruler," spent an hour and a half in secret session with the committee and afterwards Kefauver summed up his testimony in one word:

"Interesting."

Detective Collected $10 Fee

Tobey said the Saratoga Springs detective acted as a messenger boy or bodyguard for gamblers to provide "safe passage for ill-gotten gains from the gambling houses to the banking houses."

He said the detective testified before the committee that he collected $10 a day from one gaming house for this service.

Turning to the state police, Tobey said they drew up an exhaustive report on Saratoga gambling in 1947. It was passed from office to office, Tobey said, until it reached the desk of a state police official "who was rather high up in authority."

Tobey said this officer expressed amazement at the report but marked it confidential and filed it away.

Martin Backs Hoover's Idea

[By The Associated Press]

The debate over foreign policy ranged cross country again last night with Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) coming out flatly against sending any American troops to help form European or Asiatic defense forces.

Martin, in an address prepared for the Traffic Club of New England at Boston, lined up with former President Hoover's idea for a strong Navy and Air Force.

He also let fly at the proposal of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey that America organize a 100-division army, saying it would "spell out national bankruptcy in the boldest letters" and rob the country of manpower needed for defense production.

Woolen Mill Strike Threatened On Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — The CIO-Textile Workers Union announced tonight that it will call 70,000 workers in 160 woolen and worsted mills out on strike Thursday midnight unless a new contract is negotiated before that time.

Emil Rieve, president of the union, said that present contracts were scheduled to expire Feb. 1, but had been extended for 15 days to permit further negotiations. He said there will be no additional extensions.

Remington To Remain Free On $7,000 Bail

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—William W. Remington, former Commerce Department economist, today won court approval to remain free on bail pending appeal of his perjury conviction.

The U. S. Court of Appeals fixed his bail at $7,000.

Remington was sentenced to five years in prison and a $2,000 fine last Friday on his conviction of falsely swearing that he never was a Communist.

Winter Provides Study In Contracts

[By The Associated Press]

Winter unloosed a mixture of cold, warmth and sleet Tuesday that brought these contrasts:

Bemidji, Minn., had a low of 37 degrees below zero while Richmond, Va., had a high of 75—a difference of 112 degrees.

Warm breezes from the Gulf brought springlike weather to the Eastern Seaboard while a sleet storm coated parts of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri in a sheath of ice.

Ga. House Spurns Bill To Curb Newspapers

ATLANTA, Feb. 15 (AP) — Spurred by pleas to preserve freedom of the press, the Georgia House today slapped down Gov. Herman Talmadge's bill to make newspapers "subject to regulation by the state."

The bill which the House rejected 97 to 56 was the most far-reaching of three sponsored by Talmadge. It would have declared all newspapers, magazines and other periodicals "clothed with a public interest and subject to regulation by the state."

In addition, it would have required them to give equal space and prominence to any answer to any criticism of a public official or private citizen.

Multi-Million-Dollar Query: Will You Be My Valentine?

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — Will you be my Valentine?

There are a lot of ways to ask that question—cards, candy, flowers, perfume, telegrams—aside from the old-fashioned way: In person.

And sentimental Americans don't hesitate to ask. They have, in fact, turned it into a multi-million-dollar query.

Greeting card makers say it's the second biggest event of the year for them. This year more than 300,000,000 Valentines — ranging from a penny to $5 retail—have been sold. It may prove to be a record .

Valentine's is the No. 3 day for the candy makers—Christmas and Easter taking precedent. Sales of $10,000,000 were reported last year. This time they're expected to top that. Some boxes sell for as much as $20.

Flowers — well, no figures are available but florists say the red rose is the favorite. Carnations, violets, gardenias, orchids and red tulips come next in order.

The perfume and cosmetics industry expects a Valentine business running into "seven figures"—that's a million dollars or more.

Western Union figures people will wire about $100,000 worth of sentiments, and telephone officials say they always have a big increase in calls—even to foreign countries.

Vandenberg Says 70% Of Red Bombers Could Hit U. S. Targets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the Air Force, believes Russia could push at least 70 out of 100 bombers through to United States targets in a determined attack.

Vandenberg said in the current issue of Saturday Evening Post that Russia "has been working intensively on a heavy bomber to match the B-36" and "she unquestionably will build it."

Analyzing the Soviet striking power and America's air defenses, Vandenberg said Russia "now has at least 450 planes that can strike our major population and industrial centers from bases in the U.S.S.R."

He expressed his belief that no conceivable defense—not even such a devise as a five-mile high steel fence around the country backed by an unbroken radar screen, a perfect warning system and an umbrealla of fighter planes—could fully stop a determined bombing attack.

"Should war came," Vandenberg said, "We can be expected to destroy no more than 30 per cent of the planes making an attack in strength on the United States before bombing missions are completed. And our preparations today are not beefed up to achieve even that figure."

The United States must realize, he said, that Russia might sacrifice bombers in one-way atomic attacks on American industrial centers. Defensive planning also has given closest attention to the possibility that Russia will refuel its bombers in flight over the Artic wastes to enable them to make a round trip, he added.

Vandenberg said a large scale raid probably would include only a few planes carrying the a-bomb.

"Even if the enemy had 100 (atomic) bombs—which she hasn't now—she could not afford to throw all into one raid," he said.

Vandenberg noted that in the successful defense of England the British destroyed slightly under 10 per cent of the attacking German planes. He said his estimate that 30 per cent of an invading bomber fleet could be knocked down calls for an effort three times as effective as the British, despite the fact that protection involves an area 30 times as large against an enemy that will be far more heavily armed than the Germans.

Infantryman Is Still Kingpin In 8th Army's Fight For Life

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The powerful new Chinese offensive in Korea today heavily underlines the fact that the life or death of the U. S. Eighth Army depends on G.I. Joe—the infantryman.

In the showdown, it's the bearded, red-eyed, weary little man with the rifle or carbine or machine gun—squatting in a hole in the frozen mountains—who has the bloody job of stopping the enemy.

The Air Force, the artillery and the Navy can help. But even in these modern times the infantryman still is the kingpin in the Army's defense. And in Korea his job is even harder than it was in World War II.

The reason is this: In the Korean war, the Chinese have used tactics which in part cancel out our heavy superiority in airpower and artillery. They have succeeded in bringing the war down to a manpower level. And in manpower, the Chinese have tremendous superiority despite heavy losses in the past month.

Twice in three months the Chinese have battered the Eighth Army back despite our superiority in planes, tanks and artillery.

They did it in November, shattering Gen. MacArthur's "end the war by Christmas" drive with three savage night attacks. Now they have punched a deep wedge in the center of the Allied lines with these same tactics and are threatening to envelop part of the army.

Board Approves Maryland Negro College Project

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—The Board of Public Works today approved completion of an engineering building at Maryland State College for Negroes as another battle over the institution shaped up in the Legislature.

Gov. McKeldin, avowed foe of expanding the college at Princess Anne, voted against the building contract. It was one of the Governor's first acts as chairman of the board, Maryland's top fiscal agency, and he suggested there may be legal problems in financing the construction.

The Governor produced a prepared statement in which Attorney General Hall Hammond said "there may be a legal question" whether the university could spend $53,000 of its own money to erect the building for agriculture, mechanical arts and engineering.

Award of the contract was made subject to Hammond's approval.

State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles approved the project because he doubted the board could "entirely defeat the action of the Legislature." He referred to the 1949 Construction Loan Act which set aside $270,000 for the Princess Anne building.

Miles said he would oppose any other building at the college until its future is settled by "the appropriate state agency." Only specific advice by the Attorney General that the board lacks discretion in appropriating money raised by bond acts would change his mind, Miles added.

Board action saved Contractor Charles E. Brohawn some $30,000 he estimated was tied up in a premature start on the building. The fact he had already begun work came to light when the board last month rejected the project.

Meanwhile, six senators teamed on a bill to prohibit any further construction at Princess Anne. If adopted over certain opposition from college supporters in the General Assembly, it would become effective June 1.

With but two dissents, the Senate Judiciary Committee voted favorably on a House-passed measure to repeal Maryland's "Jim Crow" statute. The committee's report was not offered immediately for full Senate action.

Frozen Woman's Hands Reported In Good Condition

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Physicians removed the bandages on the hands of Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, the frozen woman, this afternoon. They pronounced the hands in "excellent condition" with no trace of gangrene.

Earlier today Michael Reese Hospital removed the 23-year-old patient's name from the critical list. Although the hospital said her condition is serious, but not critical, the danger to her life is not past.

The doctors still don't know if amputation of any of her limbs may be necessary.

Mrs. Stevens was found "frozen stiff" in an alley in sub-zero cold Thursday. When brought to the hospital her body temperature was 64 degrees — 34.6 degrees below normal.

Reliefer Jailed After Splurge

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13 (AP) — A negro woman's spending splurge on her relief money brought a two-year prison sentence today.

She had a diamond-studded wrist watch, a large screen television set, and a new electric refrigerator.

The case moved Judge Joseph Sherbow to comment on "the weakness in the administration of relief."

He noted that many Welfare Department workers get piddling pay checks—hardly more than the relief clients they handle.

The low pay scale, he pointed out, restricts welfare departments to hiring inexperienced college girls. As soon as they get a little experience they quickly move on to jobs in private industries at much higher pay.

The case before Judge Sherbow in Criminal Court involved Mrs. Catherine Smith, who also was on relief rolls as Mrs. Catherine Robinson. She is 32, has had two legal husbands and six children—three of them born out of wedlock to two other men.

The Welfare Department charged she got $7,165 in illegal relief payments over a three-year period.

The testimony revealed that she was drawing relief checks under both names. Welfare workers several times visited her home without catching the duplicity.

Missing Woman Found Dead At Hagerstown

The 32-year-old woman had been missing from her home for three weeks. Last seen she was walking toward the edge of town wearing only her house clothes.

A preliminary check showed she apparently died of exposure. An autopsy is being performed.

Crosby's Condition Fine

"He ate a good breakfast and his physical condition is fine," added Dr. F. C. Schlumberger.

LOVELY MATRON SAYS "NOTHING BETTER FOR CONSTIPATION"

Mrs. George Schiesser, a charming wife and mother, of the Bronx, New York, says: "Whenever I'm bothered with constipation, there's nothing better than Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work so gently yet so thoroughly, removing waste from the entire intestinal tract."

Note: For years, Dr. F. M. Edwards, a noted Ohio physician, recommended Olive Tablets for his patients troubled with constipation and its headaches, lack of pep and bad breath. All vegetable! Olive Tablets work on both upper and lower bowels—they give more natural-like bowel movements —so smooth—no griping. 15¢, 30¢.

Loser Peddicord Gives Tax Views

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 13 (AP) — "If I'd been elected governor, taxes would have been the smallest matter to worry about," Stephen B. Peddicord said today.

"I'd got taxes. I'd got $100,000,000 by taxing all gambling."

Since the Baltimorean wasn't elected, he told the Senate Finance Committee how the state can get between $13,000,000 and $14,000,000 more revenue from present taxes.

"Plug the loopholes" in sales and state income tax collections, he urged.

"You are losing $10,000,000 by having 100,000 sales tax collectors," the oft-time candidate and never winner declared. "Imagine having 1,000 comptrollers in a business."

To do away with "so many hands handling the money" and having it "rerouted to somebody's pockets" instead of the state treasury, Peddicord offered two new systems of collection.

Johnson Argues For 18-Year Draft

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) cited the casualty roll of 50,000 American fighting men in Korea to point up a contention today that "the present urgent crisis" requires authority to draft 18-year-olds.

He hammered at the same point with a statement that there is "only one ready division available for the defense of the United States." And not committed to Korea or to European stations.

Johnson's arguments were presented in a statement accompanying a subcommittee report approving an 18-year-old draft and universal military training.

The full Armed Services Committee briefly considered the legislation, as approved 7 to 1 by Johnson's Preparedness subcommittee. Then it put the matter off until tomorrow when a vote is expected.

Mayor, Army Feud Over Load Of Butter

MEDINA, O., Feb. 13 (AP)—Medina Mayor John Brown was conducting a private war with the U. S. Army tonight over a truckload of butter.

The 75,880 pounds of butter, he said, and the truck will be kept here until the Army or the driver's employer pays a $531 overloading fine.

Mayor Brown said neither the Army nor the haulers, Pacific States Refrigerated Transport Co., will consent to pay the fine for what later proved to be, said Brown, 25,300 pounds excess weight.

Minneapolis Schools Due To Reopen Today

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 13 (AP) — Gov. Luther Youngdahl announced today he had assurances from Minneapolis union leaders that strike-closed public schools would reopen tomorrow morning.

The city's 94 public schools closed Jan. 23. Some 63,000 children have been away from the classrooms since. The governor's statement followed a brief conference with representatives of the Minneapolis Central Labor Union, a coordinating office for AFL unions in the city.

Youngdahl said George Murk, head of a special CLU subcommittee named to study labor problems in the schools, had authorized him to say that union teachers and janitors "would go back to work and schools will open tomorrow morning."

West Virginia Governor Signs Five Bonus Bills

Alcohol, Cigarettes To Get New Taxes

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 13 (AP)—Governor Patteson signed into law today five measures establishing a bonus for veterans of both world wars.

The bills authorize the bonds, provide for a $90,000,000 bond issue to finance it, raise the price of liquor, put an additional one cent tax on cigarettes, and double the tax on a barrell of beer.

A maximum of $300 can be obtained by anyone who served only within the United States, and a $400 maximum by anyone with overseas duty.

Ten dollars per month is allowed for each month of duty in the United States, and $15 per month for each month spent overseas.

The Governor's signature also made law of legislation to authorize the Commissioner of Agriculture to take charge of funds amounting to some $700,000 held by the Federal Government from the now defunct West Virginia Rural Rehabilitation Corporation. The money is to be used for rural rehabilitation work in the state.

Another bill made law today will raise the license examination fee of graduate nurses from $10 to $20.

Valley Street Outlet Takes Shape

Construction work on the outlet structure of the pressure conduit on Valley Street, part of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control project, progresses. Two large openings are being made as outlets for the huge pressure conduit which will clear the area of water resulting from heavy rains. A smaller opening provides an outlet from an intercepter sewer. Water from Wills Creek can be seen as it laps close to the construction work.

Bill For Extra Deputy Opposed

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said yesterday he opposes a bill making it mandatory for the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to add a deputy sheriff and to increase their salaries by $50 monthly.

As a result he said he will propose an amendment giving the commissioners power to act but not making it mandatory.

Because he did not like the mandatory provision, Whitworth said he did not sponsor the bill along with the rest of the delegation. Whitworth said if the House delegation declines to accept his amendment, he will ask Senator Robert B. Kimble to amend the measure when it reaches the Senate.

"The General Assembly should be careful in forcing the commissioners to add to costs and the resulting increase in taxes," said Whitworth.

He said final decision should be left up to the commissioners because:

1. They are in a better position to know the need for an additional deputy and a salary increase than is the legislature.

2. The commissioners have the task of raising the money. They know if the welfare of the county can be better served with another deputy and salary increases or whether it would be better to make no change.

Whitworth said it is his understanding that at least one commissioner is opposed to taking the steps at this time.

St. Valentine His Day

Half a dozen saints named Valentine are found in the calendar, but the one commemorated on February 14 seems to be the Valentine who was bishop of Terni and was martyred at Rome on February 14 of the year 270. Nothing that is known about his life has any bearing on the exchange of tender messages between the sexes.

One custom in the Roman celebration of Lupercalia in mid-February was for men and women to pair off by the drawing of lots. It is generally surmised that the early Christian church, unable to eradicate the custom, tried to moralize it by associating it with the saint who was put to death for his faith on February 14.

Certainly the early records of St. Valentine Day celebrations tell of men selecting their "valentines," who were thus indicated as their future wives, by drawing names from a hat or a bowl. Samuel Pepys in the latter half of the 17th Century gives details in his famous Diary of how he thus obtained his Valentine on a February 14. The custom is described also in Oliver Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield."

Earlier, toward the end of the 14th Century, Chaucer had referred to the legend that birds mated on St. Valentine's Day. The exchange of cards of love on the day probably grew out of the fact that mottos had been drawn along with names from the hat or bowl.

However the St. Valentine Day custom began, it is a commendable one. All romance has fled the hearts of those who ignore it.

Remember Czechoslovakia

Gen. Eisenhower, in working out plans for an army of the western democracies to resist Soviet aggression, will realize that such aggression would not necessarily take the form of military invasion. The Russians know how to take over by infiltration as well as by armies. Consider Czechoslovakia in February, 1948.

"Czechoslovakia was the test case and Benes was its protagonist. The destruction of Benes proved to the world that no pledges by the Soviet Union, written or oral, however fine they may sound, are a basis for cooperation." Thus Edward Taborsky, secretary to President Benes of Czechoslovakia during World War II, wrote in "Foreign Affairs" two years ago.

By 1948 the democracies were waking up—as the Kremlin noted. The Truman Doctrine had bolstered Turkey against threats from Moscow and was helping Greece to remain anti-Communist. So the Russians found it the part of wisdom to substitute covert for overt aggression for their newest conquest.

After the Munich agreement of 1938 had enabled Hitler to take over part of Czechoslovakia in that year and the remainder early in 1939, President Benes sought refuge in London. There he was officially shunned by the British government as well as by diplomats of other nations. Not until some months after Churchill had supplanted Chamberlain as Prime Minister did the British repudiate the Munich agreement and give acceptance to the Benes government in exile.

Russia, invaded by Germany in June, 1941, wasted no time in recognizing the Czechoslovak government in London. In 1943 Benes visited Moscow. He was impressed by Russian assurances of Czechoslovakia's postwar independence. He also counted on full postwar cooperation between the Anglo-Americans and Russians. Stalin appeared to Benes to be "a fatherly national leader rather than World Communist Number One," according to Taborsky.

But when the Red Army began its liberation of Czechoslovakia in the fall of 1944, the field leaders ignored a Soviet-Czechoslovak treaty signed in May of that year. They agitated for the "reunion" of Ruthenia, part of Czechoslovakia, with the Ukraine, a constituent state of the Soviet Union.

The victory celebration of May, 1945, in Prague, Czechoslovak capital, was "mainly a Red triumph," in the words of Sir Robert Bruce Lockhart. The Communists emerged from the elections of May 1946 as the largest party of the state but without a majority over the three other parties. Klement Gottwald, now President, became Prime Minister, and the Reds gained the ministries of Defense, Information, and the Interior. Although the Russian armies had been withdrawn to the border, Russian military leaders remained in Czechoslovakia.

President Benes began to reassert his personal authority. He was strengthened by UNRRA aid, and by early 1947 "the tide of communism seemed to be on the ebb." However, the Communists had infiltrated the police. On February 20, 1948, 12 anti-Communist ministers resigned because Gottwald rejected a cabinet decision cancelling the appointment of eight Communist police officials in Prague. The Communists called out their workers' militia, and Communist "Action Committees" seized factories and villages.

"Within 24 hours," according to Lockhart, "the Communists were masters of the country." Benes—elected for life in 1946—stayed on until June, 1948, resigned without having signed the new Peoples' Democracy constitution. Jan Masaryk, second most popular man in the country, briefly lent the new regime the color of legality by continuing as foreign minister, plunged to his death from an office window two weeks later. Russia had conquered from within.

Highway First Aid

In these days of machine efficiency the average person seldom sees a broken-down automobile on the road. So it is something of a surprise to learn that during 1950 on one highway alone 7,145 drivers needed assistance.

These figures are to be found in the annual report of the Jeep Patrol, which has the duty of unraveling traffic blocks on the West Side Elevated Highway in New York City. Of the cars which received the patrol's attention 3,180 had motor troubles, 2,986 had flat tires and the rest were involved in accidents. In 46 cases the drivers actually had abandoned their cars when the patrol arrived on the scene.

What would have happened to traffic if this kind of first aid had not been available can readily be imagined. Under regular conditions motorists do not make the best of time on busy highways during rush hours. Without someone to get stalled cars out of the way the movement of vehicles would often come to a halt and remain halted.

As traffic continues to increase, it may be necessary to inaugurate first aid patrols on all main highways. Garages along main arteries are too few and far between to provide emergency service and not many operate 24 hours a day.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Urinary Sediment

THE URINE CONTAINS many chemicals, cells, and solid waste constituents. Some can be seen under the microscope and others must be detected by chemical means. When a large number of pus cells are noted, for example, infection along the urinary tract is suspected. Red blood cells may mean stone, Bright's disease, or tumor. The physician does not make the diagnosis purely from the urinalysis but fits this test into the over-all picture obtained through the patient's story and the physical examination.

• — • — •

The urinary sediment also may contain casts. These cylindrical bodies of microscopic size appear in the urine for several reasons. Their shape represents an actual cast of the inside of one of the tiny tubular passageways within the kidneys. They are formed by the percipitation of proteins or by the sticking together of other material within the tubules. Apparently these substances jell in the microscopic drain pipes like a gelatin dessert prepared in the kitchen. For no apparent reason they slip off and pass into the urine to be discharged through the bladder. Sometimes they contain blood corpuscles, epithelial cells, and even masses of pus cells and bacteria. Returning to the analogy, we might say that these mixed casts resemble gelatin with sliced fruit. The different varieties are significant to the physician because they give him a clue on what is taking place within the kidneys.

Crystals in the urine have little significance except when kidney stones are or have been present. The crystals represent certain chemicals that precipitated into the urine, and the type depends upon whether the urine is acid or alkaline. Phosphate crystals form in an alkaline base whereas uric acid and calcium oxalate crystals favor an acid environment. Now and then crystals are responsible for the cloudy appearance of the urine.

The specimen should be collected in a clean container and taken to the physician as soon as possible. It usually is refrigerated or a preservative is added because it deteriorates within six to eight hours at room temperature. Droplets of fat may appear in the specimen, as well as threads of cotton or other vegetable fibers. This is puzzling to the examiner but sooner or later it becomes obvious that the individual has not cleaned the bottle. Yeast is present occasionally, especially in women and in diabetics. Parasites such as trichomonas also are observed from time to time.

Normally the color of the urine varies from light yellow to amber, depending upon its concentration. In summer, after perspiring freely, it is likely to be dark because most of the fluid is escaping through the pores and not the kidneys. Hemorrhage is suspected when the urine is red, brown, or black although this may indicate the presence of an abnormal pigment or the consumption of certain dyes or foods. A liver disturbance may lead to the excretion of bile pigment through the kidneys, producing a greenish-yellow hue. Other colors are noted in specific diseases.

SORE EAR

L. B. writes: Frequently, when I lie down on the right side, my right ear pains me. When I turn over or get up, pain goes away. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

Considering that we do not know whether pain is on the outside or inside, we can only suggest that you consult your physician.

• — • — •

PROTRACTED INFECTION

L. J. writes: If a person has had an amebic infection for 10 years, is it curable at this late date?

REPLY

Yes. The earlier the disease is detected, the easier it is to treat; but with our newer drugs, the individual in question stands a good chance of getting well.

• — • — •

BLOOD AND WINE

H. T. writes: Would a daily dose of sherry wine help a person whose blood is too thin?

REPLY

I would expect a question like this from your grandmother but not from you. There's no such thing as "thin" blood. Furthermore, wine is not much more than fermented grape juice with a "kick." Nowadays, anemia is treated with iron or liver, vitamin B-12, and foods rich in these elements.

• — • — •

COLD ALLERGY

F. E. S. writes: If a person is allergic to cold, can it be treated in any other way than by going to a warmer climate?

REPLY

There are several methods for desensitizing against cold. The two most popular are injections of increasing amounts of histamine and daily placing the hands in water, the temperature of which is lowered gradually. Going to a warmer climate may not solve the problem because many are bothered when they wash in cold water or lift a cold bottle of milk from the refrigerator.

American Finds Stalin's Mother Unimpressed By Son's Achievements; Ridgway Rescues Korean Cause; Truman Defers To Hoover At India Relief Conference

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — Probably the only American who has ever met Stalin's mother is Carleton Smith, director of the National Arts Foundation, who while traveling near Tiflis in 1936 was taken to a village where Stalin's mother lived.

Her home was a mud hut dug out of the side of a hill, and she proved to be a wrinkled, kindly old lady. Telling Smith how she had raised her son to be a priest, the old lady added:

"I hear he's now running all of Russia, but I don't believe it."

A year later, Smith was in Moscow at the Bolshoi Theatre when Stalin was also present, and had an interview with the Russian dictator. Among other things he told him about the visit to his mother.

Stalin maintained an icy silence. He did not seem interested in his mother.

Victory In Korea

Gen. Matthew Ridgway personally is largely credited with turning the most humiliating defeat in 85 years of American military history into gradual victory in Korea.

Military men say that Ridgway has done an amazing job. Yet he did it with almost no reinforcements, and with a larger number of enemy forces against him than faced UN forces when General MacArthur was in direct command. For an estimated Chinese force of 276,000 men plus 191,000 revitalized North Koreans face Ridgway today, more than the Commuuist army that knocked MacArthur off balance in North Korea and drove him back across the 38th Parellel.

Not generally publicized is that almost sole responsibility in Korea has now been given to General Ridgway. For all practical purposes, MacArthur has been relieved of the fighting Korean command. Technically, of course, this is not true, because MacArthur still remains supreme commander. Actually, however, MacArthur virtually washed his hands of the Korean War after Washington refused to send him the four National Guard divisions he requested early in January.

Furthermore, Ridgway, coming direct to Korea from the United States, has been more independent than the field generals who had served under MacArthur in Japan and who, having been close to him, looked to him for direction.

Pentagon officials emphasize that there has been no friction between MacArthur and General Ridgway. The latter has merely used different tactics. He has quietly shaken up his command at the divisional level, has profited from McaArthur's mistakes, has given the UN Army a new shot in the arm and has turned a defeat complex on the part of the troops into a new fighting spirit.

Hoover and Truman

Though on opposite sides of the political fence, and vigorously disagreeing on foreign policy, the President of the United States and the only living ex-President of the United States seem to have a strong bond of affection for each other.

Hurbert Hoover once paid sincere tribute to Harry Truman at a Gridiron Club dinner. He has been known to be grateful to Truman for having lifted the ban against him which for 13 long years was imposed by Franklin Roosevelt.

Some White House friends have argued that Truman made a mistake by inviting Hoover to Washington for frequent conferences, since the Administration's blessing has now put him in a position where he could damage Truman's foreign policy. However, the President has not agreed, and the other day invited the ex-President to help him regarding relief for India.

Calling a meeting of Cabinet members and other advisers, Truman introduced Hoover by saying:

"I have invited President Hoover because of his vast experience and humanitarian policies to advise us on sending grain to India."

Hoover replied that, although he was not familiar with the Indian problem, he had great respect for Mr. Truman's judgment, and he was there to listen.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson explained that while "we do have our difference with the Government of India, I do not believe that should stand in the way of helping suffering people."

Secretary of Agriculture Charley Brannan was cautious. He explained that we do not have any great surplus of wheat. "But," he added, "if you say it is necessary we can get 2,000,000 tons or what is needed for India without creating a shortage at home."

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, ECA food director, outlined India's needs. He said that drought, floods, earthquakes, and about every other natural calamity had hit India and cut its grain production by 9,000,000 to 5,000,000 tons.

"This is especially bad," he said, "because 80 per cent of the caloric intake of Indians is grain. They are not meat eaters."

Some cold water was thrown on the project by James K. Knudson of the Defense Transport Administration, who said that with the railroad tieup it would be "quite difficult" to get the wheat to the ports and he understood ocean shipping was tight.

Several times during the discussion, President Truman interrupted to ask Mr. Hoover for his views and whether he thought the plan was feasible. Hoover's conclusion was: "This country has never failed to come to the rescue of the hungry, and this appears to be a worthy cause."

When the meeting broke up, it was significant that Hoover was chosen as spokesman to explain the conclusions of the conference to the press.

Tragic Jeep Accident

Not much got into the papers about the other victims of the jeep crash that killed Gen. Walton Walker.

However, the South Koreans have quietly sentenced the Korean driver who crashed into Walker's jeep to three years hard labor. The driver was Kyong Nei Pak. His passengers—Kuk Soom Lee, Chong Han Pak and Man Joo Chong—were released after investigation of the accident.

Three American soldiers in the jeep with Walker survived and were evacuated to the Tokyo General Hospital. They are: Lieut. Col. Layton Tyner, M-Sgt. George Belton and Sgt. Francis Reenan.

New Airpower Idea Will Affect Europe's Defense

By MARK SULLIVAN

THE ISSUE which generated late last fall, which became known as sending troops to Europe, which was brought to public attention by the speech of ex-President Herbert Hoover, December 20 and which became the "great debate" has now taken a definite form. It is embodied in a resolution before the Senate and will be debated this week.

For the widespread lack of complete understanding about this issue, there is reason in the circumstances in which it came into existence. It was created as a proposal by top leaders in our government, and by them communicated to leaders in the countries of Western Europe. Before the proposal could take effect, it would need to have assent from the governments and peoples of the countries the proposal covered. During the period of discussion, official public announcements might be awkward. There was no comprehensive and authoritative public statement until the radio address to the country by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower February 2; and that, while comprehensive, could not be specific or conclusive on some important points. Lack of complete understanding continues to this day.

The proposal was that a joint army be created for the defense of Western Europe against armed aggression by Russian communism, the joint army to be made up of armies of the countries of Western Europe, Canada and the United States. This—and it is an important point—differs from the North Atlantic Pact. The pact provides for mutual defense after aggression has taken place, while the present proposal is to create a joint army in advance.

Difficulties Arise

Difficulty came from several of the countries intended to be included. West Germany was reluctant to set up an army to be a part of the joint one until the United States should first have in Europe an army of sufficient size to protect West Germany as the probable first victim of any Russian Communist attack. In France there was objection to the existence of a West German army of formidable size—France had a long memory of bitter experiences with German armies. In other countries also there was disunity as between country and country and internally some reluctance or lack of responsiveness from different causes including some war weariness, and awareness of lack of strength, making for lack of strongly affirmative will to arm.

This lack of responsiveness from some Western European countries had a definite psychological effect in the United States. The picture was not of countries which must bear the brunt of aggression asking us to help them defend themselves. Instead the picture was of the United States asking them to become parts of a great joint army for the defense of Europe, to which the United States would contribute the largest strength, and they reluctant to accept the proposal.

This picture of the proposal, and the reluctance of Western European countries to respond, created in the United States an apprehensive vision of what the future picture might be if Russian aggression on Western Europe should take place. We would be expected to bear the brunt of defense. Among our people arose anxiety lest we see another great military expedition to Europe comparable to the ones we made in the first and second world wars.

Limited Liability Proposed

Out of the condition—as our people became aware of it about last December—there arose in Congress a proposal that would limit our liability. It is that our contribution to a joint army for the defense of Europe be limited to a predetermined proportion of the joint army as a whole, that the force we contribute be in a definite ratio to the forces contributed by the European countries. This idea is part of the resolution that will be debated the coming week.

Another idea has come forward. It is under technical discussion in military circles and it is an important factor in the thought put forward by ex-President Hoover. It assumes that a war fought with ground forces by the non-Communist countries against the Communist ones cannot be won, because of the immensely greater manpower of the Communist countries. It assumes further that we and the other non-Communist countries can win a war fought by airpower and also seapower, because in these we are strong while the Communist countries are relatively weak. If this idea gains strength, it will have bearing on the whole proposal about sending troops to Europe, for we could give airpower strength to the defense of Europe much more readily than we could contribute manpower for a war fought by ground troops.

British Politics Hampers American Forces In Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. — Again the "38th Parallel" has been interjected into the military operations of the United Nations forces by Great Britain. Prime Minister Attlee's admission in London that the views of the British government on this point had been presented to the American government and that the UN forces should not move across that parallel without consultations among the UN powers illustrates dramatically the way American forces have been hamstrung in Korea.

The utter absurdity of such a discussion in the midst of fighting will be apparent when it is noted that there has heretofore been no ban against crossing the parallel by our forces. Even now nobody is seriously advocating that the naval forces or the planes of the air force and the navy be prevented from attacking targets in North Korea. It is only the land forces which are to be ordered to stop their crossing.

No Guarantee From Reds

The idea that a war can be fought successfully by prohibiting ground forces from punishing the enemy, while sea and air forces continue the attack, is one that doesn't make sense to military men. If wars hereafter are to be managed by politicians and if future UN operations are to be commanded by foreign offices, then it might be well worth considering whether American forces should ever again be committed to resist aggression unless the UN specifically agrees in advance to let the military power be exerted to its maximum in every way until there is a "cease fire" agreed to by both sides.

What the British government is evidently attempting to offer is a "cease fire" so far as the UN forces are concerned but with no guaranty or assurance that the Communist Chinese will feel obligated to refrain from sudden attack on UN forces.

Merely to state what is involved from a military viewpoint is to reveal the impracticability of conducting military operations on such a basis. But what is more disconcerting is that the great government of Britain, which has tried assiduously to prevent the Red China regime from being pronounced an aggressor by the UN, now insists that the aggressor shall have the right to do as he pleases north of the 38th Parallel.

This must be sad news to the Korean people, who have been expecting the UN to liberate all of them and not just those south of the 38th Parallel. To stop at the parallel is to admit that all the military effort expended since last June, when the North Koreans marched across that line, has been in vain. Even to suggest publicly that the allies should consider stopping at the 38th Parallel is to notify Communist China that the U. N. forces are afraid to proceed further or that they are coming cravenly to beg for a "cease fire."

Tactics Not Inspiring

Does Prime Minister Attlee think such tactics can inspire American soldiers hereafter to make sacrifices for the U. N.? It can only result in severe criticism directed toward any government which sponsors a limitation on the right of an army in the midst of war operations to pursue its legitimate military objectives. The United States has suffered nearly 50,000 casualties, and yet the British Prime Minister is willing to stop our troops at the 38th Parallel. There is no objection, of course, to demand upon Red China for a "cease fire" based on a willingness of U. N. forces to withdraw from Korea in due time, but certainly not until after every Communist soldier has first been withdrawn and fool-proof guarantees have been given against a re-crossing of the Yalu River.

The Red Chinese will hardly be impressed by any maneuver now which orders U. N. forces to stop and wait for the Peiping government to agree to stop fighting. Every communication from the Red China regime thus far has been defiant. There isn't the slightest sign that stopping at the 38th Parallel would accomplish anything. Yet the British government, which has borne very little of the pain of the Korean War, is perfectly willing to see the operations of General Ridgway impaired by a restrictive order. Opinion here is that the British might better confine their help in the Korean War to a stoppage first of the British supplies that have been going through Hong Kong to the Communists. That would truly speed the victory for the U. N. in Korea.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The China Politburo

SOVIET China has now been fully organized along the lines of Soviet Russia. This model of government is universal among Communist countries, because they all are based on the dictatorship of the proletariat; that is, the total control of the people by one political party.

Thus, an oligarchy of 11 men, with supreme and sole power, holds hundreds of millions of people in thrall. These 11 men in China are Mao Tze-Tung, Liu Shao-Chi, Li Li-San, Chou En-Lai, Chen Shao-Yu, Chang Wen-Tien, Chen Yun, Peng Chen, Li Wei-Han, Li Fu-Chan,fi Liu Shao-Wen.

No military leaders are included in the politburo. This eliminates Chu Teh, who is one of the greatest figures in Chinese communism. In fact, in the mid 20's, the movement was generally referred to as Chu-Mao, combining the names of Chu Teh and Mao Tze-Tung. Chu is older than Mao and has been ill and may have been discarded as useless. He inherited the estate, whatever that may be worth, of the late Agnes Smedley, an American writer. They were great friends.

Of the 11 men in the politburo, six were educated in Moscow and represent an unadulterated Russian position in Chinese affairs. Among the most important of these Russian-trained leaders is Li Li-San, who used to be antagonistic to Mao Tze-Tung and who is generally regarded as Mao's likely successor.

In fact, when the State Department was monkeying with the notion that Mao might become a Chinese Tito, it was obvious to anyone who knew anything about China that should Mao show any deviationist tendencies, he would be killed and Li Li-San would take his place. The Russians failed to curb Tito because they could not kill him; Mao has, however, been surrounded by Russian-controlled Chinese.

I knew Li between 1925 and 1927 and a sharp and tough hombre he was. He devoted himself to labor movements and conducted a strike and propaganda machine with outstanding ability. In fact, were it not for his strikes, it is likely that Chiang Kai-Shek's revolution would have failed. Chiang and Li were then associated. In 1930, he returned to Moscow, where he continued his studies at the Lenin Institute. Later he was associated with the Foreign Language publishing House—a book trust that sends Russian literature in all sorts of languages to all parts of the world.

If I recall correctly, Michael Borodin, the American lawyer, who came to China in 1924 to conquer that country for Russia through Sun Yat-Sen's revolution, was also associated with this publishing house. It was a reduction of Borodin's position from a great proconsul to be a minor publisher.

Li is the present boss of Manchuria and has been since 1945. That is another reason why Mao could not be a Tito. Manchuria is the power house of China and whoever controls that can control China. It is not surprising that the Russians turned that task over to Li. He is, from their standpoint, most trustworthy.

His is a name to remember. I recall that in 1925 there was a vast boycott against American as well as British goods throughout China. Li then took the position that American capitalistic imperialism was the same in substance as Brit-

Daily Lenten Devotional

Mark 6:31 (R. S. V.).
Read Isaiah 30:15—26.

INTO RETREAT WITH HIM

Restfulness, which means serenity of mind, a grasp of the elemental and ultimate facts of life, is the necessity of everyone to the living of a full life.

If we should want to know the reason for the poise of Jesus, we should have to find it in those solitary all-night vigils, the hours spent alone, or the days he sought sanctuary when he talked with a few close friends.

Being alone, however, or apart from the turmoil of life for awhile is quite different from idleness or running away from duty. The deserter's life is full of satirical presence, and the idler's life holds too many perils to the soul. A man must have wings to fly, not from duty, but upwards towards God, and outward in service to his fellowmen. One gets the incentive to do a task when in quietness and confidence one has found strength. Fear will defeat us. Facing up to life will make the obstacles in our path become steppingstones to larger usefulness and deeper faith.

Let Us Pray: Eternal God, in whom we live, and move, and have our being, teach us how to face life with an unconfused mind, an understanding heart, and faith in the victory of God. Trrough Jesus Christ. Amen.

"Toe-Rings" And Sequin Beauty Spots In For 1951

PARIS—(INS)—"Toe-rings" and sequin beauty-spots are in for 1951.

They are accessories which will give the final touch to the new Paris curves and do-dads.

Since basic lines for spring fashions haven't changed, Paris designers let their imaginations go wild on accessories. Jewelry, gloves, buttons and even new hair-dos and wigs will make women look smarter and more feminine—and certainly different.

"Toe-rings" will be worn with informal hostess gowns or fashionable beach outfits. Pierre Balmain matched a huge amethyst ring, worn on the left little toe, with lilac-colored corduroy trousers and chiffon blouses. The height of something or other was achieved when this outfit was presented with a French poodle tinted in lilac, to match.

Paquin shows interesting "Indian chief earrings." Made of flowers, pearls or rhine-stones these costume jewels follow and cover the contour of the ears and look dressy and flattering.

Schiaparelli makes a lovely bonnet of white, pink and red roses, just covering the top of the head. Paquin displays the biggest bouquet of violets ever worn. A huge posy with leaves and stems covers almost the entire bust of a strapless blue-green taffeta sheath worn with a purple chiffon stole.

Robert Piquet even trims classic black theatre pumps with red rose buds, one on each shoe. Lanvin droops garlands of roses down from the neck to the hems of cocktail and evening dresses. Evening capes, boas and glove-cuffs made of flowers are seen in many houses.

Poison-green gloves matching green buttons and piping on navy blue suits look new and chic. Many suit and coat buttons have reached the size of saucers at Jacques Fath and Schiaparelli. Often they are the only trimmings on otherwise classic styles.

The hair-do is important for 1951. If Paris hairdressers went in for short-cut and curled hair, Paris fashion designers prefer long hair combed to buns or "ear-phone" coils to match their spring styles.

Dior and Balenciaga favor high placed buns recalling regency hairstyles, and hats are worn tilted accordingly. Bill of Rochas shows "ear-phones" sometimes faked in straw.

One this day set aside for praising those who charm, here's a bouquet of famous peans for you!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Much better bards by far than I
to serenade a lady fair,
Have penned sweet words in days gone by
And caught her fancy unaware.
This I should like to do today
And so I borrow classic line
To say the things I want to say
About each charming valentine.

—A Valentine

She was a phantom of delight
When first she gleamed upon my sight . . .
A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort, and command;
And yet a spirit still, and bright

—Wordsworth

She walks in beauty like the night
Of cloudless climes and starry skies;
And all that's best of dark and bright
Meet in her aspect and her eyes.

—Byron

Fair tresses man's imperial race ensnare
And beauty draws us with a single hair.

—Pope

To the Ladies

If eyes were made for seeing
Then Beauty is its own excuse for being.

—Emerson

If you praised her as charming, some asked
What you meant,
But the charm of her presence was felt
Where she went.

—Browning

ish colonial imperialism. That movement was as anti-American as it was anti-British and it was then organized by the Third International.

Chen Shao-Yu is Russian-trained and deeply Marxist. Under the name of Wang Ming, he was the Chinese Communist representative in the Third International. He is completely indoctrinated and is likely to take the Russian position on all questions. He is violently anti-American.

It is interesting to note that several old-time leaders have been dropped from the politburo. I have already referred to Chu Teh. But Jen Pi-Shih, former director of party organization, Kang Sheng, secret police chief, Kao Kang of Manchuria, Lin Tsu-Han, important financial leader, Tung Pi-Wu, who represented the Chinese Communists at the San Francisco Conference, have also been omitted.

From all this, there is the appearance of some kind of purge, the old bolsheviks being pushed out by the younger generation. How effectively this is done in Communist countries may be witnessed at the play "Darkness at Noon," now being given at a Broadway theater. This play is an excellent portrayal of the Communist mind in any country.

Hans Wagner, the immortal Pittsburgh shortstop, is probably the all-time outstanding star of the National League (Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth share the honors in the junior major loop.) How hard could Wagner hit a baseball? Well, Poll Perritt, who pitched against him one day for the Giants, swears that Hans rifled a fast ball back at him with such force that it shot under his arm—and out over the centerfield fence!

Architect Addison Mizner was no mean hand at coining epigrams in his spare time. Here are a few of his better ones: "Some people's genius lies in giving infinite pains"; "Where there's a will, there's a lawsuit"; "It's a strong stomach that has no turning"; "A jade may be either a semi-precious stone or a semi-precious woman"; "Don't talk about yourself; it will be done when you leave.

NATIONALIST Chinese in Formosa, fearing a Red invasion in the next few weeks, have been stockpiling 150,000 tons of rice . . . If and when Chinese Reds do invade, the Nationalists wouldn't be surprised if they used the same methods they did in Korea—infiltrating troops disguised as civilians.

A bombshell has exploded over the decision acquitting Harry Russell, Chicago and Miami gambler . . . Russell was on trial for contempt of Congress . . . He had flatly refused to answer many questions for the Kefauver Crime Committee . . . Judge Letts ruled that Harry Russell need not have answered questions before the committee . . . That he had a perfect right to refuse on the grounds of possible self incrimination . . . Legal-eagles seem to think Judge Letts' ruling will affect all Congressional hearings in the future, including those on communism.

FLASH-BACKS - - -

Little American flags made in occupied Japan stuck in everybody's hair . . . J. Willard Marriott, owner of The Hot Shoppes, had put the flags in the chicken box suppers he donated for the giant GOP rally . . . Friendly, fat and 40, Mrs. Joe Farrington, president of GOP Clubwomen, losing her place in her speech. Finally, she had to laugh, and get our her glasses to continue . . . Republicans from every state in the union waving handkerchiefs . . . Mrs. Blair Childs, from California, sitting down on the floor of the huge arena to applaud Les Arends, congressman from Illinois, who made one of the best speeches of the evening . . . Mrs. James Kem, leaning forward with tears in her eyes to hear the Senator from Missouri—her husband! He turned more than one apt phrase like: "We resist aggression abroad—why allow corruption at home?" . . . Scotch bagpipers, beautifully rehearsed and costumed, marching slowly, playing their melancholy strains, as well as any in Scotland. . . .

Mrs. Owen Brewster, tucking away chicken, cake, candies, potato sticks, dill pickle, hot dog, coffe, coke, and ice-cream. "I'm a conventioneer from 'way back," she said happily! . . . Senator Joe McCarthy, eating two dinners: one downtown—before gobbling the box supper, with Senator Taft and other biggies.

Irishmen, Scotchmen, Negroes, Chinese and Indians—all under one roof, for one party . . . Whooping it up, a band of Sioux Indians here from the Pine Ridge, South Dakota reservation . . . Spokesman for the group, tanned, tall and lanky Dave Miller, has lived with the Sioux for almost 17 years. He has painted Indians in their natural surroundings and become an authority on their customs and folklore . . . Mrs. Black Elk sat eating her GOP fried chicken, while her husband, Chief Black Elk, told of their exploits on a nationwide tour for Universal Pictures.

In almost perfect English, the Chief explained, "We Indians must be ambassadors. We are always trying to help our own people back home."

When asked whether he was going to vote Democratic or Republican in '52, Black Elk said diplomatically, "We hope that if the Republicans are elected, they will do more than the Democrats have only promised to do."

Mrs. Black Elk entered the conversation only once . . . When Chief Black Elk said she was 49, Mrs. Elk shook her head and said, "48." She didn't look a day over 50.

Meanwhile, Chief American Horse proudly was showing off Mrs. American Horse's beaded blouse. . . He said it had taken his spouse about six months to form the Indian designs with millions of beads.

"She best beader in world. No wear glasses, either," he added.

Speaking of eye glasses, Indians rarely need them, nor do they go in for false teeth.

Black Elk explained that, "The older Indians have better even than us. You should se them. They ate what the earth gave them—wild turnips and wild fruit, and they chewed their meat apart from one piece. It toughened them and their teeth. The old Indians drank buffalo soup, that's why."

Busted traffic lights all the way from Uline Arena to duPont Circle slowing up homeward-bound traffic. . . "A Democratic plot," cussed many drivers . . . Stately greyhead, Miss Ruth Thompson, lady representative from Michigan, getting her first smack of a Washington traffic jam . . . Several hundred cars were crowded into a parking lot ordinarily accommodating half that many . . . After surveying the situation for a few moments, the former judge from Michigan got into her car, and expertly eased herself out of a space with only about two inches to spare on either side. The parking lot attendant held his breath while Miss Thompson maneuvered the extrication . . . Admiringly, he beamed, "Lady, your husband oughta' be proud of you."

NEW YORK (INS)—THE PASSING SHOW—

The most pleasant and courageous men I ever met in show business. And the least self-conscious of his own considerable fame and least jealous of the even greater fame of others.

Rabbi Julius Mark stressed this latter aspect of Eddy's life in his touching remarks near the flag-draped bier of his Navy buddy. Chaplain Mary had never heard him utter a word of envy of anyone else, a great epitaph for any showman, and neither had any of those who came to pay their last respects to the brilliant and wonderful guy.

When Duchin entered the Navy early in 1942 he was immediately seized by a social admiral who assumed that the pianist-conductor would be happy to spend the war playing at brass parties at Great Lakes. Eddy had genuine difficulty convincing the admiral that he was in the Navy to fight a war.

Finally the admiral asked him why, and Duchin answered, "Sir, one of these years my kid is going to climb up on my knee and say 'Daddy, what did you do in the big war-' And I don't want to have to tell him I played a piano."

Eddy went on to a real tough war, filled with combat landings from Iwo Jima to Normandy, the sinking of his ships, and the terrible pressing of his luck.

"Funny thing," he laughed not long ago, when recalling the story. "The kid never asked me what I did."

The man fought his leukemia for the menacing beast it is. It cornered him in the prime of his life and he fought back with quiet courage that brought a lump to the throats of his friends but never to Eddy's own throat. No doctors, no hospital, ever had a more resolute patient.

Eddy tried everything. He ran the gamut of the wonder drugs, willingly offering his veins so that others—if not he—might live because of what he was contributing. At the end, barely alive under his oxygen tent, he was ready to try P.V.P., the new synthetic blood plasma.

The Navy gave him a decoration for valor a few hours before he died, but he never saw it. It sat on a table at Averell Harriman's house the other night, after his death. A few of his best friends had gathered with the inspiringly courageous widow. The decoration, fine as it is, was just another medal. In their hearts those friends and countless others had pinned medals on Eddy for years.

Whether you know it or not you're being repeatedly defended against "enemy" bomber attack these nights. B-36s, B-29s and B-50s, posing as a menacing air force, have been making numerous raids on many of the major and minor cities of the country, and are being met at great altitudes by jet fighters in mock battles.

At one airfield—Elgin, in Florida—jet pilots are on 24-hour alert in all kinds of weather, and have warded off enough potential mayhem to wipe that section of the state off the map.

Did you get a load of the language the Egyptian cabinet used in announcing the betrothal of King Fat-Boy Farouk to his new girl? The cabinet said, in effect, that it was one of those "made in heaven" romances.

Hamburger heaven?

Years ago there was a play named "The Ladder" which was kept alive on Broadway by its devoted angel for many months after people would not permit themselves to be pushed into the theater at gun-point.

"The Ladder" has an aeronautical counterpart in Howard Hughes' 200-ton plywood flying boat the "Hercules," subject of that congressional investigation of 1947. Hughes is now suing the RFC for $2,000,000 for money which he says it promised him to help build the plane—which has eight engines, a wing longer than a football field, and an altitude record of about three feet.

The plane, begun in 1942, has now cost the government and Hughes about $35,000,000, and Hughes is still spending $300,000 a month trying to complete the hopelessly obsolete monster. In the meantime the RFC is as uncomfortable as an oyster with a square pearl.

PIN-WORMS GO! Jayne's P-W Gets Real Results

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Yugoslavia Still Walks In Middle Of Political Road

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Yugoslavia is still walking down the middle of the world political road, at bitter odds with Russia and cockily independent toward the free West.

Yugoslavs are eating the first instalment of American food and getting other western aid today—and more is promised—but Yugoslavia's policy of no-surrender to either camp hasn't changed.

In one testing-place, the United Nations, the Yugoslavs recently have voted either with the U. S. and the free West or against them. Often they have not voted for either side.

They claim they have the true Communist religion and the rest of the Soviet bloc distorts it. U. N. ballots find them voting the same way the Russians do on many questions.

But no longer is there a slavish "me-too" position for the Russian stand as there was before the Cominform block expelled Premier Marshal Tito nearly three years ago.

The Yugoslaves now even take oral swings at Russian and bloc pressure in attacks that bring Russian cries of "slander"—just as if Yugoslavia were a western nation.

Yugoslavia didn't go along with the West on naming China guilty of aggression in Korea early this month. It was adopted 44-7, the Russian block its chief opponents. The Yugoslavs abstained. They wanted the emphasis put on another attempt to get the war stopped. Negativeness on China—and on the whole Korean question—was seen as an attempt to preserve neutrality for mediation.

Last November, when he was Security Council president, Bebler lashed out at the Chinese Communists after the speech by Communist General Wu, who denounced the U. N., the U. S., the West, and Nationalist China. Bebler said Communist China not only encouraged the North Koreans but were then helping them with men and arms, and said a would-be U. N. member should not act like that.

During the Russian boycott of the Security Council in 1950, Bebler was one of the first to demand that the Chinese Communists be seated in the U. N., on the grounds that they are the effective government in China.

He also supported having both North and South Koreans here for talks with the Security Council, as well as the Red Chinese, although he and his government came later to agree that the North Koreans were the aggressors.

Many in the U. N. do not agree with the Yugoslavs' refusal to go to the end of the line with the nations they'll have to get help from if Russia tries to crush Tito. But they make these points:

The Tito brand of nationalism has to try for a position of leadership in the Communist world.

It tried to get across to the Red Chinese and the Korean Communists that the Russians were not their only friends in the U. N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

The map is one of a series of charts published by the party's culture and propaganda section with the help of the State Geographical and Cartographical Institute. It is selling well in Prague book stores.

Small red squares indicate the strikes deemed significant occurred in 44 cities in Britain, France, Italy, Spain, Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia, Greece and Finland.

Small red circles denote 33 ports where workers are said to have refused to unload arms shipments, presumably from the United States. Fourteen of these are in France or French North Africa, six in Italy, others in Britain, the Low Countries, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Large red numerals tab Italy as the scene of two general strikes and France, French Morocco and internationally-controlled Trieste as the scene of one general work stoppage.

Other maps show the numbers of people claimed to have signed the Stockholm declaration against the atom bomb on the various continents and in individual European countries prior to last October's World Peace Congress in Warsaw.

The incomplete total of signers figures out at 467,867,098. Some of the returns are downright sensational. For instance, more than 20 million signers are shown for Eastern Germany. A 1946 census (reported in the 1950 Statesman Year Book) listed only 20,513,762 people in that entire area—with Berlin included.

Square Dance Figure Caller Class Planned

Have you ever attended a square dance and marveled at the rhythmic sing-song of the caller as he directs the dancers through their gyrations and figures?

The City Recreation Department will sponsor a six-week course for square dance figure callers from February 22 to March 29.

Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, will be the instructor at the classes scheduled each Thursday from 7:30 to 10 p. m. at a site to be selected.

He said that veteran district callers will also attend as guest instructors.

Registration Urged

Hoey reminded those interested that the class will be limited to 32 callers, and urged early registration at the City Recreation Department office in the City Hall.

The course will also be open to persons wishing to learn square dancing. In addition to dancing, this group will serve as practice units for the callers.

One lesson will have to do with the "Do's and Don'ts of Square Dancing." Another will be on the "Do's and Don'ts in Calling and Teaching Dancing."

Building Permits Hit $96,760 Mark

Of the 18 permits granted, six were for new construction at an estimated cost of $75,200 and 12 for additions and improvements, $21,560. The new construction included four homes.

This compared with a total estimated expenditure of $31,700 in January, 1950 when 12 permits were issued. These included six each for new construction and additions and improvements.

In December, 1950, five permits were granted with an estimated expenditure of $31,000, including two for new construction and three for additions and improvements.

Fire Damages Building

Hearing Is Held By Liquor Board

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board heard testimony yesterday in a remonstrance against issuance of a Class B beer and wine permit to Henry J. Schoenadel for the Fairgo Cafe.

After testimony by more than 20 witnesses the board reserved its decision until later.

A remonstrance was filed several weeks ago against issuance of the permit by residents of the immediate neighborhood. They contend that there are three establishments in the area which have beer licenses and the Fairgo Cafe poses a problem due to the large number of children which live in the neighborhood.

Naval Reserve Seeks Officer Candidates

The Navy is accepting applications for enlisted male and female personnel in the volunteer and organized reserve for its 1951 summer reserve officer candidate program.

Established to provide a continuing flow of reserve officer material, the program is restricted to college students. It is designed primarily to procure officers who may qualify eventually for commissions in the general line category, including aviation and specialists.

Training of 1,250 male reserve officer candidates will be at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport Rhode Island, and the U. S. Naval Station, San Diego, Calif. A school has been established at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., for 160 female officer candidates.

Courses will be six weeks long and male candidates will normally be ordered to the training center nearest their home or college address. Applicants must be able to complete the required two summer training periods not later than the summer subsequent to graduation.

To qualify for the reserve officer candidate program, both male and female applicants must be enrolled in accredited college or university and in good scholastic standing. Male applicants must be at least 17 years of age and female applicants at least 18. Applicants over 27 will not be accepted. Students pursuing theological, medical or dental courses, or courses leading to a commission in the Medical Service Corps are not eligible for this program.

Gonder Hearing Set For Today

A hearing will be held this afternoon at Annapolis before the Senate Elections Committee on the petition of Bernard I. Gonder, Democratic candidate for state senator from Garrett county, for a recount of the ballots in the November general election.

Gonder lost out by one vote to State Senator Neil C. Fraley, also of Oakland.

Counsel for Gonder will be Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., local attorneys, while Fraley will be represented by Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorney.

Gonder demanded a recount after charging Fraley with "irregularities" in his one-vote victory in November's general election. Gonder polled 3,079 votes, Fraley received 2,080.

Fraley was the incumbent. Gonder, who was Garrett county senator from 1943 to to 1946, contended election officials had been guilty of "inaccuracy" rather than "fraud." He contended some of the ballots counted were improperly marked and an election judge had left his post before the count was finished without appointing a substitute.

The actual counting would be done in Annapolis and the committee will designate some state official, possibly the Senate sergeant at arms, to go to Garrett county and deliver the ballots to the State House.

The decision of the Senate will be final.

IS THAT A FACT! by Ches Peake

12 YEARS BEFORE THE PILGRIMS LANDED. The first glass factory in America was set up one mile from Jamestown, Va., in 1608. From this factory came the first bottle blown in America. Bottles made in this factory became the first manufactured product exported from this country. The factory was destroyed in 1622 by Indians who massacred the inhabitants of Jamestown.

HE CARRIED WAR UNDERWATER. In 1777, David Bushnell built the first submarine for military purposes. It was called the "American Turtle." The submarine carried a one-man crew. The operator could cause it to submerge and rise by pumping water in and out. The "American Turtle" was not a military success, although it nearly sank the English warship "Eagle" in New York harbor during the Revolutionary War.

Business Travel-Expense Deductions Cut Your Tax

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Many persons reduce their taxes by deducting expenses or travel on business or their employer.

You can claim out-o-town business travel expenses and in addition take non-business deductions either taking the standard allowance, amounting to 10 per cent of your income, or itemizing your non-business deductions and taking the total of those items.

Business travel expenses are subtracted from your gross income to get adjusted gross income. You list travel expenses on a separate sheet of paper and fasten it securely to form 1040.

You can claim trevel-expense deductions on either short form 1040 or long form 1040. There is no place for travel deductions on form 1040-A the simplified yellow sheet.

The cost of lodging and meals can be deducted along with railroad, airplane, bus and steamship fares. You also can deduct taxi fares, cost of baggage transfer and storage, porter charges and tips in reasonable amounts.

You can deduct the cost of business travel by auto, such as gasoline, oil, car repairs, garage rent. Other necessary auto operation and upkeep expenditures are deductible.

If you have auto or other transportation expense in connection with work within your home town, they can be itemized among "miscellaneous" deductions on Page 3, form 1040. If you itemize such deductions you cannot take the standard 10 per cent allowance because that would be repeating your deduction allowance.

Some workers can deduct "reimbursed expenses" along with business travel expenses. They are workers whose employers include expense money allowances as part of employes' salary or wages when they report employes' income to the government.

In that case "reimbursed expenses" are subtracted fro mthe total income reported. That's done to prevent tax being levied on money hich went to pay business expenses.

Business and professional men, of course, can deduct the expense of travel on business away from home. The deductions are limited to expenses which are ordinary and necessary.

If a business man makes a trip from which re returns by the end of the same day, hei snot considered as traveling away from home. In that case, the cost of transportation can de deducted as a ordinary business expense, but the cost of meals cannot.

The cost of transportation between your home and your regular place of business or employment is not deductible.

You cannot deduct the cost of travel from one city to another to seek employment or to take another job. However, you can deduct the cost of travel to another city to look after rental property and royalties.

A business man who is called upon to make trips to Washington to give advice to the government can deduct the full expenses of such travel.

Tot Who Lost Eyes Due To Cancer Is Learning To Live In Darkness

LITTLE STURGEON, Wis. — (INS)—A two-year-old girl, whose parents had to choose between blindness or death for her, is learning to live in darkness at her farm home near Little Sturgeon, Wis.

Mary Joe May had both eyes removed two weeks ago at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., after physicians told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard May, that the child would die of cancer unless the eyes were removed.

Today, Mary Joe has recovered completely from the operation and is in excellent health.

She has recovered her normal happy spirits, too, since that heart-rending moment when the bandages were removed and she sobbed to her mother:

Mary Joe has learned to dress herself and to play with her brothers and sister, Donny, 7; Darwin, 10, and Diana, five months.

Mr. and Mrs. May first consulted an eye specialist about Mary Joe after they read newspaper accounts of Carolyn Purcell, the little Georgia girl who was believed to be suffering from cancer of the eyes.

The Mays noted that Mary Joe's eyes had a glassy look.

Unlike the Purcell child, whom Mayo physicians found was not a victim of cancer, Mary Joe was examined at the Rochester clinic and the diagnosis confirmed.

The physicians said cancer had nearly blinded one eye and badly damaged the other.

Street Flushing Plan Impractical

Suggestions that the Fire Department clean streets by flushing with water is not considered practical because of damage caused by the lack of capacity of sewers to carry off the water.

In many instances the combination sanitary and storm sewers are not large enough to take care of the overflow, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, Commissioner of Streets and public property.

The practice of flushing streets was tried here some time ago with dire results when overflow occurred, the commissioner added.

Mrs. Roeder is of the opinion that when sewers were first installed they were constructed too small. When the chance comes to remedy the situation, the sewers are enlarged, looking to future development, she said. The latest was on Valley Street when the ground was opened for the flood control project.

Discussing streets, Mrs Roeder said the flood control project has added to their problems of maintenance but she pointed out that a project will occur only once, indicating that street conditions are only temporary.

The Street Department is working on several bad places, Mrs. Roeder said, but work on others is delayed because water from the ice and snow remains in the holes.

LaMotta Will Fast 21 Hours To Make Weight For Title Bout

Champion Must Weigh 160 Or Less Or Forfeit Crown

Robinson Installed 3-1 Favorite In 15 Rounder At Chicago

By KEN OPSTEIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (INS)—Hungry Jake LaMotta began a 21-hour fight against food today so that he may fight against Sugar Ray Robinson tomorrow night in a 15-round middleweight championship bout at the Chicago Stadium.

The middleweight king started his fast at one o'clock and will neither eat nor drink until after tomorrow's 10 a. m. weighing. He will forfeit his title on the scales if he is unable to make 160 pounds or less.

Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois Athletic Commission said the sledge-hammer slugger from the Bronx would be given until noon to trim off any suet should he be overweight at 10 a. m.

Triner stated the fight would "go on at the regular time even if LaMotta is too heavy." Triner explained that in such an event the championship would go to Robinson no matter if LaMotta won in the ring.

Scored KO After Fast

Jake conducted a similar fast before his title defense against Laurent Dauthuille in Detroit on Sept. 13, 1950. LaMotta scaled 159½ against the Frenchman. The champ drank a pitcher of orange juice immediately after the weighing in the Motor City, went to a restaurant and ate a half dozen eggs and returned that evening to score a 15th round knockout.

Tale Of The Tape

| Ray Robinson | | Jake LaMotta |
|---|---|---|
| 29 | Age | 29 |
| *155 | Weight | *159½ |
| 5-11 | Height | 5-8 |
| 72½ | Reach | 67 |
| 36½ | Chest (normal) | 42 |
| 38 | Chest (expanded) | 45 |
| 28½ | Waist | 33 |
| 19¾ | Thigh | 23 |
| 13¾ | Calf | 13½ |
| 11¾ | Biceps | 13½ |
| 10¾ | Forearm | 12 |
| 15 | Neck | 16 |

* Estimated.

He has not been in a gymnasium since Friday. His only workouts since that time have been long walks and calisthenics, LaMotta explained:

"My appetite increases when I drill hard. I'm just going to take it easy and rest."

LaMotta has been spending much of his time in the movies. He quipped:

Expects To Make 159½

LaMotta expects to weigh 159½ pounds. He was 176 when he started training seven weeks ago.

Robinson concluded drills Sunday at 152. The 147-pound champion said:

"I should weigh 154 or 155 pounds. I'm glad that this is one fight where I'm the guy who doesn't have to make weight."

Neither boxer would predict a knockout. Robinson said he would be glad to help LaMotta down to the canvas if he hurt him. But the Harlem Slasher added:

"I'm ready to go 15 rounds. I outpointed him four of five other times and I don't know why I can't do it again."

Robinson is a 3 to 1 favorite. But LaMotta thinks the odds should be with him. He says:

"I knocked him down twice. I really should have been the winner in three of our fights."

Predicts Crowd of 15,000

President Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club predicts a crowd of 15,000 will jam the stadium and provide a gate of $200,000. Ticket prices range from $20 at ringside to $5 in the upper tiers.

The bout will be broadcast and televised by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 10 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. Short wave broadcasts to South America and Spain will carry the blow-by blow account. The Voice of America plans to transmit the fight to troops overseas.

More than 250 newspapermen from the United States, France, Italy and South America also will relay their stories to millions of readers.

Five Plead Innocent To Cage Fix Charges

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Two former Manhattan College stars and three other men pleaded innocent today to charges they tried to fix a Madison Square Garden basketball game.

No date was set for their trial on bribery* and conspiracy charges growing out of a purported attempt to fix the Jan. 16 game between Manhattan and DePaul, which Manhattan won.

The defendants include John A. Byrnes, 22, and Henry E. Poppe, 24, stars and co-captains of last year's Manhattan team.

Beall High School spilled Allegany High School at Frostburg, 43-41, Fort Hill marked up its 7th straight victory at the expense of Bruce High School here, 63-24, and Barton tripped Central of Lonaconing at Barton, 51-47, in W. M. I. League contests staged last night.

Coach Ed Finzel's Beall quint tightened its grip on third place by upsetting the Campers in a contest that saw Frank Phares, Allegany's high scoring center, blanked from the field by Bill Hawkins, and Willetts' Duncan's fielder in the closing seconds of play broke a 41-41 deadlock on a lay-up after Dick McClintock stole the ball from an AHS player.

The game was close all the way, Allegany leading at the quarter and half, 12-11 and 25-23 while the Campers held a 33-32 edge at the third stanza closed. Beall lost Arnone, Workman and Blank on personal fouls.

Sentinels Bag 16th

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's cagers collected 27 field goals while limiting the visitors to 10. George McGregor and Schley Lyons, who replaced the injured Ronnie Cage, paced the Sentinels in scoring with 15 and 12 tallies. Lynn Beightol helped the cause with nine points. Bruce waived 14 personal fouls by taking the ball out of bounds each time. Fort Hill held a 24-9 lead at intermission.

Barton Whips Tigers

Bill Kirk, Arnold Tichnell and Tim Clark with 18, 14 and 13 tallies were the chief scorers for Coach Johnny Thomas's second place team. Kelly was the "big gun" for the Tigers with 20 points to his credit.

Barton's Jayvees edged Central in the preliminary game, 24-22.

"We are awarding you this scroll because we of the police department are proud that you had the courage to report to your coach and school authorities the disgraceful offer of a bribe to throw a college basketball game."

Schools From 21 Counties Enter State Cage Tourney

Inter-District Plans Announced; 3 Allegany Teams Won Last Year

Schools from 21 of the 23 counties will participate in the eliminations that will be climaxed with the crowning of Maryland's public high school Class A, B and C basketball champions at the University of Maryland on St. Patrick's Day, according to announcement by Crescent J. Bride, chairman of the state tournament committee.

Allegany county schools annexed all three titles last year when Allegany High won "A" honors, Central High of Lonaconing was tops in "B" and Barton High School was the class of the "C" schools. Barton is a sure shot to represent Allegany County in the Class C competition again because the Braves are the only school in that class playing basketball in the county. Central looks like a repeater because the Tigers appear to be much superior to Bruce High, the other "B" school. There are three "A" schools in the county—Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill—and the last named is out in front in that race now.

Counties Participating

The following counties are participating:

DISTRICT I—Classes A, B and C—Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington.

All games within any county to determine the county champion in each of the three classes must be completed on or before March 2.

All inter-county games within any district to determine the district champion in each of the three classes must be completed on, or before March 10.

Inter-District Dates

The inter-district tournament schedule:

CLASS A:
District 3 at 5, March 9, 10 or 13. District 2 at 1, March 9, 10 or 13. Winners meet at College Park, March 17 at 8 p. m.

CLASS B:
District 4 at 5, March 9 or 10 with winner playing District 3 in one semi-final March 13 or 14. In other semi-final District 2 at 1, March 9, 10, 13 or 14. Finalists meet at College Park, March 17 at 7 p. m.

CLASS C:
District 5 at 4, March 9 or 10. Winner plays District 3 in one semi-final on Eastern Shore, March 13 or 14. In other semi-final, District 1 plays at 2, March 9, 10, 13 or 14. Finalists meet at College Park March 17 at 3:30 p. m.

The only counties not participating this year are Baltimore and Kent.

To Meet Here Feb. 24

Arthur G. Ramey, of the Allegany County Board of Education, yesterday announced that Warren Evans, of Frederick, district chairman, has called a meeting of representatives of Class A, B and C schools of District No. 1, comprising Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties for Saturday, Feb. 24 at 10 a. m. at the county board of education building here. Plans will be formulated for inter-county contests at that session.

Allegany county teams won the following games last fall to earn state honors:

CLASS B: Lonaconing 5, Gransville 22 (Frostburg); Lonaconing 47, Middletown 27 (Frostburg); Lonaconing 52, Gaithersburg 27 (Takoma Park); Lonaconing 50, Elkton 37 (College Park).

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (INS)—Some of our leading economists in the stock market have listed Sugar Ray Robinson at 3 to 1 or better to lift the middleweight crown off Jake LaMotta's corrugated dome in Chicago tomorrow night.

These figures seem to be a little out of line, but the Sock Market specialists are rarely caught napping in their estimates and so we are inclined to string along with them.

On past performances you would have to pick Robinson to win the 15-round battle. The records show that Ray has beaten Jake in four of their five previous fights while giving away as much as 16 ponuds and a beating.

The weight spread will not be more than five pounds in this Valentine number because Jake must make the 160-pound class limit and because Robinson can hardly get under 154 without losing a leg.

Let's take a look at the pros and cons. Robinson has been fighting steadily while Jake has been idling, and a busy fighter always figures to have something on a rusty one.

Robinson is faster both with feet and hands. He hits harder and more often and he is immeasurably the cleverer boxer. And he always has taken a punch about as well as Jake.

Stated coldly like this, it would appear that Robinson is a lead pipe cinch to win.

But it is not quite as simple as it appears on paper. Jake is by no means a cream puff puncher. When he is levelling—and you may be reasonably sure he will be levelling in a title fight—he can punch hard enough to bring home the bacon if he connects.

We recall one of the Robinson-LaMotta fights where Jake had Ray on the ropes and ready for the cleaners when a welcome bell came to Ray's rescue. It could happen again.

Jake has been virtually indestructible in all his fights. Oh yes, we know about the time Billy Fox, an absolute paluka, stopped him in four rounds. But we also know that was "one of those things," as they say in the fight racket.

We never met any champion who was more proud of his title than Jake is. Before he won the title, Jake was just another guy in the fight racket. Now he hears "hello champ" everywhere he goes and he loves it.

Never let anybody tell you that Jake is a chump. He knows all the angles in this unsavory racket. He knows how to make money and, what's more important and more unusual for a fighter, he knows how to keep it as well as Robinson. And the fight racket never has produced a better business man than Robinson.

Jake admits Robinson is a great fighter but he always has insisted that he has just the right style to beat the welter champion. Perhaps he has.

Jake undoubtedly has gone back a lot. How far only this fight can decide.

In any event, it should be a rough party.

State Racing Commission Abolishes Receiving Barn

Drug Detection Tests Have Been Conducted Since Fall Of 1946

Horse owners and trainers have smarted under the receiving barn regulations ever since they were introduced in the fall of 1946 at Laurel.

Horses had to be in the isolated receiving barn two hours before post time. They were given a saliva test for the detection of drugs and carefully guarded against last minute injections.

Horsemen doubted the effectiveness of the pre-race saliva test. There have been several cases recently in which horses passed it and were found later to have a drug in their systems.

The Racing Commission said it would substitute more comprehensive post-race urine tests for the receiving barn. All the winners will be tested.

Something resembling the receiving barn still will be used. It is called a "reception paddock." Horses will be brought there 45 minutes before post time. There will be no saliva test. At 25 minutes before post time, the horses will be transferred to the regular paddock.

Pen-Mar League Meets Sunday

The Pen-Mar Baseball League will meet Sunday, February 18 at 2 o'clock at the Frostburg VFW Home, it was announced yesterday by Kenneth Robertson, secretary.

All teams that were in the league last season and any new teams interested in joining the loop are urged to be present.

Baugh Signs With 'Skins

Sammy To Play 15th Season Of Pro Ball

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sam Baugh, the record-setter, sent in his contract to the Washington Redskins today for his 15th year in pro football, thereby setting the stage for another record.

Baugh's passing already has accounted for 17 national football league records. Now he's setting marks merely by hanging around.

For as Baugh goes into his 15th year, he will become the only player to stay with one club that long. Mel Hein, the durable center, put in 14 years with the New York Giants, a record Baugh has tied and will better next season.

Johnny Blood played in the league longer than anyone, 15 years. But he worked for Milwaukee, Green Bay and Pittsburgh. Baugh always has been a Redskin.

Ironically, Baugh's contract arrived the same day that Sid Luckman announced he's quitting after 12 years as an active player with the Chicago Bears.

But they know they have a certain record-setter, even though he now shares the passing chores with Harry Gilmer of Alabama.

For practically every time Baugh touches a football it's a record. He's thrown more passes — 2,829. He's completed the most—1,622. He's gained the most yards—20,782, or more than 11 miles. More Baugh passes have been caught for touchdowns—178. His lifetime completion average—.575—is a record.

Hens Buy Slugger

Babe Is Honored

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias, who broke the women's competitive golf record for 72 holes last month, today was named January winner of the Hickok professional athlete of the month award.

Babe shot a 288, three strokes better than the record, to win the Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Carver Plays Friday

Carver High School will play its next game with Ramer Memorial High School of Martinsburg, W. Va., on Friday night at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

LuckmanEnds Playing Days With Chicago

Bears Appoint Sid To Vice Presidency

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP) — Sid Luckman—eulogized as the greatest T formation football quarterback by such gents as George Halas, Frank Leahy, Johnny Lujack and Bob Williams — today ended his 12-year playing career with the Chicago Bears and became a vice president of the club.

The Bears thus became runner-up to the First National Bank of Chicago in the number of vice presidents on hand. The bank has nearly 50. The Bears have at least four officially—Luckman; technical advisor Clark Shaughnessy, the gridiron nomad appointed last week; assistant Bear coach Luke Johnsos and old-timer Jim Mc Millen, former Bear guard and now mayor of suburban Antioch and a pro wrestler.

Owner-coach Halas of the Bears today announced Luckman's finish as a player. Williams, the Notre Dame All-America quarterback, and the Bears' first draft choice this season, was there as well as Bear quarterback Lujack and Leahy, the Irish coach.

Williams said that come April he would decide whether to enter the air cadets, the navy, or take his chance on being drafted by Uncle Sam.

Halas, in a nice speech, left no doubt that Williams would be welcomed by the Bears no matter what interiude there may be.

Luckman, 34, has been sliding toward retirement the last two years. The former Columbia great was voted the National Football League's most valuable player in 1943.

He said that several years ago he turned down the coaching job at the University of Miami, Fla., and also shunned "open" offers as assistant at Columbia to remain with the Bears.

He will be a scout and backfield instructor as well as vice president of Halas' club. He wants to remain in Chicago where he operates an automobile agency and is an executive for a television concern.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (INS)—Autobahn, the famous road Hitler built to facilitate movement of his storm troopers, is the actual locale of a story of the same name which Dore Schary will bring to the screen in the summer.

The excitement centers around a lieutenant in the air force with a yen to travel, so he joins up with a band of smuggles and operates his nefarious black market business all over Europe. Wherever he goes the actual scenes will be photographed, which means, of course, an M-G-M company will be sent to Europe. Producer Richard Goldstone has, so far, chosen Van Johnson, and the rest of the cast will be composed mostly of young players at M-G-M, such as Marshall Thompson, Keefe Brasselle, etc.

The old Ring Lardner play, "June Moon," which George Kaufman produced on Broadway in 1929, is being remade as a musical by Paramount. Years ago it was filmed with Jack Okie in the lead, when Jack was younger and thinner.

The 1951 cast is Bill Holden, Jimmy Durante and Jan Sterling. Robert Welch has been named as producer.

The story, as I remember it, is about a starry-eyed song writer who goes to New York and becomes famous writing corny tunes.

Recently, Howard Hawks and Eddie Lasker bought the screen rights to this novel which appeared serially last year. It's the story of a captured American aviator in China, who poses as a priest in order to escape from a Chinese warlord.

This won't be the first time Faulkner has worked with Hawks. He adapted "The Big Sleep" and "To Have and Have Not" for him.

It was not my intention, nor the intention of Joan Fontaine, whom I interviewed for a magazine story, to embarrass William Dozier, her former husband. I am sorry if a false impression was created that he did not contribute to the upkeep of their home during their marriage.

Neither was there any intention on my part, through innuendo or actual statement, to say that he forced Joan to work in a motion picture and remain active while she was expecting a baby, because of financial necessity. He says his contract with Universal-International didn't expire until a year after this particular picture was made.

Merle Oberon talked with Sir Alexander Korda over long distance and he tells her that although he has been ill for six weeks he is improving. He has had a fever every day. Although Merle and Alex are divorced, they remain excellent friends.

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, who are being named in a suit by Jimmy Durante, say it's not their fault that "That's My Boy" is the title on their picture. They are just working for Hal Wallis who titled it.

Vic Damone sang song after song at the dinner Rosalind and Henry Rogers gave honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sammis of Photoplay magazine, and Charles Saxon of Modern Screen. Then Vic took off for Palm Springs. He has a real case on 17-year-old Joan Benny, Jack's and Mary's pretty debutante daughter.

Jane Wyman, escorted by Greg Bautzer, gave us "Sunny Side Of The Street," and she is getting better all the time. She looked so pretty, too.

Kirk Douglas and Irene Wrightsman McEvoy, who never sit farther apart than they can help, were good listeners. Kirk was being urged to sing.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WAR'S DESTRUCTION like this rubble in the city of Anyang greets the United Nations troops of Lt. General Matthew B. Ridgway on all sides, as they roll back into the Seoul-Inchon area. ## Safety Record Pleases Mines Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — James Boyd, director of the Bureau of Mines, has expressed satisfaction over the reduction in coal mine accidents but said that the conditions which have caused "great disasters" still exist in some mines.

Boyd's remarks were contained in the annual report by Interior Secretary Chapman to President Truman. The report is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950.

The problem of mine accidents "still demands unremitting effort," Boyd said. He added that the bureau proposes to continue its attack by a threefold method that has "proved effective" in the past:

1. Research and investigations to intensify hazards and find ways of counteracting them; 2. Education and training to spread the knowledge gained throughout the industry, and, 3. Inspections to learn the specific hazards present in individual coal mines and prtvide a factual basis for specific corrective recommendations.

Boyd said that it was a source of "satisfaction" that 1949 was the first full calendar year in the statistical history of American coal mining to pass without a major disaster—defined as one causing five or more fatalities.

When his report was written, in mid-August of 1950, Boyd said there had not been a major coal mine disaster since Nov. 4, 1948.

The bureau was established in 1910 after a series of coal mine explosions taking "thousands of lives," Boyd said.

He added:

"It is interesting to compare the coal-mine fatality record of 1910, when 2,821 miners lost their lives and the death rate was 2.02 per million man-hours of exposure, with that of 1949, when accidental deaths of coal miners totaled 593 and the death rate per million man-hours was 0.96."

Boyd said, however, that it is not possible to be "complacent" over the death of 593 men a year in a single industry, "although the figure represents notable safety progress."

The bureau Boyd said, intensified its studies during the year of methods of protecting miners against falls of rock and coal, the nidustry's number one hazard. At the same time, he said, the bureau prepared for a "contemplated concentration upon the problem presented by haulage hazards."

Daskal Receives $3,000 Settlement

KEYSER, W. Va. — A Mineral county Circuit Court jury awarded James Daskal $3,000 in his $15,000 damage suit against the Schriver Company, Inc., of Cumberland, Monday.

The News account yesterday incorrectly listed the amount as $300. This was one of four suits which were settled Monday as a result of the same accident last summer. The total amount involved in the settlement was $11,000 and not $8,300, as was reported yesterday.

Auroral "curtains" are the strangest and most impressive of all the forms of northern and southern lights.

Hearts and Cravats

VALENTINE MEMO: Leave this paragraph where your best girl will see it. . . . For February 14 Ed Herlihy of NBC fame is given a gift tie package by his wife (left). It contains a cravat for sportswear, one for dress and one for business. . . . Another timely item—the "Ace of Hearts" lovers-knot tie clasp and cuff links in a special package.

Dress Tips: You can get powder off your shirt by rubbing lightly with toilet water. . . . In this weather, carry an extra handkerchief in your overcoat pocket to avoid doing a strip tease when you need one.

Handyman: When gluing pieces of wood together, press a few shreds of steel wool between them. They prevent slipping and make a better bond. . . . If shoe polish is dried out, you can soften it with a few drops of turpentine.

Progress: Here's another report on the "Stag Lines" campaign to keep men's hats on in elevators. A big store reprinted in three daily papers the whole paragraph from our column—and declared itself all for the idea.

Packing: Next time you travel, pack ties in a magazine. First, fold ties over center pages (left). Then close magazine (right) and pack flat. Protected thus, ties will not get creased.

Food and Drink: Try this for dessert some time: Sliced orange, grapefruit and pineapple served in a bowl of hot champagne or sparkling Burgundy. . . . The Flying Saucer cocktail: One-third aquavit, two-thirds vodka and a dash of Cointreau. Serve no more than two to a guest!

Sensational

Hair Line: Balladeer Burl Ives, who wears one, predicts beards'll come back in style. Claims the ladies like 'em. . . . We look for new popularity for crew haircuts. Most prominent exponent at the moment is the sensational juvenile in "Call Me Madam"—Russell Nype (right). Fellows getting into uniform go for this style naturally.

Odd Items: Comedian Morey Amsterdam has his change-pockets lined with chamois to prevent wear and tear. . . . Mrs. Arthur Murray reports that the gals will welcome your bow ties—they're smart on blouses. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to Eddie Cantor. Honored for his devotion to humanitarian causes, he said, "I'm only trying to repay my debt to America for what it has done for me. I know I'll never repay it, but I'll keep on trying."

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HOW IS YOUR PARTNER?

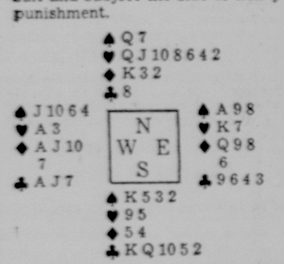
CERTAIN types of bids are smart opposite experienced, sound partners, but highly dangerous opposite one who lacks understanding. If you make one of them when you don't know too much about the chap across the table, you chance getting your side into a barrel of trouble. That applies with considerable force to entering the auction with a high suit bid after you had passed a couple of times. A partner who had been through the wars would know you had nothing except your long suit in a weak hand and would pass regardless of what he had. A neophyte, however, might take you out to his own suit and subject the side to heavy punishment.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

West said after the deal that he was going to pass the 3-Hearts if South had passed, and as the post mortem proceeded the foursome agreed that this contract probably would have been set exactly one trick, costing North and South 50 points. As it was, the 4-Hearts doubled got beaten two tricks, giving East and West 300 points.

North blamed South for the trouble, saying he never should have made that bid of 4-Clubs. South, a not very experienced competitor, explained that he had no fit for his partner's suit, with a bit of something in the two unbid black suits, so that he thought this might uncover a somewhat better chance for the side. North explained then that, after his own preceding two passes, the kind of bid he made at the level of three could not have been on anything except a long suit in a weak hand. South saw the logic of that, though the idea was a bit new to him, but he still felt there was a chance of a club or spade fit which might work out better.

West broke in then by advising South never to bid after such a sequence, but leave it all to North. The latter, however, was to blame for bidding that way without knowing he had a good partner. Incidentally, 4-Clubs, if left in, would have been murdered.

How should South play for 4-Spades here after the club Q lead?

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and relatives for the kindness extended us during our recent bereavement, the death of our father, Charles E. Shumaker. Especially do we thank Rev. G. A. Whitehurst, Rev. J. E. Dettra, the pallbearers, those who donated cars and those who sent floral tributes.
THE CHILDREN.

Estimates $158,000 Can Be Realized

Mayor and City Council took into consideration last night a rough draft pattern for special taxing powers for the city similar to those given to Baltimore County and Baltimore City by act of state legislation.

The special session was held in the Mayor's office at City Hall as council discussed plans to hike the city's revenue.

Economy measures now being taken by the council are expected to save up to $80,000 toward the increased costs of city government. Salary raises have upped costs some $30,000 and other disbursements have used the city treasury's surplus of $150,000.

Populations Compared

In an effort to keep from raising property taxes the council studied the proposed draft and revenues derived by Baltimore County's taxes, based on the population of the county as compared to Cumberland's population.

Baltimore County has a population of 155,825 and obtained monies from taxes on tobacco, liquor, electric, amusement devices and telephones.

According to figures garnered by the city auditor and the mayor during trips to Baltimore the county collected $311,601.62 on tobacco, $139,744.16 on liquor, $24,675.00 on amusement devices, $300,888.08 on electric, and $40,067.10 on telephones.

Anticipate $158,000

With Cumberland's population being approximately one-fourth of Baltimore County the council estimated it could derive $158,000 in taxes from these same sources plus a five per cent occupancy tax on hotels on rooms over $2.

Broken down, the council estimated approximately $50,000 on tobacco, $25,000 on liquor, $6,090 on amusement devices such as claw machines, pinball machines, shuffleboards, etc., $55,000 on gas and electricity, $10,000 on a five per cent commercial consumer telephone tax, and $12,000 on the hotel tax.

The council will decide on the exact bill for the enabling tax powers it will seek to have passed by the state legislature during the present session, but gave indication last night it would like all the included, even if all the taxing powers are not applied.

Legion Seeks Aid For Korean Vets

Legionnaires who attended the meeting of the Fort Cumberland Post 13 last night unanimously approved a proposal to aid discharged veterans of the Korean conflict.

It went on record that all separation centers be notified to the effect that returning servicemen be given as thorough a physical examination upon discharge as they received upon induction.

Also approved was the motions that veterans should be given full information by the centers concerning their rights upon returning to civilian life.

Robert Wilson, membership committee chairman reported that 810 members have been signed up for the current year. The drive has been going on since last October.

The Post Activities Committee headed by Past Commander Howard Spiker is arranging for the Legion Birthday Party, an annual event, which will be held Thursday evening March 15.

Quick Thaw Brings Numerous Complaints

City engineering office and warehouse employes received almost 100 phone calls yesterday as residents complained of mud and travel hazards on the city's unpaved alleys and streets during the balmy weather which has prevailed the past few days.

The pleasant weather has caused a quick thaw which has made passage of automobiles on some streets impossible because of the mud. Most of the complaints were from residents whose cars were stuck and unable to move. Only one call came from a flood project area, engineering employes said.

Second Guesser Column Starts In News Friday

A new feature column "The Old Second Guesser," by John Wheeler, will start Friday as a regular three-times-a-week feature in The Cumberland News.

Mr. Wheeler is not exactly a newcomer to readers of the News since he substituted for Billy Rose when the latter took a 'round the world cruise last summer before deciding to give up his Pitching Horseshoes column.

Loaded with a fund of anecdotes of human interest and humorous stories gathered over many years in the newspaper and syndicate business, Mr. Wheeler's "The Old Second Guesser" is just about as entertaining and easy to read as any column you could hope to find.

Look for it Friday and start reading it regularly every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. You're bound to like it.

Prepare Valentine Party Box

A group of North End Pre-Teen Club members prepare a large Valentine Box for the Valentine Party tonight at 7 o'clock at the North End Field House. The club has 47 members and all children from 8 to 12 years of age are invited to the party which will include music, movies, dutch treat wiener roast and community sing. Preparing the box are Carolyn Yutzy, president of the club, Sarah Elizabeth Geatz, Jane Yutzy, Jeannette Gibbs and Juanita Robinson.

Council Takes No Action On Owens Contract

Hitchcock Seeks Aide's Retention

No action was taken at a special executive session of the Mayor and City Council last night on the disposition of the deputy smoke inspector's one-year contract which expired February 9.

The decision on the renewal of Charles Owens' $250 a month contract as assistant to George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, will be brought up at a future council meeting.

Reason for split of opinions was voiced in part by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, who said:

"I feel that in view of the fact there has been a heavy increase in taxes, and the heavy burden of the emergency, perhaps some of the things not quite as essential for operation of the city government could be dispensed with for the duration."

The commissioner asserted he "did not want to put anybody out of work" but at the same time the matter would bear investigating since it "would mean a saving of about $3,000 and help ease the burden on tax payers during the emergency."

Buchholtz did offer an alternative plan. He said he would be agreeable to renewing Owens' contract until the end of the fiscal year, June 30, since "money has already been appropriated for it." After that date, however, Buchholtz indicated he would vote against renewal.

Mayor Post said that Hitchcock favored the retention of Owens in his present capacity. He has been employed by the city about two years.

Interstate Commission Will Hold Meeting

The Potomac River Basin Interstate Commission will meet Thursday and Friday May 24-25 at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick.

The meeting will feature the work of the advisory Land Committee, which is planning a demonstration of small watershed development, in cooperation with the Monocacy River Watershed Council.

Weather

Area residents braced themselves for the expected sleet and snow predicted for this afternoon and tonight although little indication of the promised cold front was evident last night. Constitution Park weather station reports a high of 65 and a low of 36 yesterday. It was 55 last night at 10 o'clock. Today is to be colder with occasional rain turning to sleet tonight in this section.

Maryland's Natural Beauty Incentive To Tourist Trade

Tourists inquiring about vacationing in Maryland increased 131 per cent during the 1950 fiscal year according to the annual report of the Maryland Department of Information.

Despite this increase, however, John P. Trimmer, director, observed: "One thing is plain: Maryland is failing to get its share of the tourist and vacation trade because funds are too small to do the necessary jobs of promotion."

An increase of 38 per cent in total inquires received by the department was reported. Inquires totaled 8,228 asking for 13,805 different items of information.

The report said the total was no doubt lessened by the fact that Maryland materials were distributed directly to the schools.

During the year the department emphasized tourist and vacation attractions in Maryland including salt water fishing. In addition, it made available to Marylanders many pamphlets and folders to help them discover and enjoy recreation offered by the state.

In discussing the Maryland tourist trade, Trimmer estimated its worth at $50,000,000. Even allowing for error, such as economic value is well ahead of fisheries, forestry, mining and quarrying as a Maryland industry.

"This substantial trade is obtained with a comparatively small amount of advertising and promotion. All the advertising is done privately, and the promotion is done by the state as well as private local groups.

"That the state gets a fair share of the tourist-vacation trade is not due to these efforts. It is due to the marvelous natural advantages that make Maryland one of the finest tourist and vacation lands in the nation. These advantages are the sound basis for our promotion slogan, American in Miniature."

The department observed that sound promotion programs pay dividends, citing the experience of Missouri and Connecticut. In Missouri for every dollar spent on promotion the state business benefited to the tune of $320. In Connecticut the income per dollar spent was $118.

If Maryland promotion were similarly operated, the report said, and took in only $100 for each dollar invested, we would receive approximately $2 in sales tax revenues. This would be in addition to the powerful stimulant of the tourist dollar for the economic life of our state.

Trimmer added: "A sound promotion program including advertising, publicity and servicing inquires and a survey to check results could mean millions of dollars to Maryland.

Strike-Affected Industries Here Nearing Normal

Railroads Report Usual Activity Now

Although all four of Cumberland's principal employers were affected by the recent railroad switchmen's strike in varying degrees, employment at all four is approaching normal, a check last night indicated.

Chester F. Williams, Cumberland Division superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said last night that very few of the B&O laborers here were laid off as a result of the switchmen's strike which sharply curtailed the flow of freight traffic through here.

"Ony about two or three crews had to be laid off," Williams said. "Last weekend the backlog of freight from the western terminals of Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati came through here boosting the freight traffic much above normal, keeping our crews mighty busy, but conditions are just about normal now," he concluded.

Freight Traffic Dropped

Joseph M. Miller, division superintendent here for the Western Maryland Railroad, stated that his railroad did not lay off any of its force although at the peak of the switchmen's work stoppage the flow of freight was down to about half of normal.

"There was no labor trouble on the Western Maryland, but we received comparatively little freight from connecting railroad, especially those shipping out of Chicago," Miller added. The freight traffic volume is just about normal now he concluded.

Meanwhile, the Celanese plant began increasing its production Monday although the effect of the strike probably will be felt there for a few weeks.

Kelly - Springfield Tire Company will resume all production today.

Harrison C. Givens, Jr., Amcelle plant manager, said the CA Department will not reach full production before Monday and it will be "a few weeks before we reach normal production in spinning."

Furloughs at Amcelle because of the strike had cut production about 40 per cent.

The first increase in production in the CA Department occurred Monday. Another increase is slated today and another tomorrow, Givens said. The department should be at full capacity Monday, Givens added.

Spinning will not get underway until next week, Givens said, in estimating that it will take a few weeks to approach normal.

At the Kelly plant, which curtailed production last Friday because of a shortage of materials, workers have been notified to report today at 7 a. m., Edmund S. Burke, president, said.

No Civil Service Hearing Set For Policemen

Suspended Men Must Make Request

The Civil Service Commission announced last night no date has been set for a hearing for three suspended probationary policemen.

H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, said no action will be taken until the men involved ask for a hearing.

The men, Officers Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller, have a total of 14 months service with the department.

They were suspended indefinitely by the department on January 30 for "conduct unbecoming to an officer".

Commissioner Long announced over the weekend that he is asking the Civil Service Board to grant a hearing "in fairness" to the officers.

The trio was suspended from the force following an altercation at Midway Inn on McMullen Highway early January 28. They were off duty at the time and out of full uniform.

As a result of the fracas, Frankfort was handed a 30-day jail sentence last week in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of assaulting Willim W. Schumaker, 31, of 322 Bond Street. He filed notice of an appeal and was freed under $200 bond.

Browning and Miller were not named in the warrant charging Frankfort with assault.

Spiker said the Civil Service Board hearing will be public.

Unemployment Here Levels Off

Unemployment in Allegany County is leveling off with only minor fluctuations during the past six months, according to a report issued by Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the State Department of Employment Security yesterday.

"One factor in the leveling off of the labor market is the number of workers accepting positions with firms in Baltimore and Washington. The local office has sent between 100 and 125 to those two cities in the last few months," stated Carroll.

Unemployment claims paid in Allegany County during 1950 totaled $1,595,000 of which $51,686 was paid to veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act. This is about 75 per cent less than in 1949, when claim payments were $4,736,000.

More than half of the entire amount was paid during the first three months of the benefit year with $869,000 going to claimants. This was due to the fact that many persons who worked in 1949 did not work enough weeks to qualify them for compensation checks throughout 1950.

Hearts, Darts And Flowers Are Valentine Day Symbols

Today is St. Valentine's Day. This is the occasion when we recall memories of sending "sentimental sayings" to the little pig-tailed girl who sat in the desk in front of us or the shy little boy across the aisle.

It is the anniversary of "hearts and darts and pretty flowers." Yes, one's heart fluttered just a beat or two quicker as he handed the "note of everlasting love and devotion" to the little girl whose books he'd most rather carry home.

Just who St. Valentine was or when he lived, nobody seems to know, yet lovers of many lands have honored his memory for more than 17 centuries.

According to tradition prevalent throughout Europe, "birds chose their mates on Saint Valentine's Day." Legend traces the origin of choosing Valentines to early Roman times when, at the annual feast of Februato Juno, February 13, lads drew from urns girls names. By this means, a youth became the faithful partner for the year of the maiden whose name he drew.

As time went on, sentimental verses were exchanged. Years ago, in the days of the goose quill, there began the custom of composing Valentines. This practice has now developed into world wide usage.

Yet, despite the changes that have taken place, certain symbols persist such as the hearts, flowers and cupids. Little changes are noted from original refrains such as "I am thine, please be mine."

Refined elegance pervaded the best of the first lithographed love notes. Along with the traditional flowers and doves, they displayed demure maids, with church spires in the distance. Blushing, gently-faced creatures they were, in full skirts and bonnets, often clinging to frock-coated beaus, or shyly pining for some one absent.

But in this modern age—a new trend has developed. The "comic" valentine, sharp in caricature and unkind in humor, has seeped into our society. They lampoon "disagreeable old maids," the skinny, the fat, the conceited the smug and the dandified, mincing no words.

Yes, today is the anniversary of St. Valentine and across the nation and around the world, each in his own language and custom will say the sentimental words "I Love You."

Advance Gifts Drive Will Begin Monday

Thomas F. Conlon, Cumberland postmaster, has accepted the position of chairman of the Clubs and Organizations Division of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter Campaign for 1951, William C. Walsh, general campaign chairman, announced last night.

Conlon has been active in Red Cross campaign work in Cumberland for more than a decade, having served as a worker in many of the divisions and as a member of the Advance Gifts Committee in the 1950 drive.

He said last night that special letters will be mailed this week to approximately 120 clubs and organizations in Cumberland asking for their participation in the campaign which will get underway on Monday, March 5, with a goal of $26,796.

The Advance Gifts Committee will start two weeks earlier, on Monday, February 19.

During World War II, Conlon frequently worked with local Red Cross staff assistants in his capacity as a member of the Maryland Veterans Commission and as service officer for Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

"Many times I have called on the local Red Cross chapter for help for service men and their families," Conlon recalled last night, "and the Red Cross cooperated and gave valuable assistance in every instance."

"It would be a wonderful thing if all the people of Cumberland who will be asked to contribute to the 1921 Red Cross campaign would ask for the testimony of men who served in the armed forces as to the value of the Red Cross." Conlon added:

"We who have worked closely with the Red Cross in times of war and peace, and now in a state of national emergency, know how helpful they are and how often they can accomplish seemingly impossible tasks when asked to perform them for a service man or his family. We expect to call on them with increasing frequency in time to come as the size of our armed forces steadily grows larger, and I want to urge the people of Cumberland and Allegany County to provide the Red Cross this year with the funds necessary to carry on their work."

House Approves Resolutions For Industries Here

Driscoll Introduces Pay Hike Proposal

House Resolutions calling for the establishment of defense industries and an Army quartermaster laboratory in this city were passed yesterday.

Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, said the measures included House Joint Resolution 15, sponsored by See and Estel C. Kelley, which requests the Office of Defense Mobilization to establish defense industries in the City of Cumberland.

The second, HR 21, introduced by the Allegany County Delegation, requests that the proposed Quartermaster Research Laboratory be located in Cumberland.

A third, introduced by Delegate See, asks the Federal Government to give full consideration to Cumberland as a site of government offices if plans to disperse offices is carried out.

Introduced in the House yesterday by Delegate Driscoll was House Bill 256, to set the minimum pay of judges and clerks of elections in Allegany County at $1 an hour. It was referred to the Ways and Means committee.

In brief, it would provide for $3 for the first eight hours of work and $1 an hour after that. The present law provides for $10 for the first 12 hours of work and 60 cents an hour after that time.

The Delegation announced that HB 218, introduced by the Delegation, is being held out for a week for further study.

The bill would enable the City of Cumberland to issue $1,500,000 of revenue bonds for the establishment of a sewage disposal system here.

Delegate See said the amount of money involved in the bill is too great to allow hurried consideration.

Greene Street Curve Concerns City Council

Long Studies Plan For Warning Light

Within the last several weeks, for instance, one automobile hopped the curb and knocked over one of the brick posts at the east end of the park.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, who had been investigating the possibility of installing a guard rail along the south side of Greene Street at the park, told her male associates on City Council Monday nigh tthat this plan has been ruled out.

The reason is that the third phase of Cumberland's flood control project includes the changing of the grade on Greene Street near the park. Because this may be done within the next year or so, she considers it not feasible to install the rails.

As a result, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long now is investigating the possibility of having warning lights or reflectors placed along Greene Street. He probably will submit a report at one of the council meetings within the next few weeks.
